KOUFAX TRIES TO EVEN SERIES FOR DODGERS

THE LOS ANGELES Dodgers' mighty Sandy Koufax, sore arm and all, goes against Baltimore today against the Orioles' 20-year-old rookie righthander, Jim Palmer, after a stunning Orioles victory Wednesday in the first game of the world series at Los Angeles.

Frank and Brooks Robinson cracked consecutive homers in the first inning, and Moe Drabowski turned in a record-setting relief job to give the Baltimore birds a 5-2 victory over the favored Dodgers and a 1-0 lead in the series. Don Drysdale was losing pitcher.

Drabowski hit the Dodgers one hit in six plus innings. He struck out 11. He was in trouble only once after bailing out pitcher Dave McNally in the third. The five runs scored by the Orioles were more than had been rung up by all American League teams in the five previous series games in Dodger stadium. The line score:

JACK RUBY WINS NEW TRIAL, NEW SITE

THE TEXAS criminal appeals court in Austin Wednesday reversed the conviction and death sentence of Jack Ruby on charges of murdering presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, and ordered a new trial somewhere "other than Dallas."

The three-judge court unanimously held that Dist. Judge Joe B. Brown should have granted a change of venue in Ruby's 1964 trial in Dallas. The opinion said testimony about Ruby's statements to police showing premeditation was admitted in "obvious" violation of the U. S. Supreme Court's guidelines on confessions.

Defense attorneys indicated they would try to get Ruby off on a charge of murder without malice, which carries a penalty in Texas of two to five years. Ruby already has been behind bars nearly three years.

GLAMOR, BLUE CHIP STOCKS FALL AGAIN

STOCK PRICES continued downward Wednesday despite two attempts at an advance. Trading was dull. Both glamor shares and blue chips shared in the day's losses.

The N. Y. exchange average of all stocks posted a 24 cent loss. Losing issues topped gainers 763 to 381. Trading slowed to 5,880,000 shares from 8 "10,000 shares Tuesday.

CONSTITUTIONAL PLEA BY HUB SCHOOL SUPT.

BOSTON'S SCHOOL Supt. William H. Ohrenberger, said Wednesday attempts to achieve racial balance in schools by force is contrary to the spirit and letter of the U.S. Constitution.

Ohrenberger told the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights he thought the commission had more than enough information to "prove that the Boston public schools are protecting the educational rights of all the city's youth."

He said he was unable to agree that a racially imbalanced school is educationally harmful.

NEW INNER BELT ROUTE SOUGHT

GOV. VOLPE and a Cambridge citizens group led by Msgr. John Donovan agreed Wednesday to start all over again on plans for routing the proposed Inner Belt highway through Cambridge.

The governor said the State DPW will write the Federal Dept. of Roads asking that branch to defer completely any action regarding plans submitted in March. The citizens committee had objected to a route which would have displaced more than 2000 persons.

ARCHITECTS' REPORT DUE NEXT THURSDAY

THE STATE Senate committee report on hospital costs and architect selections will be released next Thursday, Sen. James A. Kelly Jr., D-Oxford, chairman, said Wednesday.

The report's conclusions and recommendations could be a "decisive factor" in the Nov. 8 election, Kelly said, if the public accepts them as realistic. The report is expected to deal with the role played by Peter S. Volpe, brother of Gov. Volpe, in selection of architects for state jobs.

GIVEN 20 YEARS IN CAR-TRUNK KIDNAP

DONALD F. MASKELL, 20, of Quincy, was sentenced to 20 years in federal prison Wednesday after he pleaded guilty to a charge of kidnapping Chester Austin, 31, of Weymouth, a service station operator, and driving him to Georgia in the trunk of a car in February, 1965.

ASHLAND GE STRIKE TALKS TODAY

UNION AND management bargainers have scheduled talks for Thursday in an attempt to end a strike at the General Electric GE plant at Ashland.

The strike moves into its fourth day today after 300 pickets marched at entrances to the plant Wednesday. Some 2,000 workers, members of the United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers Union UE, Local 205, walked off their jobs Monday on local issues. Police reported no disturbances.

BOMBING OF DEMILITARIZED AREA HALTED

SEC. OF STATE Dean Rusk said in New York Wednesday night that the United States has halted bombing in part of the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam in the hope that it again becomes truly demilitarized.

He said this country wants the International Control Commission to check Communist infiltration within the zone, but most observes feel that the bombing halt may be a new, tentative approach toward peace. Thus far, there has been no reaction from Hanoi.

REDS LOSE 1200 IN VIET TRAP

U.S. CAVALRY MEN swept through a former French seaside resort Wednesday and tightened a noose on the remnants of a battered Communist force trapped in a three-nation allied offensive that has killed or captured more than 1,200 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong.

U.S. military spokesmen said helicopter-borne troops of the 1st Cavalry Division, mopping up along the former resort beach of Nuoc Ngot Bay, had killed 43 more Communists and captured 60 others to raise the U.S.-inflicted toll in the Allied operation to 314 Communist dead, and 191 captured. Heavy enemy casualty tolls reported by South Vietnamese and South Korean troops sent the overall figures soaring to 840 Communists killed and 365 captured.

Service-Bound Boys Get City's Tribute

Mayor Monte G. Basbas has designated Oct. 9 to 19 as "Newton Servicemen's Send-Off Committee Week."

In proclaiming the "week" Mayor Basbas calls to the attention of the citizens of the community the excellent goal of the Send-Off Committee in suitably honoring local young men as they leave for service in their country's armed forces.

In addition to taking official cognizance of the

Send-Off Committee and its work, the mayoral edict also pays the community's official tribute to those service-bound youths, and especially honors Newton young men serving in Vietnam.

Last week, Mayor Basbas launched the fund-raising campaign of the Send-Off Committee and purchased the first set of tickets to donate to the cause.

7 Newton Schools Set Smooth METCO Pattern

First reports on the METCO program, now operating in seven Newton schools, indicate that the new educational experiment is working well for all concerned.

Fifty Negro school children from Roxbury have been absorbed into the Newton school routine as smoothly as most other new students are annually absorbed.

School Study Committee In First Report

A 32-member special Advisory Committee, which was established to study the Newton elementary school schedule and make recommendations to the School Committee, has been working steadily since its formation Sept. 8.

The committee members represent a variety of community groups, which include the school administration, teachers, religious schools, the YMCA, the League of Women Voters, the city health department, the recreation department, music schools, the girl scouts as well as private citizens, both parents and non-parents.

Meeting at times as a full group under the chairmanship of Dr. Malcolm S. Knowles and at other times in small task forces, the Advisory Committee is tackling the problem first of collecting data which is pertinent to the complex question of what sort of elementary school schedule will be METCO students are currently enrolled in the third, fourth, fifth and sixth grades at the Claffin, Countryside, Hyde, Horace Mann, Oak Hill, Spaulding and Williams Schools.

Each visiting pupil in Newton has a "host family" which provides a home base for lunch, out-of-school recreation and possible illness or emergency during the Newton school day.

These "host families" were selected from volunteers by a team of social workers and Negro parents under the direction of Mrs. Hubert Jones, who collaborated with the principals of the participating schools.

Dr. Edward Landy, assistant superintendent of pupil personnel services and special education, chose the schools on the basis of available space and possible "host families" in different areas.

Mrs. Ruth Batson, associate director of METCO, did the initial selection of pupils for Newton, and she and Dr. Landy jointly placed students in schools on the basis of matching report cards to schools and "host families."

Mrs. Batson feels that the "teachers are the most important part of the whole program." She expressed delight with the first enthusiastic reports from the METCO pupils about their Newton teachers.

A cab-driver, one of the many who provide transportation through the Suburban Cab Company, told of a small boy who was overheard to say on the way home the first day of school: "My teacher is wonderful. I'm having the best time I ever did have in school."

Work-Study Project Here Brings Praise

A work-study program involving a total of 40 students in Newton during the summer months was hailed by Mayor Monte G. Basbas and city department heads today in a report submitted to the Board of Aldermen.

The students—from Brandeis, Bentley, Harvard,

Tufts, Boston College and Dartmouth — worked for varying periods, six to 15 weeks, through Sept. 23. They worked approximately 9500 hours at a total cost to the city of about $5000.

Mayor Basbas pointed out that "all departments concerned felt the program had been worthwhile and that it should be continued."

The students also felt the experience was valuable. As one student put it in his evaluation:

"The close look at City Government which I had should be offered to every college student as part of their college education."

The students were assigned by the Executive Department PROJECT — (See Page 5)

White Backlash Is Problem For Brooke In Senate Bid

Most political analysts believe the white backlash poses a serious problem for Attorney General Edward W. Brooke as he seeks to become the first Negro to sit in the United States Senate since Reconstruction days.

They think that Brooke's path toward the Senate is made rockier and more difficult every time Stokely Carmichael speaks out about "black power" or a riot occurs in the Negro section of Atlanta, Los Angeles, Cleveland or San Francisco.

Brooke himself isn't certain whether the political pundits are right or not. He never has been the vic-

Women's Colleges Told Of Need To Plan Distaff Aid

Women's colleges today must plan for the future in the shadow of a continuing and bitter debate over women's proper role in society, Dr. Vincent C. De Baun declared Sunday during inauguration ceremonies installing him as new president of Lasell Junior College, Auburndale.

"The very bitterness of the debate," he said, "suggests that we really don't know what to make of the growing number of women, of all ages and all stages of marriage and motherhood, entering the labor force.

make of all those women in affluent America, working or not, who feel a nameless but very real sense of bafflement, frustration, and resentment about their lot."

Dr. De Baun was welcomed to his new position by Lieutenant Governor Elliot Richardson on behalf of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and by Mayor Monte G. Basbas representing the City of Newton. More than 75 other college presidents, or other representatives, marched in academic procession to greet him.

President Harold Clark Martin of Union University, Schenectady, N. Y., spoke for the other colleges and universities represented, while President L. Jefferson Long of Wells College, Aurora, N. Y., added a personal message. Dr. De Baun was formerly vice president of Wells College before assuming the presidency of Lasell.

"The problem for us in higher education, I believe," Dr. De Baun continued, "is not to produce more graduates who are 'well adjusted' to their 'peer groups.' We have tried that: those who do 'adjust' are often so insulated in the suburban cocoon that they have almost lost their humanity — while those who do not 'adjust' struggle in a mire between rage and despair."

"No; I would not hope for an education which would teach young women to reconcile themselves to the world. Rather I would hope for an education which would inspire them to change the world, to labor toward values worth fighting for, and therefore worth living for."

Dr. De Baun is the fourth president of Lasell since its incorporation as a junior college, and the institution's ninth chief executive since its founding in 1851. His predecessor, Dr. Blake Tewksbury, was forced by ill health to resign in 1965.

Dr. De Baun was born of American parents in Buenos Aires, Argentina. He came to the United States as a small boy, attending schools in the New York metropolitan area.

He is a graduate of Union College, and holds earned master's and doctor's degrees in English literature from Rutgers University.

His special areas of academic interest are Victorian studies, and the history of the drama. He has taught English at Union, Rutgers, the University of New Hampshire, and Wells.

He is a veteran of five years active duty in the United States Navy (1934-46 and 1950-52) from which he was discharged with the rank of full lieutenant. He holds eight ribbons and took part in campaigns in Okinawa and the China Sea.

Dr. De Baun is married to the former Hillary Hall of New Milford, Conn. They have two sons: Christian, five; and Nicholas, one.

Halloween Group Seeks Funds, Cites Magnitude Of Observance

The Newton Chamber of Commerce has again joined the effort to assure Newton's 20,000 school children a memorable and safe Halloween.

In a letter signed by Chamber president William P. McNamara, Mayor Monte G. Basbas, Chamber executive vice president Lewis B. Songer and Recreation Commissioner John B. Penney, Newton businessmen are asked to contribute to finance the observance.

"On Halloween, just a little over four weeks, 20,000 school children will not be committing acts of mischief and destruction against property because they will be attending more than 400 Halloween parties and dances," the letter begins.

"These sponsored dances help keep the amount of vandalism and damage to commercial and residential properties to a minimum, and yet at the same time are fun for the children. Through your financial support, refreshments such as ice cream, doughnuts, cookies and cider, can be provided for these parties."

"Your financial assistance is needed. We ask you to lend your support by making a substantial contribution to the 'Newton Halloween Committee' today. Since food costs have increased and enrollment in schools is larger, we ask you to be as generous as possible."

The Halloween Executive Committee meeting will be held at the new Horace Mann School on Watertown street, Newtonville, at 8 o'clock to-night. General Chairman Dr. R. Emerson Sylvester will conduct the meeting and the speakers will include Mayor Basbas, School Superintendent Dr. Charles E. Brown and Recreation Commissioner Penney.

Commissioner Penney, commenting on the importance of the meeting said: "The Recreation Department is the coordinator for the annual Halloween celebration here in Newton. The parent-teacher groups in the schools are vital to the success of the cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce, handles refreshments and supervises the program, the parents, working through their individual PTAs,

ARTHUR S. SCIPIONE

Scipione Is Candidate For Representative

Arthur S. Scipione, of Walnut street, Newtonville, is a candidate for State Representative in the Newton-Waltham district.

A long-time civic leader, he is a member of the state and federal bars and is a special Pentagon representative to assist uniformed personnel with legal problems in Middlesex County.

He is a graduate of Northeastern University Law School, was a Newton Alderman for six years and president of the Newtonville Improvement Association for two years.

Att. Scipione favors reduction of county taxes through abolition of county government which functions along geographic lines that have lost their importance in the population explosion, and which performs services that are duplicated in great part by the Commonwealth.

He also favors an updating of the Workmen's Compensation legislation and advocates an adequately organized and financed state planning agency.

In addition to his other achievements, Scipione served as Newton assistant assessor, election officer and title clerk. Among other duties, he has also been a member of the Immigration Board of Appeals Court.

Newton South Lions Point To Coming Stoughton Tilt

By NORM KAPLAN
The Newton South football Lions are pointing for their first victory of the season this Saturday when the journey to Stoughton for a 2 p.m. game.

Rain washed out the Lions' trek across the river to Cambridge Latin last Saturday and the contest has been rescheduled for Nov. 19.

Stoughton will be forced to meet senior halfback Steve Cooper, 6-foot-2, 190 pounds, head-on in this Saturday's tilt.

Fitchburg, South's first opponent, was lucky enough to have Steve sidelined with a pulled hamstring muscle the entire game, as they turned back the Lions, 7-0. With Capt. Frank Rezzuti, the only pass-catching threat in the South backfield, Fitchburg was able to double team Frank on nearly every play.

Stoughton will not be afforded this luxury when Cooper returns to his halfback slot. The Coop, who pulled down 26 passes in his sophomore year, should be a pleasing target for quarterback Gordon Megrian.

Nonantum Junior Marathon To Be Run October 13th

The race which is three miles in distance starts at 2 P.M. Trophies will be awarded to a boy in each age group. Each entrant will be given a medical examination before the start of the race.

It is expected that "Mr. Marathon," John A. Kelly of Watertown, will be on hand to present the winners' trophies.

Project -

ment to tasks in various other departments, primarily in the Planning and Recreation Department.

The Planning Dept. used two college students and four high school youths to do a land-use survey. Of the work done by the high schoolers, Planning Director James A. Miller said: "We felt that the students assigned performed their duties well, and provided a positive and valuable service to the city."

Referring to the college students, Miller said they performed their surveys in an "exemplary" fashion. "Following a brief introductory period, these students operated totally on their own initiative as well as in a supervisory capacity with the high school students."

Miller said "the field survey goals outlined from the outset were met, or exceeded in every way, and the city now has a land-use survey as a basis for a number of future planning studies."

The Planning Director said his department has requested a college student "for a continuation of our mapping program during the coming school year. We enthusiastically support a renewal of both high school and college programs in the coming school year."

In the Recreation Dept., a student was assigned to act in a supervisory capacity over the experimental pre-school program. Four college students and six high school students ran the program at the Memorial and Davis schools. Under the supervision of Arthur Sherwood, of the Junior College, several high school students did landscape gardening and repair and maintenance work on playground and park areas.

Of the work done in his department, John B. Penney, recreation commissioner, said: "I was pleased by the performance of Arthur Ford for the department this summer. Not only did he co-ordinate the development and supervision of the nursery school program, but also was able to supervise other playground districts as needed when the regular supervisors were not available or were tied up with some special program."

The nursery school program was most successful in my opinion. The college work study leaders and high school volunteers did a good job. Attendance was very regular and steady, more so than at the regular playground programs. We also had several letters from parents expressing their appreciation of the program, and hoping it would continue.

"From my experience, I would say that college work-study people work out excellently in leadership and assistant supervisory positions with the recreation department, and their use should be increased to enable the department to give added service."

The temporary clerk typist we had this summer was a high school girl who did a fine job. This would indicate that high school work-study people could be utilized in this capacity," Penny said.

In the Executive Department, students were assigned a variety of tasks. Three students were detailed to advisory committees of the Mayor. Aiding these students were four other students who gathered data for the use of the committees and other city agencies.

Two students were assigned to Tom Keefe to do inventory control analysis of various items, Keefe said:

"Work done by work-study students on gas and oil forms and on past performances in such items as batteries, oil, tires, etc., was invaluable in developing criteria for purchasing procedures and general inventory control. This program should continue throughout the year, if possible," Keefe added.

The Mayor's report said two students used the federally-developed PPB (Planning Programming and Budgeting) system analyzing activity in several departments, most notably the health, street and recreation departments.

"Henry Rowan, assistant director of the Bureau of the Budget and president-elect of the Rand Corp., has expressed enthusiasm for our efforts and has suggested several leads for funding this experimental program," the Mayor reported.

Shake hands with Edward L. Ryba, C.L.U.

Drop in our office and meet Edward L. Ryba, new Metropolitan Manager. He's here to supervise your "at home" insurance service in Newton.

Mr. Edward L. Ryba, C.L.U., who is the new Manager of Metropolitan's local office at 264 Centre St., has been with the Company since 1946. He made his start as an Agent, was promoted three years later to Assistant Manager, and, in 1963, became associated with the Field Training Division. Prior to his appointment as Manager in Newton, Mr. Ryba was an Advanced Underwriting Advisor in Boston.

In taking over his duties, Mr. Ryba, with his staff, is dedicated to the purpose of continuing and extending the high quality life insurance service for which Metropolitan is so widely and favorably known. Only with an insurance man familiar with local problems can you work out the best insurance program to meet your needs. This "at home" service is important. Metropolitan is the insurance company that employs local people to give you friendly "home town" service.

Now Metropolitan, the Company you look to for authoritative information on physical health, offers a way to check your family's financial health — The Family Security Check-Up. It is available to everyone — whether you need insurance or not — and whether or not you have a Metropolitan policy.

Metropolitan representatives have been trained in Metropolitan's own schools and are qualified by solid experience to bring you this service. They are equipped with businesslike charts and tables that show you clearly, exactly where you stand.

Remember, Metropolitan is as local as Main Street... as close as your phone. There is no obligation... except to those you love.

Newton, Weymouth Tangle In Big Test On Saturday

The big test is next Saturday. That's the day when Newton high school faces its biggest challenge on the gridiron. It's the day when unbeaten Weymouth and the undefeated Tigers clash head-to-head at Dickinson Stadium with the kick-off scheduled for 1:30 pm.

There is no doubt at all that Coach Jim Ronayne's boys are "up" for what might prove to be the decisive game of the season, especially after their rout of Brockton 34-6 Monday.

The Tigers combined a potent offense with a tenacious defense to hand Brockton a walloping, and quarterback Dick Dezotell deserved a lot of credit for the victory. He passed to classy back Steve Colantuono for two markers and scored a third touchdown himself in running up a 20-0 score in the first half.

Reserve Brockton quarterback Dave Slutsky put Brockton on the scoreboard in the final quarter, gaining in from the one on a quarterback sneak with only three minutes left to play.

The defense has to be cited for its tremendous effort in holding Brockton to only six points and a grand total of only five first downs.

Early in the second period, the Newton defense showed its strength. The Tiger unit led by Franco DiStefano, Elliot Nierman, John Piselli, Dave Riley, Jim McEvoy, Phil Nelson and Dick Lawrence stopped Brockton time after time. On an important third down situation, Brockton QB Greg Buckley was forced to throw a wobbly pass which was picked off by Bill Thurston. It was Thurston's second theft of the young season.

Newton scored the second time it handled the ball. The rushing of Colantuono highlighted the attack, eating up 60 of the necessary 77 yards. On a first down play, Dezotell hit Colantuono with a flat 11-yard pass over the middle for paydirt. The try for the two-point conversion failed.

The second score came because of Thurston's thievery. Two line plays by Colantuono and his running-mate Bob Co-

Palmer, and William A. Lincoln, chairman, Newton Republican City Committee.

Governor Volpe Assists In Opening GOP Headquarters

The official opening of Newton's Volpe and GOP election headquarters at 763 Washington street turned out to be a success Saturday despite the heavy rains.

A capacity crowd braved the bad weather to witness the ribbon cutting by Governor John A. Volpe who made a special visit to Newton to take part in a series of local events.

Declaring that the presence of a large crowd, despite the bad weather, augured well for the Republican cause, Governor Volpe delivered a fighting speech in which he highlighted the achievements of his administration and pledged a continuing fight for what he termed "bold new programs for community health centers." He pointed to the benefits each city and town were enjoying as a result of the Sales Tax program he sponsored.

City Committee Chairman William A. Lincoln presided over the event and presented Governor Volpe.

The balance of the opening rally spotlighted the local

Newton has been scored on.

After picking up 16 hard-earned yards on the ground, sub-quarterback Dave Slutsky threw a bomb that was hauled in by Paul Barra and he took it to the one-foot line. Slutsky sneaked over for the marker. Brockton's moment of glory ended when Dave Riley nailed Slutsky in the try for extra points.

Newton ran out the clock with strong power running by Norton, Boudreau and sophomore Carl Anderson.

Bob Steele exemplified the spirit of this year's team by playing with a broken hand.

United Nations Forum At Mount Ida Oct. 13

Residents of Newton and surrounding communities will have a rare opportunity to acquire authoritative information and an unusual "behind-the-scenes" look at world problems as they are dealt with in the inner sanctums of the United Nations on October 13th when Mount Ida Junior College in Newton opens its 1966-1967 "United Nations Forum."

The unique program which has proven so popular on college campuses throughout the nation will be having its first performance in the area and should be of great interest not only to adult residents in the local community, but also to high school students as well.

Included besides formal addresses given by the two representatives to the General Assembly, will be a penetrating analysis by Mr. Gabriel of the grave responsibilities facing this 118-member world body as seen by a correspondent who has been closely associated with the UN and its many representatives almost from the birth of the organization.

Assisting Mr. Gabriel with the evening's program and also participating in the discussions on stage will be Mr. Ignacio Jauregui, history and political science instructor on the faculty at Mount Ida.

A cordial invitation to attend as guests of the college is extended to the public and especially to high school students in the area who might be enrolled in world history or government courses by Dr. F. Roy Carlson, President of Mount Ida.

Richardson Says Atty. Gen. Post Can Be Force To Protect Public

Lt. Gov. Elliot L. Richardson declared today that "the attorney general's office can be a tremendous force for the protection of both the public and the public safety." He asserted that if he is elected the State's next attorney general, he will make the office just such a force.

At the same time, Richardson urged the voters both in this area and throughout Massachusetts to compare his public record with the public record of his opponent in the contest for the attorney generalship.

Our Lady's Is Topped 24-12 By St. Mary's

Our Lady's of Newton opened its 1966 football season this week in Cambridge and promptly ran into a buzz saw in St. Mary's, of Cambridge, in general, and a fellow by the name of Don Anderson, in particular. The result: St. Mary's 24, Our Lady's 12.

Prior to the game, St. Mary's coach Tom Cassell claimed Anderson was one of the best halfbacks to hit the Catholic Suburban League in years, and the youth promptly set out to uphold his coach's claim.

Anderson rushed for 191 yards and a touchdown to spearhead the Spartans victory at Russell Field. He carried 29 times for a total of 191 yards and scored what proved to be the winning touchdown on an eight-yard burst off left tackle in the third period.

Our Lady's offense left much to be desired and three pass interceptions and a fumble proved costly, paving the way for two St. Mary's touchdowns. The Cantabrigians enjoyed a 24-0 lead into the fourth period before an Our Lady's rally fell short.

"Mistakes, big and little, hurt us more than anything else," said Our Lady's Coach Dick Riley. "Offensively, that fumble on our own six and those three pass interceptions were costly. Defensively our inexperience was a factor, especially on the right side. Anderson exploited that weakness for most of his yardage."

From the start of the game, Our Lady's knew they were in for a tough day. On their first two series of downs, the Lancers were unable to advance beyond their own six and on three plays were back to the half-yard line.

In the second period, an Our Lady's gamble on a fourth-and-one situation on its own 38 backfired and St. Mary's took over.

Our Lady's come to life offensively in the fourth period to score all 12 points. Tom Donahue, who rushed for 126 of O. L.'s 157 rushing yards, skirted left end 24 yards for the first touchdown, and Quarterback Feeley caught up with end Jack Donovan for a 46-yard scoring pass for the second.

Halfway through the last period, Mike O'Keefe intercepted a St. Mary's pass and returned it 83 yards to paydirt. However, Our Lady's was penalized on a clip and the ball was brought back to the point of infraction, O.L.'s 26 yard line.

lieutenant governor," he also served as assistant secretary of Health, Education and Welfare and as United States attorney during the Eisenhower Administration and as special assistant to the United States attorney general under the late President Kennedy.

"My opponent cannot match that experience," Richardson stated.

Lieutenant Governor Richardson said that his work as U. S. attorney, as lieutenant governor and an assistant secretary of Health, Education and Welfare offers the best evidence as to the kind of attorney general he would be.

"It is vitally essential that we have an Attorney General who will utilize his office to protect the public in every way to the greatest degree possible," Richardson added.

"The office of attorney general is not the place for a political opportunist," he maintained.

Richardson cited figures to show that when he was United States attorney he gained convictions in 90% of the cases he initiated and completed.

He pointed out that national reforms in land-taking procedures resulted from the investigation of land-taking frauds in the federal highway construction which he launched while United States attorney. "These are but some portions of my record which I hope the voters of Massachusetts will consider before they make their important decision as to who is better qualified to serve them as attorney general," Richardson concluded.

Miss Grace M. Digange Is Bride Of John McCloskey

White roses decorated the altar of St. Michael's Church in Pawtucket, R.I., for the recent marriage of Miss Grace M. Digange to John Charles McCloskey.

(Bradford Bachrach)

MRS. JOHN C. McCLOSKEY

Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Digange of Westerly, R. I. and Mr. and Mrs. Henry McCloskey of 29 Eden avenue, West Newton, are the couple's parents.

The Rev. Joseph Nichols officiated at the 11 o'clock nuptials, which was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full-length empire gown of Indian raw silk. Her mantilla was made of Carrickmacross Irish lace. She carried a posy bouquet of white roses and baby's breath.

Miss Teresa J. Choporian of Cambridge was maid of honor.

Harold Brody of Pittsburgh, Pa., served as best man. The ushers were Frank B. Digange of Westerly, R. I., and Terry F. Bower of Belmont.

For her going-away costume, the bride wore an aqua green skimmer with chocolate brown accessories. After a wedding trip, the couple is living in Pittsburgh, Pa.

The bride, a graduate of the University of Rhode Island, received her master's degree from Simmons College.

Mr. McCloskey received both his S.B. and S.M. degrees from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is now a metallurgist.

The committee solicited the membership for home baked food. An unusual assortment of pastries and tasty delights will be on hand for the sale.

The Silent Auction will consist of a collection of interesting selective items. Mrs. Winslow Auryansen, Mrs. Edgar Delamater and Mrs. George Hicks have collected a fascinating group of authentic articles to place bids on.

The officers of the Women's Auxiliary are: Mrs. John Coleman, president; Miss Adele Darling, first vice-president; Mrs. R. The Berklee School of Music, a non-profit, degree-granting institution, founded by Lawrence Berk, specializes in the teaching of modern American Music. It has recently moved from its original location at 284 Newbury street to its new facilities at 1140 Boylston street, which was formerly the Bostonian Hotel.

The old hotel has been reconstructed into classrooms, practice rooms, private teaching studios, ensemble rooms, book shop, student print shop, library, recital hall, and administrative offices.

Berklee School of Music has become known throughout the world as the International Education Center for the Study of Modern American Music.

Berklee works closely with the United States Information Agency in preparing tapes and films for broadcast overseas. "Voice of America" headed by Willis Conover in Washington, broadcasts the recordings made by the Berklee students; representatives from the Turkish, Malaysian, and African Desks in Washington have photographed and sent abroad to their countries video-tapes of the students at Berklee at their studies and in performances. Among the school's alumni is Quincy Jones, who wrote the music for the film the "Pawnebroke" with Rod Steiger, and recently Cary Grant's new film "Walk, Don't Run."

The student body at Berklee this fall will be over 600 from all over the world; among the students is the teacher of the Crown Prince and Princess of Thailand. He is also the personal pianist of the King of Thailand.

NOW CARS

The NOW Cars. More than just "new" cars. The NOW Cars are designed from scratch for today's driving by today's drivers. They are cars on top of today, from a company on top of today: The 1967 American Motors. 1967 is the year we've been planning for, pointing toward. The year we bring you cars full of today's spirit, bursting with today's ideas. Cars with more room, more power, more safety; cars more exciting than any we've ever built!

Engines for Now. Three sixes that go like eights—and four V-8s that weren't here a year ago. The most modern engines in the industry, from an acceleration champ Six to the 343 cu. in. 4-bbl. Typhoon V-8.

Innovations for Now. Convertibles that are true six-seaters. Wink lights visible from the side; rally lights that herald your approach.

A road-smoothing 4-link rear suspension—the first time ever with a single-unit body.

Safety for Now. Every 1967 American Motors car includes: long-awaited energy-absorbing steering column and deep-dish wheel; warning signal light to monitor both brake line systems; shoulder belt anchors; and the Double-Safety braking system we made standard five years before the rest of the industry. All built into solid, single-unit bodies.

Quality for Now. Our past is one of quality. Quality built in—like the Deep-Dip rustproofing and Ceramic-Armored exhaust systems pioneered by American Motors. And when quality is built in, the value stays in.

See your American Motors/Rambler Dealer today. He's the only Now Car dealer in town.

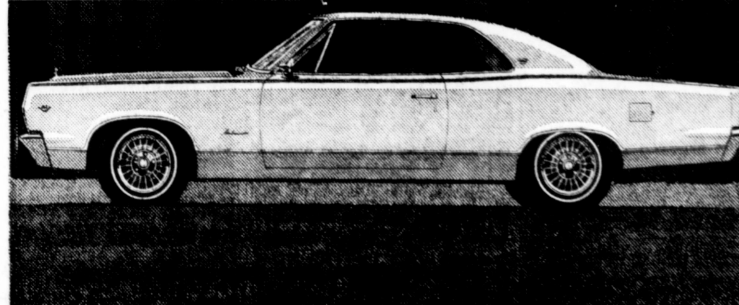

And now—this great new warranty.

In addition to 2-year or 24,000-mile warranty on the entire automobile, American Motors Corporation warrants the engine block, head, ON THE ENGINE AND DRIVE TRAIN and internal parts, water pump, intake manifold, transmission case and internal parts (except manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle, differential and rear wheel bearings of its 1967 cars to be free from defects in material or workmanship for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first. The owner must change the engine oil and install new oil filter every six (6) months or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first, clean oil filler cap (filtered type) and carburetor air cleaner element every 4,000 miles and replace it every 24,000 miles and furnish evidence of this service to an Authorized American Motors Dealer every six (6) months and have him certify its receipt and the car's mileage. Further, American Motors Corporation so warrants the remainder of the car for 2 years or 24,000 miles, whichever comes first, except tires (warranted by tire manufacturer). Any part so defective will be repaired or replaced, in accordance with the applicable portion of the warranty, without charge at an Authorized American Motors Dealership. Owners are responsible for deterioration, misuse and normal maintenance. Quality built in—so the value stays in.

REBEL Now—the first Excitement Machines in the intermediate class! Cars for Now that never existed before! A 114" wheelbase. Excitement that's 197" long, 78" wide, 54" high. More people-space inside than any other cars their size. A choice of five engines, topped by a 343 cu. in. Typhoon V-8. A wide road stance and 4-link rear suspension to glue down corners, untwist curves. An SST convertible (above) that seats 3 in back comfortably. Rebel: SST hardtop and SST convertible; 770 hardtop, sedan, wagon; 550 sedans, wagon.

AMBASSADOR Now—full-size luxury cars created for today, priced for the young man who wants his luxury car right now. 118" wheelbase. Interiors now as spacious as the most expensive full-size cars.

ADPL convertible with room for 3 in the rear. Choice of 5 smooth, silent engines to command. Your choice of Ambassador DPL hardtop (above) and DPL convertible; 990 hardtop, sedan, wagon; 880 sedans and wagon.

RAMBLER AMERICAN Now—Typhoon V-8 thunder comes to the low-priced economy champs. Two Typhoon V-8s; three big 6's. America's only complete line of compacts: Rogue hardtop (above), convertible; 440 sedans, hardtop, wagon; 220 sedans, wagon.

Fine Classes For Young And Old Offered By Community Center

An expanded program this year at classes at Newton Community Center will again encourage children and adults to lead with their imaginations and to explore new media.
On Tuesday afternoons last year children designed anything and everything from play fountains made with odds and ends to houses accommodating live hamsters. In one session, for example, the youngsters figured out games they would most like to play and designed their own with cardboard and magic markers. The Magic Colors, Page to Knight, Car-go, The Dating Game, Bat in the Belfry and others became favorites and were on display at the Children's Library in Newtonville last Spring.
In another class children drew ceiling high community buildings inspired by crude ceramic pots. Their dreams were for a Dog Bone Tower (a skyscraper with facilities favoring dogs over people), a "funhouse shaped like a balloon floating just through the sky", a Store of Wonders, a Kiddie Love Center and other intriguing fantasies for the future. They drew pop murals inspired by Batman, made paper mache turkeys decorated with feathers and jewelry and had eight experiments in building with an architect.
These classes will again be available on Tuesday afternoons for third and fourth graders (1:30-3:00) and fifth and sixth (3:30-5:00). Though the approach will be similar the projects will be new this year. They will begin on Oct. 18, again taught by Libby VanBuskirk, director of art at the Community Center. Mrs. VanBuskirk, a Waban resident, is a graphic artist whose prints can be seen at the Cambridge Art Association. She won the Mademoiselle Magazine College Board Contest upon graduation from Wheaton College in 1955 and has had experience as an architectural and design writer as well as running conferences for public school art supervisors.
New this year will be classes on Thursday afternoons for nursery school and kindergarten children (1:15-2:30) and first and second graders (2:45-4:00) starting today, Oct. 6 and taught by Linda Janower of Newtonville. A graduate of Barnard College, Mrs. Janower is an experienced elementary school teacher who previously taught in the Brookline School System and at the Cambridge Center for Adult Education. She has also acted as art and music consultant for camps. The new nursery school-kindergarten program will relate art to music (through rhythms, songs and listening activities), science (through simple experiments and discussion) and literature (through dramatizing and creating children's stories and poems). The emphasis of the first and second grade classes will be on as wide a variety of art experiences for children as possible such as finger-painting to jazz, potato and cork printing, collage and cut paper work, interpretation of children's poetry, papier mache puppetry, sand painting, casting and the like.
The adult art workshop, an experiment last year, will be given again starting on Oct. 19, and meeting Wednesday mornings from 10:00-12:00.

Last year adults who had never done any art before turned out prints, applique wall hangings, tissue paper paintings, sandcastings and collages. Each week they were given a problem to solve: to see how many lines could become shapes, how colors change when next to each other or how everyday objects can provide inspiration for abstract shapes. Each problem explored a different medium and the emphasis was on learning to understand more deeply some of the concerns of modern art and to express these insights personally. Creations were considered byproducts of a fruitful experience, not ends in themselves. Thus students were encouraged to "loosen up," not worrying about producing instant Leonardos. As a result they surprised themselves with what they could do.
This year's adult workshop will present the student with different problems and experiences in new media. Films will be used as motivation for projects on mobiles and three dimensional work.
Prices for this Fall's classes average about $1.00 (nursery through second), 85 cents (third through sixth) and $1.50 (for adults) per class, including all supplies. Registrations for the first series of classes are being taken now. For more information call 244-2260 or visit the Community Center at 429 Cherry street, West Newton.

LOCAL PATS HIT
A well-balanced Newton Patriots football team rolled to its first win of the season this week at the expense of Randolph 48 to 0, in a Pop Warner Conference battle at Newton Highlands playground.
Newton scored three quick touchdowns early in the first quarter to cement the victory. The first score came after Randolph fumbled on its own 23-yard line after the kick-off. Four plays later, Bill Treddin went off tackle into the end-zone.
After exchanging kicks, Newton's Joe Arnold returned a Randolph punt 40 yards for a 20-0 advantage. In the second period, Bob Mulchay capped a 45-yard march with a four-yard plunge over center to stretch the lead to 26-0.
Another fumble set up the next touchdown for Newton on the visitors 32 yard line. QB Bill Treddin moved the team to the 10, then he hit Paul Grillo with a scoring pass. A two-point conversion made the score 34-0.
A few minutes later, Jim Caminiti picked off a Randolph pass and scampered 35 yards for another TD. Arnold rushed the extra points. Score: 42 to 0.
The final touchdown came on a Paul Grillo 20 yard pass to Kevin McCabe. The try for extra points by rushing failed.

partment wishes, at this time, to bring these facts to the attention of all the citizens of the City and asks that they cooperate with their Fire Department in reducing fire losses by being ever conscious of fire hazards in their homes and places of business.

Fires are not always accidental, but they are generally caused by carelessness and neglect such as, a lit cigarette left in an ash tray unattended; oily rags thrown in a corner; overloaded electric circuits, etc.

If every person would cooperate with the Fire Department by eliminating these habits and conditions, Chief Perkins feels sure that fire losses would be greatly lessened and it would help Newton continue to be a safe place in which to live.

Chief Perkins extends to all citizens an invitation to visit their local Fire Stations during Fire Prevention Week and meet their Fire Fighters — the men who are dedicating their lives to the protection of your life and property from the ravages of fire.

Hospital Aid Annual Party Day Plans Set For Oct. 29

The 2,000-members of the Newton - Wellesley Hospital Aid Association are readying for Party Day, to be held on Wednesday, October 26th.

The single annual fund raising project of the Aid Association offers a double-barrelled value in 1966. Ticket purchases and donations will finance an auto-analyzer for the hospital's laboratories of pathology. In addition, proceeds will be credited against the Aid Association's $100,000 pledge to the hospital's expansion fund drive.

On the single afternoon, Aid members throughout the western suburbs will open their homes for a series of dessert-bridge parties. Last year, the one-day event furnished $7,515, to finance an enlarge heart station in the special care department of the hospital.

The Aid Association first furnished an auto-analyzer to the hospital in 1962. The machine automates certain laboratory testing procedures, processing in one hour tests that previously required eight hours, when the work was done manually. Because of steadily growing volume in the laboratory, the Aid is out to provide a companion machine, to assist the apparatus they furnished four years before.

Organizing for a successful Party Day are the co-chairmen, Mrs. Abram T. Collier of Wellesley and Mrs. S. Page Cotton of Newton.

Ready to accept ticket reservations and contributions are the treasurers, Mrs. Robert C. Casselman of Auburn-dale and Mrs. Alexander Duff of Wellesley.

Prizes for Party Day are being gathered by Mrs. Nelson Curtis of Waban. Refreshments are being planned by Mrs. Donald B. Conant of West Newton and Mrs. Andrew Rosenberger of Wellesley.

Mrs. Andrew W. Johnston of Newton and Mrs. Frederick B. Grant of Wellesley are the busy acknowledgements chairmen. Handling publicity is Mrs. Worthing L. West of Newton Centre.

How to give your son $100,000.00

If you and your son are trying to decide whether or not he should attend college, keep this thought in mind:

"The average college graduate will earn in his lifetime $100,000.00 more than the average high school graduate!"

A College Education is extremely important in today's competitive market. Yet, it is expensive. To help with the financing of a college education, the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company has inaugurated an ASSURED EDUCATION LOAN PLAN whereby you can borrow the money you need to make sure your youngster will attend college.

Here are a few of the advantages of the Assured Education Loan Plan:

1. One Loan can pay expenses of up to 4 years of education — a total of $10,000.
2. The total program you select is protected by life insurance.
3. You can spread the cost over as many as six full years.
4. This fund can cover tuition, room, board, books, clothing, travel, and other related educational expenses.
5. Interest payments are tax deductible.
6. You need not be a depositor in our bank to apply for an Assured Education Loan.

Stop in at any of our 20 neighborhood branches in Newton, Waltham, Wayland, Weston or Natick, and ask for the free brochure entitled "Finance College Years". This may be the most important step you take to assure your son's future.

Bay State Gifts Helping Build Shrine Near Fatima

By ANTHONY M. BRITO

United Press International

LISBON (UPI) — About 10 miles from the spot where, in 1917, three shepherd children told of having seen and spoken with "a beautiful lady from heaven," a miracle of construction has risen in sleepy hollow called "Aldeia Nova" (New Village).

With financial help from friends in Massachusetts and elsewhere, a young Portuguese Dominican Father has converted a disused farm into a bright new up-to-the-minute seminary.

The ground was bequeathed to the Dominican Order many years ago by Padre Abel Faria, an old secular priest living in that region. The enterprising young man responsible for the modern project is 32-year-old Father John Dominic Fernandes, a native of Torre, near Guarda, in the northern half of Portugal.

He rounded out his religious instruction in Ottawa, at the Dominican Faculty of Philosophy and Theology, which he attended from 1955 to 1959.

Every summer Father John travels to the United States to raise funds for his pet project. At present a new chapel is under construction near the main building which should be finished early next year. He is organizing a pilgrimage of American friends and helpers to Fatima in May 1967, among other things to assist at the inauguration of that chapel.

The date happens to coincide with the 50th anniversary celebrations at Fatima, when the Pope may possibly preside at the ceremonies in the sanctuary.

The "Dominican Junior Seminary" is largely self-supporting, having its own kitchen, laundry, reservoir, farm fruit and vegetable garden, and vineyards, the latter producing excellent wines.

Before 1965 oil lamps were the only form of illumination; but in that year electricity was installed with financial backing from St. Francis Xavier's parish in East Providence, Mass.

The village of Aldeia Nova has a population of about 400.

The Junior Seminary was started in 1943, three years after the Dominican Order was readmitted into the country. The order had been expelled from Portugal in 1834 along with other religious groups during the anti-clerical persecution of that era.

It had a modest beginning in a small timber-and-stone building with three priests and seven seminarians. That building is now used as an annex to the magnificent new structure of glass and concrete which is today the Dominican Junior Seminary. The latter was begun in 1962.

There are now 110 seminarians studying there under a teaching staff of six Dominican Fathers and six lay professors.

Dominican Sisters direct lay helpers in the kitchen, laundry, farm and in other household tasks, and also help out in the sacristy.

Resident priests go out to adjoining villages to say mass and on call.

The Junior Seminary at Aldeia Nova has a full-sized gymnasium — which also serves as chapel while the new edifice is being completed —

Irish Birth-rate Is Up; But Can't Keep 'Em On Farm

By DONAL O'HIGGINS

United Press International

DUBLIN (UPI) — Ireland's population is increasing—and even in a world worried by the population explosion that's news.

For only the second time since the black famine of the mid-19th Century decimated the nation, population figures have shown an upswing.

An increase of 2.2 per cent—the greatest since the period 1831-41 — was recorded for the 26-county republic on April 17, census day in Ireland.

The increase of 62,411 which brought the population to 2,880,752 reversed a trend that brought near despair to the nation's planners.

Only in 1951 when an increase of 5,486 was registered was the steady erosion of Ireland's population halted. The population increase went hand in hand with a sharp decline in Ireland's annual emigration figures, down to 83,855 from the previous figure of 212,003.

But the success story ends there.

Behind the statistics lay most of the evils which have plagued Ireland for centuries — rural depopulation, with more and more Irishmen crowding into the cities.

Despite government schemes, voluntary organizations and church help the decline of the population in Connaught in the West was still one of the bleakest aspects of the report.

It is here that the last outposts of the Gaelic language—the Gaeltaths — are to be found where shrinking pockets of the people will converse in Irish.

Because of this, Connaught, a traditionally depressed area, has held a special place in the eyes of the nation and has been the recipient of a host of government-subsidized schemes to keep the population steady.

The census report showed a steady decline, amounting to 4.3 per cent, due to emigration or a drift into the cities.

The exodus from the rural areas has brought with it a growing restlessness among the farming community which has declared open warfare on the Ministry of Agriculture.

With many of the larger farms unable to attract workers to help on the land and with thousands of small farmers working uneconomic holdings a feeling of frustration has been building up for years.

Within the past 12 months it has spilled over into open defiance of the Government with farmers holding back payment of local taxes to force the hands of the authorities.

The past weeks has also seen it boiling up again in a demand for the resignation of Agricultural Minister Charles Haughey, son-in-law of Premier Sean P. Lemass.

Sociologists, government experts, parish councils and agriculturalists have all examined the problem of rural depopulation. Pilot schemes have been launched, industrialists have been offered almost give-away terms to establish industries in the rural areas, money grants and a score of different subsidized schemes have been tried to keep the people on the land.

But the steady drain continues, bringing with it a new crop of problems in the cities where housing is short, jobs are scarce and schools are overcrowded.

In the capital alone the population has soared to almost three-quarters of a million, a disproportionate figure to the remainder of the country.

But the same trend is evident in all the bigger cities which are growing at the expense of the surrounding countryside.

Cork city in the south showed an increase of 8.7 per cent, Limerick city was up by 10 per cent and in the North Drogheda 13.1 per cent while Galway city in the west was up by 10 per cent.

While all political parties have decried the evil of emigration throughout the years, many economists believe it operates as a safety valve for the nation's work force.

They point to the fact that Ireland's unemployment figure swings from a base around 55,000 a year to 80,000 in depressed periods.

And they argue that Ireland, unable to sustain the numbers who remain at home, could not possibly cope with an additional 80,000 to 100,000 persons a year who board the emigrant ships.

In addition, money earned by the emigrants finds its way back into the country, particularly into the depressed and under-developed areas of the West, and constitutes one of the nation's invisible assets.

The census report indicated Ireland's traditionally conservative marriage pattern was changing slowly, very slowly.

But here again the earlier marriages were confined almost exclusively to the city areas with the rural areas maintaining its pattern of near middle aged bridegrooms, tardy and suspicious right up to the altar rails.

French Terms In America Lift Eyebrows In France

(Editor's Note: In this dispatch a reporter with many years' residence in France sets the record straight on what's "French" in American life, and what isn't.)

BY ALINE MOSBY

United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — France may not like the United States these days, but Americans still worship many things "French"—even if they're not so French.

Most French items in America, from French dressing to French dry cleaning, would perplex a Frenchman.

American dry cleaners who want to convey the impression of modern, fine workmanship hang out signs saying "French dry cleaning."

Well, dry cleaning in Paris usually is a disaster. Every dress I gave to the Paris dry cleaners came back shrunk with linings dangling below hemlines. Buttons were taken off and never sewn back on, knitwear was stretched to the ankles.

Dry cleaners in Paris who want to convey the impression of modern, fine workmanship hang out signs saying "American" dry cleaning.

That French dressing that smothered American salads would cause a French citizen to clutch his brow in despair.

Mon Dieu! Who ever would ruin a good vinegar and oil dressing with tomato ketchup! And sugar!

Many other "French" items can be found in France, but were not invented there and acquired the "French" tag here possibly because we associate elegance and good eating with France.

French fried potatoes are standard fare in France; they are called simply "pommes frites," or fried potatoes. But the Belgians claim they invented "pommes frites."

French puddles were developed in Germany in the Middle Ages, for that matter. The Germans called them "puddel," from whence comes "pudding."

Poodles are popular in France among the wealthy set. But the most common dogs one sees in public are German police dogs, or little white yipping Spitz, without which no restaurant is complete.

What is known here as a "French bulldog" is an American breed, according to the American Kennel Club.

French telephones and French doors were developed in France. So was "French toast," but you never will find it at a restaurant menu there — it is strictly a way for a poor housewife to use stale bread by dipping it in beaten egg and milk and frying it in sugar. She calls it "pain perdu," or lost bread.

Incidentally, what New York grocery stores label French bread isn't French (which is light with lots of holes) but Italian (heavier).

New York's "French doughnut" does not exist in France because doughnuts don't. However, a similar hole-less glazed pastry can be bought. It's called a "pete de none," which cannot be translated for a family newspaper.

French pastry exists in France, but it's not as gooey and rich as the U.S. version.

"French fried" foods are largely unknown in France. Except for potatoes, the French do not deep fry foods. They "saute," meaning cooking meat or fish very quickly in a small amount of butter, and then sometimes in a non-fattening liquid such as wine.

Most French food is not fattening.

It's strictly an American restaurant practice to take a perfectly good piece of chicken, shrimp or veal, dip it in egg and bread crumbs, and "French fry" it in cups of oil to produce a fattening tasteless and heavy piece of sawdust.

U.N. Day In Newton

Newton Mayor Monte G. Basbas in conjunction with the World Affairs Council of Newton is busily preparing for Newton's observance of U.N. Day — October 24. Mrs. Paul G. Myerson, chairman of Newton U.N. Day, has released the text of Mayor Basbas' letter of invitation:

"On October 24, the United Nations will be twenty-one years old. Its accomplishments have been many, its shortcomings few but conspicuous. The recent crises over financing and peacekeeping underline the need for increased support of measures to strengthen the U.N.

"I have proclaimed October 24 as United Nations Day in Newton. It is hoped that many Newton organizations will, within the week of October 23rd to October 30th, in some way use their own resources to call attention to the importance of the U.N. in general or to some particular U.N. function of special interest to their own group.

"The United Nations Dinner, sponsored by the World Affairs Council of Newton is always a very pleasant occasion for both local residents and the charming guests of honor, the students from other lands who are living or attending school in Newton. This year the dinner program will be particularly timely: former Governor Endicott Peabody and Attorney General Edward W. Brooke, candidates for the United States Senate, have been invited to speak.

"In order to get widespread participation and make it possible for families to bring their young people, the supper will be simple and will cost only 99 cents.

"Every organization taking six or more tickets (for the use of its officers, members, or their families or for donation to the student guests) will be listed as co-sponsors.

"We earnestly solicit your sponsorship and participation. In this crisis year, a broad expression of support from all the civic leaders of the community is of the utmost importance."

Mrs. Myerson added to Mayor Basbas' appeal by stating that it is hoped many Newton organizations will observe this day in some special way. Such special activity could be a show-case display, the sale of UNICEF greeting cards, a special meeting or communication to the organization membership.

The World Affairs Council (10 Newbury St., Boston. 267-6674) will make every effort to furnish an appropriate speaker or film if given ample time to meet the request.

Federal Grant Given Newton Junior College

President Charles W. Dudley of Newton Junior College has announced that the College Library has received a federal grant in the amount of $4,270. This grant has been used for the purchase of a Microfilm Reader-Printer and a basic collection of microfilm as well as a number of additional books.

The Newton Junior College Library, which occupies the third floor of Claffin Hall, has recently expanded its facilities to the second floor of that building.

Its book collection now numbers close to 16,500 volumes, including 138 periodicals, a comprehensive reference collection, a record collection of the spoken word, and other collections of special materials directly related to junior college education, the Newton Junior College course curricula, and the specific needs of students and faculty.

Under the direction of the College Librarian, Mrs. Mabel Greeley, the College Library has developed resources adapted specifically to the educational and philosophical goals of the College, it has maintained its place as the intellectual center of the College, and it has contributed to the role of Newton Junior College as Newton's community college by serving the needs of local citizens and groups when called upon.

The Newton community is invited to visit the Library or to consult with the College Librarian by appointment.

Newton Woman To Receive $1068

An appeal for a receptionist for the entrance to City Hall, who also will relieve the telephone operator on the main switchboard when necessary, was approved Monday night by the Board of Aldermen.

The money will pay her salary from October through December.

The request, made by Vincent D. Burns, commissioner of public buildings, at the urging of Mayor Basbas, was approved by a vote of 20 to 1, with three absent. The lone "no" vote was that of Charles F. Hovey. The absentees were Louis I. Egelson Jr., William M. Glovsky and Harry L. Walen.

In debate that preceded the vote, it was brought out that the hiring of the receptionist and part-time telephone operator would solve two problems—one, the lack of a greeter who would function as do those in other city halls, notably the one in Malden and the receptionist in Brookline's Town Hall, and provide a replacement for the telephone operator whose board is usually so busy she finds it difficult to devote time to answering questions.

NEAR FATAL ACCIDENT ON ROUTE 9 — This sports car convertible skids upside down to a battered stop after crossing the median strip and turning over on Route 9, opposite Stop & Shop, last Monday afternoon. David Rooney, 21, of 290 Parker street, Newton, is still unconscious and on the danger list at Newton-Wellesley Hospital with multiple head and chest injuries. He was pulled from under the car by a passing motorist. His companion, Gerald Cutler, 18, 27 June lane, Newton, was thrown clear. He suffered head abrasions and elbow injuries.

Committee To Be Named To Study Pension Plan

A resolution in which Alderman Paul J. Burke requested that President Wendell R. Bauckman appoint a committee of the Board to study the city's pension system for the purpose of recommending improvement, was unanimously approved Monday night by the full Board.

Said Alderman Burke, in requesting the Board to move on the item, "I would like to express my personal feelings on this matter.

"Our antiquated pension system has not been brought up to date in coverage in over 10 years, resulting in many gross inadequacies for our pensioners. I feel strongly that this board should recommend to His Honor the Mayor that the city establish a realistic minimum to be paid to our pensioners that would allow them the necessities of life. Also, that the limited number of widows or former city employees who do not qualify under the current system be included," Burke continued.

"A city employee retired in 1946 is still receiving the same pension 20 years later despite the constant increase in the cost of living. That the city still sees fit to pay such minimal amounts as $46 per month to a worker who gave 20 years of service, $72 per month to a former city employee who gave 40 years of service, and believe it or not, $19.15 per week to the widow of a Newton police officer who gave his life in the line of duty defending the citizens of Newton," Burke declared.

"We must not lose sight of the fact that our city employees are not covered by Social Security, which has made several increases over the years to combat our constant cost of living increases. We should remember that the pensioners in the past, through their taxes, helped to build many of our schools our children enjoy today, the roads we drive on and, yes, this fine

Target Date Is Set For City's New Incinerator

A 30-day target date of between Thanksgiving and Christmas has been set for the opening of the new Rumford ave. incinerator in Newton.

Newton Building Commr. Vincent D. Burns gave last week about the project that was originally scheduled to open in the fall, possibly as early as Oct. 15.

But work stoppages, due to the scarcity of incinerator materials, pushed that date up into the new year, sometime in February.

However, because of a recent meeting of construction officials and architects, Burns is optimistic the incinerator will be in operation before Christmas.

The new unit will relieve Newton Upper Falls residents of most of the ash and dust of the Elliot st. incinerator that reportedly inundated the area. That incinerator will only be used for wood and brush materials and to handle any overloading from the new incinerator.

Extra precautions have been taken in the new incinerator to eliminate ash-fall. The chimney was designed to house an electronic percipitation, an electronic device that traps ashes and disintegrates them with a stream of electric charges.

Even without that device, the possibility of any ash should be negligible. The rubbish will be burned, sifted, burned again. Then the remaining ash is washed down and what is left is buried.

city hall we meet in this evening," he stated.

"I hope in our affluent society in our Garden City of Newton, that the citizens, we as members of the Board, and the Mayor, never reach that point in our enthusiasm for new public facilities where we allow brick and mortar to take over for our responsibilities to the individual pensioners in this particular case," Burke asserted.

"I hope this item will pass this evening, and when the president appoints the committee they will return to this board as quickly as possible with a recommendation for an improvement in our present pension system," Alderman Burke concluded.

Five Traffic Petitions Get Aldermen's OK

The Newton Board of Aldermen Monday night approved five traffic and parking petitions while two petitions were denied.

Approved was a petition brought by Alan Berson that the no-parking restrictions on the south side of Florence st., Chestnut Hill, be reviewed, particularly in front of 168, 175 and 177.

Also approved was a petition by Frederick Teccia, et al., for a one-hour parking limit on Munroe street, Newtonville, from Newtonville ave., and from No. 17 Munroe st., between 7 a.m. and 5 p.m.

A petition of Mary L. Tedesco, et al., for a two-hour parking limit on Central ave., Newtonville, from Omar Terr. to Prospect st., between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m., was approved.

Approval was given to a Traffic Commission recommendation for an ordinance that Albermarle rd. be made one-way from Eddy st. to North st., that the south and west roadways be made one way easterly and northerly, and that the north and west roadways be made one way southwesterly and westerly.

Also, that Brookside ave. be made one way northerly from its intersection with Albermarle rd. to Watertown.

Victor Nicolazzo's petition that there be no parking any time on Bailey place, Newtonville, east side for 100 feet northerly was approved.

Two Street Traffic requests were denied: Angelo Annicelli's petition that the parking meter limit be extended until 10 p.m. in front of 346 Watertown st., Newton, and a request for right-turn arrow to be added to the traffic light at Crafts and North sts., Newtonville.

Margot Gray, daughter of Mrs. Edith T. Gray, 136 Middlesex road, Chestnut Hill; Elliott J. Feldman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sarley M. Feldman, 117 Westchester road, Newton, and Barbara Sternfeld, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Leon Sternfeld, 360 Ward street, Newton Centre, have been named to the University of Chicago Dean's List for their outstanding work in the academic year of 1965-66.

Former School Head Attacked . . . Southern Critics Fail To Ruffle Harold Howe

A former Newton High School principal, now the United States Commissioner of Education, was a storm center in Washington last week over school desegregation.

But pipe-smoking Harold Howe II remained calm under sharp questioning by Southern critics on the House Rules Committee. He denied he had overstepped his authority in his efforts to speed school desegregation.

As he testified, Rep. L. Mendel Rivers (D-S. C.) attacked Howe viciously on the House floor.

"This man talks like a Communist," Rivers declared. "That's why some of us who know him call him the communist of education. The President should fire him."

In a 10-minute vitriolic tirade, Rivers called the former Newton educator "a misfit," "an idiot" and "ignorant."

Rising to Howe's defense, Rep. William Fitts Ryan (D-N. Y.), said he was "shocked that a responsible member of the House would describe as a 'Communist' a public official who was trying to carry out the mandate of Congress. 'I had thought the days of McCarthy and McCarthyism were gone,' Ryan said. 'It makes me shudder.'"

At the House hearing, Howe testified that a plan for extensive busing to achieve racial integration in the nation's schools had been submitted to Secretary John W. Gardner.

Rep. John B. Anderson (R-Ill.) asked Howe to explain a previous statement that any massive busing plan would be "ridiculous."

Howe said his choice of words had been "unfortunate," what he meant was that in any such plan no compulsion was intended.

Anderson said the plan had a form of "carrot" compulsion, in that it would provide a 20 percent bonus in federal aid to school systems initiating busing projects to achieve racial balance.

In an opening statement, Howe said the revised 1966 guidelines for desegregation issued by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare were intended to "eliminate dual school systems for whites and Negroes, systems being operated in violation of the 1954 Supreme Court ruling."

The guidelines, he insisted, "do not mention and do not require racial balance or the correction of racial imbalance." He had not sought, he declared, to "establish racial balance."

Howe said the legal responsibility of his department was to adhere to the procedures "and policies established in the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and supported by the decisions of the federal courts."

Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va.), chairman, said: "We have a lot of complaints about attempts to cure imbalance; about your field people particularly. How can you do anything about this in light of Title IV—the opening paragraph of Title IV—of the Civil Rights Act, which prohibits you from doing this?"

Howe replied: "We are not about such an enterprise: We want free choice to take effect. We are not engaged in any way, so far as I know, in establishing procedures for balance."

Rivers snapped: "If you don't know about the efforts of your department to correct imbalance you're the only one in the United States who doesn't."

The opening paragraph of Title IV says: "Desegregation means the assignment of students to public schools and within such schools without regard to their race, color, religion, or national origin, but 'desegregation' shall not mean this assignment of students to public schools in order to overcome racial imbalance."

Howe was principal of the high school from 1957 through 1960 when he resigned to become superintendent of schools in Scarsdale, N. Y.

3 Youths, Girl Arrested After Route 128 Brawl

Newton District Court Judge Julian L. Yesley Monday continued the cases of three youths and a 17 year old girl in connection with a fracas at the Howard Johnson restaurant on Rte. 128 in which a Newton policeman was forced to draw his revolver.

The quartet pleaded guilty to charges of drunkenness and disturbing the peace and their cases were continued until Oct. 10. Judge Yesley released them in personal recognizance.

Police said two officers, James Roche and Raymond Thibeault, were on duty at the restaurant. They ordered one of the defendants to take his foot from in front of the door to let other customers out.

A scuffle ensued between the officers and the youth at the entranceway and then out into the parking lot.

A dozen officers sped to the scene after 100 students began crowding the two officers. The gun was drawn when the crowd of teen agers urged one of the fighting youths to overcome the officers.

The policemen were on duty at the restaurant as a result of trouble on previous occasions.

JOHNSON TACKS 'FEAR' LABEL ON G.O.P.

PRESIDENT Johnson assailed Republicans as the party of "fear" Wednesday as he stumped New York on what was likely to be his last campaign trip before the polls open Nov. 8.

Hundreds of thousands of New Yorkers turned out to hear Johnson praise the record of the 89th Congress and characterize the Republicans as "afraid of their own shadows and afraid of the shadow of progress."

Five demonstrators were detained by police at a stop in Brooklyn's Albee Square after they tangled with federal agents guarding the President. Another sign-carrying group was turned back by reinforced police lines at a Long Island rally.

DRAFT CALLS REDUCED FOR 2 MONTHS

THE PENTAGON cut its November draft call Wednesday by 6100 men — to a total of 37,600 — because recent enlistments had been greater than expected. It also said it had no plans to call up reservists under new, unrequested authority voted to President Johnson. The December draft call was announced as 12,100, an unusually low figure, but the Defense Dept. explained this was due to the holidays and that all inductions in that month would be completed by Dec. 16. The January quota is expected to rise above 30,000.

NEW GE CONTRACT OFFER REJECTED

A NEW General Electric Co. contract offer was rejected by 11 unions at a bargaining session Wednesday, leaving negotiations deadlocked in the face of a strike deadline set for Monday. Commerce Sec. John T. Connor said the rejection left the negotiations on "dead center."

Paul Jennings, head of the IUE, said the company was merely playing a numbers game. "They've shifted money around, but they still want the employees to bear the major cost of inflation," he said.

DR. SHEPPARD PRESENTS BIAS EVIDENCE

DR. SAMUEL H. Sheppard and his Boston attorney, F. Lee Bailey, presented Cuyahoga County Court Judge Francis J. Talty with a stack of newspaper clippings 15 inches high to show that local prejudice would prevent the doctor from receiving a fair trial in Cleveland in the 1954 slaying of his first wife.

Judge Talty said he would rule Friday on Sheppard's motion to move the trial, scheduled to start in Cleveland next Tuesday, to another county.

ALUMINUM HEIR DIES OF 'PROP' INJURIES

LIVE TV PICTURES FROM MOON DUE

AMERICAN television viewers will receive their first live pictures from space by means of a small box-like TV camera mounted in the Apollo 1, which is to carry three astronauts in an orbital flight around the moon on a 14-day mission scheduled for early December. The live TV pictures are to be relayed from the capsule while it is within direct range of the Cape Kennedy tracking station. It alone can translate the signals into pictures.

STOCKS SOAR ON HUGE BUYING WAVE

COLUMBUS DAY buying spree Wednesday sent stock prices soaring for the best gain in almost three years.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average zoomed 19.54 to 778.17 — its best one-day gain since a $2.05 point romp on Nov. 26, 1963, the first session following President John F. Kennedy's assassination.

The New York Stock Exchange Index registered a gain equal to $1.11 in the average share price as a last-hour buying wave swept the list along.

Brokers were almost unanimous in attributing the rally to Commerce Sec. John Connor's suggestion that wage-price controls were not needed now, even with the Viet Nam war.

STOLEN CAR KILLS MOTHER, HURTS 2 CHILDREN

A MOTHER was killed Wednesday and her two children and three other persons were injured when a stolen car jumped a sidewalk and plowed into a crowd at Mass. Ave. and Boylston St., Back Bay. Three youths in the car bearing Oklahoma registration plates, fled from the scene.

Dead was Mrs. Beverly Fouhy, 31, of Somerville. Her two children, Jean 3, and Cheryllyn, 6, were on the danger list at Boston City Hospital with multiple injuries as were Louise Corkham of Somerville, a sister-in-law of Mrs. Fouhy; Willie Davis, 31, of Boston and Arthur Gilchrist, 60.

WHIPPING FIRE HOSE INJURES SEVEN

SEVEN PERSONS were injured slightly in a freak accident Wednesday when they were struck by a wildly flipping fire hose and a high pressure stream of water as firemen battled a four-alarm blaze in a vacant Roxbury building.

A Boston City Hospital doctor said the seven were cut and bruised when a train ran over a fire hose, severing it and sending it careening through a crowd watching nearby. Robert Barber, 35, of Boston, an ambulance driver, broke his ankle when he tripped over a hose attempting to help the injured.

DON'T FEAR FEDERALISM — HUMPHREY

VICE PRESIDENT Humphrey visited Springfield, Vt., late Wednesday and sounded a call for Americans to trust — not fear — their federal government. He said such fear may have been generated by "creative federalism" which he defined as an effort to encourage local initiative, not to stifle it, and to stimulate local governments, not to dominate or supplant them. Humphrey flies to Boston today to visit Boston College, and to meet Democratic state leaders at a Faneuil Hall rally.

He advised the South Vietnamese government to get clogged warehouses cleared quickly.

McNamara flew to the U.S.S. Oriskany, a carrier, after inspecting U.S. positions in the jungle of central South Viet Nam.

School Board Turns Down Single High School Plan

By a unanimous vote the Newton School Committee on Monday night rejected a proposal for the establishment of a single high school in the city and reaffirmed its intention of moving forward with a building program involving two separate high schools.

Mayor Monte G. Basbas, who attended the School

Board session, announced that he would take immediate steps to appoint two architects, one to design plans for the reconstruction of Newton High School, the other to prepare plans for the expansion of Newton South High.

Basbas said he is accepting completely the recommendations of both the High School Site Study Committee, which favored the two-high-school plan, and the Library Site Study Committee, which proposed the erection of a new library at Homer and Walnut streets, Newton Centre, across from Newton City Hall and adjacent to the City Hall parking lot.

Twelve buildings, including a nursing home and several multiple-family dwellings, will be taken by the city and demolished to provide added land at Newton High School.

Mayor Basbas declared that he would seek to have the city acquire this property as promptly as possible in an effort to provide as much time as possible for the relocation of the occupants of the building.

He said he will appoint a relocation committee to assist those persons who must be moved to make way for the erection of the new buildings at Newton High School.

Meanwhile, it is understood that the library trustees do not favor the site on which the proposed new central library will be located and would prefer to see it built on the site of the old Mason School in Newton Centre Square.

However, Newton Centre Square has been ruled out as a possible site for the new library, partly because of the heavy traffic there and partly because it is not as centrally located as the site near City Hall.

Under the high school building program now formally and finally approved by both the Mayor and School Committee, Newton High School will be almost completely rebuilt, with only the Technical High School retained and renovated.

It will be designed to accommodate 2500 students.

An addition will be built to Newton South High to give it facilities for 2000 students. An estimated $11,375,000 would be spent to rebuild and renovate Newton High School and construct an addition to Newton South High.

This plan was originally approved by the School Committee last May after it had been recommended by a 19-member study committee appointed by Mayor Basbas and headed by City Planning Consultant Charles E. Downe.

However, the matter was reopened when a three-member group urged that the city return to the concept of a single high school, that Newton South High be converted into a junior college and that the new central library be built on the site of the junior high school.

That proposal was advanced by Herbert F. Regal, vice president of the Newton PTA Council; Henry F. Myerson, president of the Weeks Junior High PTA; and Daniel Ahern, president of the Friends of the Newton Free Library.

School Committee Chairman Harold J. Berman said Monday night that because

Protests Meet Zone Change Petitioners

Petitions for zone changes in Newton Upper Falls, to allow for the construction of garden-type apartment buildings, were hit Monday night at a joint public hearing in City Hall.

At issue was a double petition of the Royal Colonial Gardens Realty Trust Co. for a zone change and permissive use in the 1100 block on Boylston St. The Trust had petitioned for a joint meeting of the Claims and Rules and Planning Board for a zone change with the hope of erecting apartment buildings containing 44 units on 100,000 feet of land.

At the hearing, a 32 to 16 showing of hands registered a two-to-one disapproval of the petitioners' request. In addition, a petition signed by 139 persons opposed to the proposal had been received by the chairman of the Claims and Rules committee.

Atty. Lawrence D. Shubow, of Boston, represented the petitioner. He said the owner of the Realty Trust was Krist E. Apog, of 1161 Boylston St., Newton Upper Falls.

Shubow said the apartments would have a colonial motif, and 11 of the units would rent for $175. He maintained the construction of the apartments would not add to the Worcester Turnpike's traffic problem to any great extent, as the closing of cross-overs in the area had served to solve the problem.

For the most part, objections were based on opinion.

Report Hitting Peter Volpe Fails To Prove Its Charges

The big question in political circles now is how much impact the Democratic attack on the selection of architects for the University of Massachusetts Medical School has made upon the election battle between Governor Volpe and former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack.

Polls and surveys indicate that Volpe was leading McCormack by a substantial margin at the time the report was issued charging improprieties in the hiring of architects during the Volpe administration.

U.N. Day Dinner Here To Be Held On October 28th

Newton Mayor Monte G. Basbas and U.N. Day Committee Chairman Mrs. Paul Myerson released additional information this week concerning Newton's upcoming observance of United Nations Day.

On Friday, Oct. 28 at 6:30 p.m. a dinner open to the public will be held at Newton South high school.

Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke, Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate, is scheduled to speak at 8 p.m. Former Governor Endicott Peabody, the Democratic nominee for the Senate seat being vacated by Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, will participate if his schedule permits.

Irene Thresher Wages Fight For County Office

Middlesex County voters should know more about their County Training School for school truants, ex-Rep. Irene K. Thresher, candidate for office in the Middlesex County Commissioners race, declared this week.

"It is well known that our county has a high rate of juvenile delinquency," Mrs. Thresher remarked. "This being so, how many Middlesex County voters realize that our county budget in 1966 allotted $570,326 to operate this school? How many know that the boys at the Middlesex County Training School have a choice of vocational training in such skills as laundry work, barbering and baking, or academic work in ungraded classes, or that a music director has just come to the school, which also has a swimming pool and a farm as part of its work-and-earn program?"

Mrs. Thresher, a former Newton resident and now of Cambridge, is a former State Representative from the 5th Middlesex District and the first woman member of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee.

She has waged an aggressive campaign to restore two-party government at the county level in Middlesex County. She also criticizes the tremendous jump in the county budget, which she claimed nearly tripled in a decade.

In order to assess the reasons for this "shocking breakdown in efficient expenditure" of the taxpayers' dollar, Mrs. Thresher personally visited many of the facilities for which the County Commissioners are responsible.

She found that "the Middlesex County Training School in North Chelmsford now has only 86 boys, who come from cities and towns in Middlesex and six other counties.

She noted that the fate of 7000 boys who left the school in nearly a century is unknown, because follow-up has never been one of the institution's strong points.

During her 10 years in the legislature, Mrs. Thresher was on the commission which recommended establishment of the school adjustment counselors in the Massachusetts public schools. She urges that the additional educational opportunities this 85-year-old school offers be made available to more of Middlesex County's problem boys.

The subject of Brooke's remarks will be "The Role of the United Nations in World Affairs." Moderator of the question period will be Harold J. Berman, chairman of the Newton School Committee and Professor of Law at Harvard University.

In order to encourage widespread participation and enable families to bring their young people, the dinner will be a buffet costing $1.35 a person. All students at the dinner will be admitted free to hear nationally-known "Zola" in her program of songs from many lands.

Tickets for the event may be obtained by sending a check for $1.35 for each dinner with a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Mrs. Stanley Lampert, treasurer, 132 Farlow rd., Newton, 02158.

New Director Appointed To Jackson Home

The trustees of the Jackson Homestead, 527 Washington St., Newton, announce the appointment of Mrs. William H. Cannard as the new director and curator of this city-owned historical museum. Born in Green Bay, Wis., she had three years of training at the Layton School of Art in Milwaukee and two years of business school in Green Bay.

Following this she became assistant and then curator of art at their Neville Public Museum, a position she held for nine years, and worked under the direction of one of the early "greats" in the museum field, Henry Levi Ward. In 1946 she became affiliated with the Attleboro Museum, Inc., and since 1951 has been their first professional director.

Her wide experience includes planning, hanging and publicizing art exhibits, cataloging as well as having a working knowledge of furniture, costumes and accessories, ceramics, silver and pewter, to name just a few. Also, her biography appears in most editions of Who's Who.

Mrs. Cannard, her daughter, Julie, who has just entered Bigelow Junior High School, and their white cat "Angie" (for Angel Marshmallow) are now living at the Homestead.

Taking part in the ceremonies and accepting the plaque with Mayor Basbas were Captain Richard F. Donahue, of the Police Traffic Bureau, who represented Chief Purcell; Sergeant Thomas M. Dorgan, of the Police Traffic Safety division, and Police Safety Officer Charles E. Feeley.

In making the presentation, Mr. Kretschmer said: "Newton is receiving the national award for its low casualty record. The city's death rate is half the national average and its injury rate is 25 percent below the national average."

"For Newton, with a population of nearly 90,000 and a location in a busy urban area, to rank so high in competition with 125 cities across the country is a remarkable achievement."

"The record speaks well for the pedestrian safety program being carried on in this city by police and school authorities," Kretschmer stated.

Newton Hero Buried In Arlington Grave

A Newton native, who died in the service of his country, was buried in Arlington National Cemetery this week. He was Capt. Richard Abbott Rosbeck, 26, killed in Vietnam Oct. 3 when his armored helicopter crashed and burned while returning from a combat mission against the Viet Cong.

Rosbeck, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. James Rosbeck, of 7 White Pine Rd., Newton Upper Falls, had been attached to the 502nd Battalion, Company A, of the Army Air base at Vinh Long, South Viet Nam, since March.

Prior to his duty in the war-torn Southeast Asian country, where he piloted a helicopter "gunship" in support of ground troop combat operations, Capt. Rosbeck was stationed in Berlin for four and one-half years.

Military funeral services were held Tuesday in the chapel at Ft. Meyer, Virginia, for the Newton war hero.

A graduate of Tabor Academy and Middlebury College, Vt., in 1960, he was a qualified paratrooper and the recipient of several medals.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by his wife, Ann (Bialkowski) Rosbeck, two daughters, Deborah, 5, and Karen Ann, 1½, of Newport News, Va.; a brother, Peter, of Newton Upper Falls, and a sister, Mrs. Philip Stickney, of Newtonville.

Headlights And Highlights From Newton High School

By JOANNE GROSSMAN

Foreign travel and travelers are in the news at Newton High School.

Senior Bonnie Bell will spend the school year in West Germany as an American Field Service student. Ellen Berezin, Newton High's other A.F.S. finalist, did not go abroad because no home could be found for her.

Other Newton students did travel this summer. A group of 30 Newtonites spent a month in England, under the direction of Newton teachers John Livingston and Elizabeth Massey. The students were Paul Barron, Bill Alford, Fred Lown, Diane Daniels, Nancy Levco, Laura Kaplan, Claire Moricce, Tirzah Agassi, Patricia Kates, and Margie Jacobs, of the Class of 1966.

Also, Charles Hull, Dan Levin, Jeff Stern, Nancy Diamond, Joanne Grossman, Deborah Halliday, Ann Lown, Beth Piken, and Nan Rubin, of the Class of 1967.

Members of the Class of 1968 who went to England were Steven Carter, Thomas Hull, Jeff Simon, Karen Bissette, Pat Caminos, Janet Jamis, Dee Lansberry, Cindy MacKay, Valerie Samuel, and Jean Tsutsumi.

Germany was the destination of another troupe of NHS'ers. Under the direction of Newton German teacher Richard Clark 18 students studied for six weeks in Germany. They were Marie Bourgeois, Peter Butler, Ralph Crevosash, Lois Farmer, Joseph Gerson, Miriam Jacobs, Louise Lerner, Frank Michaleon and Janice Mooney.

Also, Paul Murphy, Phyllis Olrich, Patricia Orner, Steven Ostrow, Donna Roby, Richard Sacks, Randolph Schutz, Erich Weiner, and Kenneth Werner.

On the home front, Newton will be home base for four visiting students. Carlos Alberto Kohan, 18, is originally from Buenos Aires, Argentina. He is living with the family of Dr. Lester Steinberg. Bob Steinberg, an NHS senior, will be Carlos' American brother.

Thierry Bingen, from Brussels, Belgium, will be residing with the Victor Kumins and will attend Newton South High School.

Other foreign students at Newton High include Ziv Fox, 16, who comes from Haifa, Israel. As a junior, Ziv will be living with the Benjamin Goldfarbs. Yang Pal Lee, who is staying with the family of E. Leslie Robert, is from South Korea. Yang, who will be a senior this fall, is studying at

Parents Of High School Students To Be Welcomed

Newton High School will welcome the parents of sophomore students at a program to be presented next Thursday night (Oct. 20 at 7:45 p.m. in the High School Auditorium.

As part of the program, the parents will be addressed by Principal Richard W. Mechem of Newton High School, Paul Goldman, President of the Parent Teachers Association and Dr. William A. Overholt, Chairman of the Building Committee.

After this general meeting, parents will attend meetings in the various House Common Rooms to meet the Housemaster and Counselor. Refreshments provided by P.T.A. Social Chairman Jacob Owen will be served.

Newton High for the second year.

The Newton High School Student Council plans to expand senior and "Merit" privileges this year. Students with a B average are said to be on "Merit." This means that they can go to the library during their study halls, and that they can leave school when they have two consecutive last period studies. One of the proposals is that seniors be allowed to leave school grounds for lunch.

This year's council is under the direction of President David Hirschberg, vice president David Kennedy, Secretaries Joanne Glickman and Debbie Glickman, and Treasurer Jeff Spear.

The Junior Class is already planning ahead for a Thanksgiving Day breakfast to be held before the Brookline-Newton football game and for the Junior Prom. The Class of 1968 is under the leadership of John Ziergiebel, president; Paula Stone, vice president; Anne Mechem, secretary; and Barbara Dangel, treasurer.

A pep squad, to cheer on Newton Football players, was recently selected. Members are Mark Chasen, Andrea Barron, Betsy Beard, Jane Berson, Jill Breslau, Amy Cohen, Ellen Dokton, Karen Gahn, Darlene Gratio, and Elaine Horne.

Also on the squad for this year are Belinda Hunter, Anne Mechem, Pattie Newman, Ruth Pigeon, Eleanor Procopio, Roberta Rosendorf, Barbara Stasyasky, Jean Steinman, Lori Stone, Rosanna Terrio, and Sue Werman.

Open House At Newton Sacred Heart College

An open house for Greater Boston high school girls and their parents will be held at Newton College of the Sacred Heart Sunday afternoon, October 16.

All six residences on the 50-acre campus will be open for inspection from 3 until 5 p.m. A number of commuting students will also be on hand in Stuart House, the main administration building, to talk about the unusual scholarship program, which provides whatever financial aid is needed to enable any girl who meets the entrance requirements to attend Newton as a commuting student.

Not all of the College's commuting students receive scholarship help, but those who are recipients under this plan have been awarded a total of more than $55,000 in financial assistance for the current academic year.

According to Mother Florence Ashe, R.S.C.J., director of admissions at the liberal arts college, the special scholarship plan gives the opportunity for a first class education at Newton to the good student who is not at the top of her class and, therefore, is usually out of the competition for scholarships.

Bus Complaint

Editor of the Graphic:

As you are undoubtedly aware, the school bus rates for students have increased this year. Student tickets are $2. If a child has to stay after school, he cannot use the same tickets. He has to buy another strip of tickets for $1.25, which amounts to $3.25 a week.

The Newton Lower Falls bus that goes to Warren Junior high school is overcrowded. The children are standing in the aisle. The limit for people standing in a bus is sixteen. The Lower Falls bus has 25 standing. The children are even standing on the steps of the bus and the driver cannot see the oncoming cars.

We think this is very dangerous. Also, the bus does not come on time, so, naturally, this makes the children late for school.

We think this is bad service for the price we are paying.

We, the people of Newton Lower Falls, feel that this is unfair and we will be glad to take the matter up with the School Committee or whomever it may concern.

Other surrounding towns can have federal funds for school buses and we don't see why Newton cannot have the same.

MRS. RUTH E. MAFFIOLA

Grateful Lions

Editor of The Graphic:

I would like to thank the publishers of the Newton Graphic for the news releases and photos published during the past year.

They were directly responsible for the Newton Lions Club's winning the Public Relations and Publicity Contest conducted by the Massachusetts Lions District 33-K.

As this was the first award Newton Lions Club ever received, we are extremely grateful. If it were at all possible, the name of your paper should also be engraved on the plaque we shall receive this month.

Abolish The PTA

Editor of The Graphic:

Since all the controversies in education in Newton are open to all comers, here is a new issue to consider: Is anyone for the abolition of the P.T.A.

This would be novel, but could solve the other problems. It would leave the administrators free to administer, the teachers free to teach, and the interested parents could stay home and feed the children lunch, all working in their chosen fields.

Yours very truly,

Food Purveyors Getting Annual Checkup Here

The Newton Health Department announces that the fall checkup on Newton food establishments is underway.

A campaign to bring all eating and drinking establishments 100 per cent in compliance with health regulations is carried out each fall so that these places can be recommended for renewal licenses.

The License Commissioners make it a practice not to issue new or renewal licenses until such places have the approval of the Health Department. Although Newton food places are under constant inspection by the Health Department sanitarian and are, for the most part, in very clean condition, this annual checkup is an added effort to make improvements and start the year in A-1 condition.

This campaign, which means all places will be given a detailed inspection, is started early in order to complete repairs and painting where necessary.

Recently the state adopted a new sanitary code of which Chapter X regulates food establishments — this code applies throughout the state and, while enforced in Newton by local inspectors, can be enforced by state inspectors. Although slightly more detailed and strict, this state code is essentially the same as standards used in Newton for many years.

Newton is divided into three equal areas with a sanitarian assigned to each. The sanitarians are Charles M. Hopkinson, Charles W. Pierce, and Joseph Walsh. Reinspections are made until complete compliance with regulations is achieved.

In addition to these inspections, monthly bacteria tests are made on eating and drinking utensils taken from eating places. These are collected by sanitarians and the laboratory work is done at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Political Highlights

While Volpe unquestionably was hurt to some extent by the Senate committee report, there is no evidence yet that it has damaged him sufficiently to cost him reelection.

For one thing the report obviously was a political document designed primarily to help McCormack and hurt Volpe. And most people are not disposed to place much credence in charges of wrong-doing made at the height of a political campaign unless a solid case is presented to support the allegations.

The Democratic Senators made some very strong charges in their report, but they did not marshal facts to substantiate the allegations.

Their report also would have been taken more seriously by many people if it had been issued during the late summer when the Legislature was in session and the committee was still in existence instead of being held until a month before the election.

Peter Volpe may have used poor judgment when he gave State Administration Commissioner John McCarthy any advice on the selection of architects, but there is not the slightest evidence that there was any "improper administration of the affairs of State" or an "unconscionable abuse of public trust for private gain" as the Committee claimed.

If those charges could be proven, they would be politically fatal to Governor Volpe and would assure the election of McCormack. But as matters stand, they're just reckless, unsubstantiated allegations.

Peter Volpe, of course, has spent most of his lifetime in the construction field, and it was understandable that the Governor would tell his commissioner of administration to get Peter's advice on the choice of architectural firms for the new medical school.

The company Peter Volpe recommended was a good one and apparently has done a good job.

It's stretching the imagination to the breaking point to argue that Peter Volpe recommended the selection of the architectural firm because it had made a $500 contribution to his brother's campaign.

The fact is that $500 is a small donation for an architectural firm to make to a gubernatorial campaign and that a number of architectural firms, which were not picked, undoubtedly made much larger contributions to the Volpe campaign.

These are some of the reasons why most people are not likely to shift away from Governor Volpe because of the harsh things the Senate committee had to say about him and his administration.

If the committee members had been more moderate and temperate in their allegations and had issued their report in a proper manner and when they had a right to issue it, a report might have been much more effective.

Governor Volpe is as strong as he is because most people consider him honest, have confidence in the integrity of his administration and think he is trying to do the right thing.

Volpe would be in deep trouble and would have scant chance of gaining reelection if that confidence were shaken. But there is no indication yet that the voters take the Senate committee report that seriously.

Brooke Is Now Meeting White Backlash Issue

Attorney General Edward W. Brooke apparently knows he is being hurt by the so-called "white backlash" and has decided to meet the issue head-on.

That is the interpretation political observers are placing on Brooke's action in speaking out against what he termed the inflammatory statements of Stokely Carmichael and in declaring that fear has swept across the entire nation as a result of the recent outbreaks of violence in Negro ghettos.

It would be extremely interesting to hear the views of Brooke and ex-Governor Peabody on civil disobedience if the two should engage in any

PTA Of Music School Plans Event Oct. 17

The Parent's Association of the All Newton Music School invites all parents to attend an Open House on Monday evening, October 17th at 8 pm to be held at the school, 321 Chestnut street, West Newton.

Members of the All Newton Music School faculty will be special guests and are looking forward to the opportunity to meet and chat informally with all parents.

The program for the evening will feature three members of the faculty, Miss Lisa Fredericks, supervisor of eurythmics classes, will inform the group of the goals and values of eurythmics for young people. Mrs. Anita Lorraine, instructor in creative dance, will show a film on creative dance for children ages 4 to 11 which was filmed during one of her classes at the school last year. Mrs. Sydelle Gomborg will present a lecture demonstration of ballet techniques with the assistance of some of her students. Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the program.

The president of the Parent's Association of the All Newton Music School is Mrs. John F. Reichard. Other local members of the committee are: Mrs. Samuel Kaplan, Mrs. Floyd Gilles, Mrs. Arthur E. Vershow, Mrs. Daniel Lerner and Mrs. Bernard Hyatt.

debate Brooke, he should be prepared to submit to a joint interview in which he and Brooke would be questioned by an impartial panel.

Channel 2 offered Peabody and Brooke free time for four one-hour debates.

If Peabody won't debate, the channel presumably would adopt some acceptable format so that the people would have an opportunity to see Brooke and Peabody together on the same platform and hear their views on the major issues.

Proposed Change Seen As No Reform

This probably will be the last election in which Massachusetts citizens will be able to cast separate votes for the candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor.

The indications are that the Bay State citizens will take this right away from themselves by adopting a constitutional amendment in the Nov. 8 election which would have the candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor run as a team as the candidates for President and Vice President now do.

Governor Volpe, ex-Governor Peabody and a number of other public officials have hailed this suggested change as a reform in government.

How it is a reform isn't clear to this observer.

In the past 30 years the people of Massachusetts only twice have elected a Governor of one political party and a Lieutenant Governor of the other.

But this is a ballot-splitting State in which the people usually vote for the individual rather than the party label.

It may seem absurd to suggest that the people will vote to deprive themselves of the right to pick the men they consider best qualified to be Governor and Lieutenant Governor even if they happen to be in different political parties.

But the fact is that the people usually vote in favor of changes in the State Constitution after being sold the idea that they're voting for reform.

By now, most of you should have received my direct mail circular on Westinghouse washers and dryers. This is by far the most comprehensive line of laundry equipment I have seen, as there is a washer or dryer to fit any possible need. As you will note, the emphasis is on permanent press clothing and as time goes on, the majority of our wearing apparel will be of these new fibres. If your laundry equipment is more than several years old you would do well to look into these new heavy duty machines for delicate work and if you purchase both a washer and a dryer, ask us for the additional savings over these already low prices.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Shea Making Home In Holliston

Now making their home in Holliston are Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Joseph Shea (Eleanor Patricia Norton), whose marriage was solemnized recently at Our Lady Help of Christians Church in Newton.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Norton of 156 Charlesbank road, Newton, are the bride's parents. The groom is the son of Mrs. Roland F. Shea of Brighton and the late Mr. Shea.

The Rev. William F. Downs officiated at the 11 o'clock double-ring ceremony. The Chestnut Hill Country Club was the setting for the reception.

Escorted by her father, the bride's ocer linen gown was trimmed with Venice lace at the empire waistline and on the sleeves. Matching lace edged the mantilla she wore and she carried traditional white flowers.

Miss Susan S. Norton of Newton, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, while two other sisters, Miss Constance E. Norton and Miss Katherine F. Norton, both of Newton, were bridesmaids.

James W. Shea of Brighton served as best man for his brother. The ushers were two other brothers of the groom, Roland F. Shea Jr. of Burnt Hills, N.Y., and Frederick G. Shea of Nashua, N.H.

The couple left for a trip to Vermont and Quebec City.

MRS. BERNARD J. SHEA

The bride was graduated from Newton High School and State College at Framingham.

Mr. Shea is a graduate of English High School, Boston, Boston College and the University of Massachusetts Graduate School.

Elizabeth Wheelock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Wheelock Jr., 103 Prince st., West Newton, has returned for her sophomore year at Northampton School for Girls, a private college preparatory school now in its 43d year.

Johann Strauss Orchestra To Play Benefit

Edward Strauss II, great-grandson of the founder of the famed musical Strauss dynasty, should not lack for an audience when he conducts the Vienna Johann Strauss Orchestra in its only performance in the New England area in Symphony Hall, Sunday afternoon, Nov. 6, at 3 o'clock.

The 32 dedicated go-getters of the Committee for Diabetes Foundation, Inc., under the able chairmanship of Mrs. Alan P. Joslin, 670 Old Orchard road, Chestnut Hill, has taken the initiative and addressed 2500 invitations to music lovers.

The envelope bears a shadow print of Opus 34, "The Beautiful Blue Danube Waltz."

The local committee members include Mrs. Frank N. Allen and Mrs. Frank P. Foster, both of West Newton, and Mrs. Malcolm M. Hubbard of Newton.

Ticket information may be obtained from Diabetes Foundation, Inc., at 232-0744 or by calling at 170 Pilgrim road, Boston.

The Diabetes program has three major objectives, research, education and treatment. The 40-bed hospital teaching unit at 170 Pilgrim road is a unique "medical motel." As many as 400 diabetic children each summer are taught the value of meticulous treatment at the two camps under the supervision of the foundation.

4 Local Couples Win Eight-Day Vienna Tour

Four Newton couples, winners of sales incentive contests sponsored by the Fedders Corporation, flew from Boston to Vienna last Tuesday aboard a Pan American Airways for an eight-day visit.

As guests of the Fedder Corporation they are staying at the Vienna Intercontinental Hotel. Extensive sightseeing was planned for them. It includes a grand tour of the city, a visit to the Vienna Opera and Beethoven's house, a tour of Shonbrunn Palace, a trip to Grinzing for country dining, a visit to Vienna Woods, and a performance by the Vienna Boys Choir.

The travelers are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cohen of Newton Centre, Mr. and Mrs. William Rabb of Newton Highlands, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lipson and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Andler, both couples of Newton.

Miss Patricia Anne Odell Wed To Mr. Hess In Newton

At a twelve noon ceremony on Saturday, October 8, in the Sacred Heart Church, Newton Centre, Miss Patricia Anne Odell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Odell of Newton Centre, formerly of Barrows street, Dedham, became the bride of Mr. John Henry Hess, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Hess of Brooklyn, N.Y. White gladioli and white China chrysanthemums adorned the altar for the wedding.

Rev. John W. Corcoran was the officiating clergyman, and a reception followed at the Woodland Golf Club, Auburndale, where decorations included white snowflake chrysanthemums, pink carnations and green bells of Ireland.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a demit candlelight gown of delicate satin with pearl-embroidered Alencon lace embellishing the portrait neckline and A-line skirt. Matching scalloped lace adorned the hemline, and other features of the gown included elbow-length sleeves and a full wateau chapel train which fell from the shoulders.

Her crown of matching delicate satin was embellished with pearls and embroidered lace and held in place a bouffant shoulder-length veil of illusion. She carried an arm bouquet of long-stemmed roses with a cascade of ivy.

Atonement Is Science Church Sermon Topic

Atonement as the day-by-day effort to yield one's life to obedience to the laws of God is the theme of this week's Lesson-Sermon titled "Doctrine of Atonement" to be read in all Christian Science branch churches this Sunday.

Jesus' words, "If ye love me, keep my commandments," from the fourteenth chapter of John, are related to this explanation from the denominational textbook: "The Christ was the Spirit which Jesus implied in his own statements: 'I am the way, the truth, and the life'; 'I and my Father are one'. This Christ, or divinity of the man Jesus, was his divine nature, the godliness which animated him" ("Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.)

The Lesson-Sermon consists of citations from the Bible and from the denominational textbook.

WILLIAM A. LINCOLN

Lincoln Hits Destruction Of Crime Records

William A. Lincoln, the Republican State Senate candidate from Newton, Brookline and Brighton, this week challenged the "irresponsible" proposal of his opponent, Sen. Beryl W. Cohen, who sponsored a bill to burn the records of the Massachusetts Crime Commission.

"I consider the bill submitted to destroy the Crime Commission's findings irresponsible legislation," Lincoln said. "Burning the Commission's findings would be senseless and a waste of the taxpayers' money."

Lincoln added, "We were first told that the Commission's records were in a bank vault in Worcester, but now it has been learned that stenographic notes of secret testimony submitted before the Commission are still in the custody of court reporters. By proposing to destroy the records, we would have in fact destroyed only half the records."

Lincoln also noted that Alfred Gardner, chairman of the now defunct Crime Commission, has asked that destruction of the documents be deferred because of pending court action.

The Republican candidate further stated that a reported $600,000 of taxpayers' money was spent by the Crime Commission during its investigative session and that over $30,000 was spent for stenographic work for the Commission.

"By proposing to burn the Commission's records are we to tell the taxpayers their money was spent wisely and for a good cause," Lincoln asked. "Why was such an irresponsible bill proposed?"

Equal Rights Group Invites Candidates

The Newton Committee for Fair Housing and Equal Rights will hold a "Candidates Night" on Tuesday evening, Oct. 25, at 8, in the Horace Mann School, Watertown street, Newton. Local candidates for State Representative, State Senator and Congressman from the Tenth Congressional District will present their programs.

The meeting is open to the public and admission is free. Brad Seasholes will be moderator.

The committee comprises a group of local residents interested in: informing the community regarding problems of discrimination whether in Newton or elsewhere; supporting legislation and other programs aimed at ending discrimination in housing, education and employment; protecting the human rights of every citizen in Newton. All Newton residents are eligible for membership. Further information and applications may be obtained by writing to Newton Committee for Fair Housing and Equal Rights, P.O. Box 74, Auburndale.

Dog Owners Warned By Animal Officer

Capt. William F. Quinn, director of animal control for the city, has issued a request that all owners and keepers of dogs cooperate with the Department of Animal Control by keeping dogs at home when children are going to and coming from school.

"School is no place for dogs," the captain insists. He adds that "even though most dogs are very fond of children and want to play with them, they become confused at the noise, shouting and excitement of youngsters romping in a school yard. During their confusion it often happens that a child is bitten."

Capt. Quinn points out that "dog officers may restrain, or order to be restrained, any dog if found in a school, schoolyard or recreational area."

And, he says, Dog Officers Charles F. Rivers and Roy D. McLaughlin are about to begin a campaign to rid schoolyards of dogs. Dogs so found will be taken to the pound and the owners will be notified to pick them up and required to pay the pound fees. If the dog is again found in a schoolyard, the dog officers will order it restrained.

Says Capt. Quinn, "Avoid a lot of aggravation and keep your dog at home."

Protests

ions that the proposed zone change would lead to the area's deterioration.

On another petition by Norton Elam for a 16-unit garden apartment building at 73 Charlesbank rd., only one man objected. He was Albert Somers, of 82 Charlesbank rd.

Somers said that 16 to 20 additional cars pouring from the project would add to the heavy Charlesbank rd. traffic.

Atty. Melvin Newman, of 84 Mandalay rd., Newton Centre, represented the petitioner. He explained the land was the property of the Charlesbank Realty Trust, Norton Ellman, trustee, and expressed the opinion the petitioner could not envision the apartment adding to the road's traffic problem.

He said the garden apartment would contain 11 two-bedroom units and five one-bedroom units renting from $175 to $200 a month.

A petition requesting a zone change from Residence B district to Residence E district in a Newtonville district bounded by Lowell ave., Otis st., Walnut st. and the northerly side of Hillside ave. had 15 persons recorded for and 15 against. B Zone is for single residences, while E Zone is for multiple occupancy residences. The petitioner, Mr. Leon M. Bablousian, 43 Highland Ave., owns a multiple-dwelling home in the area. Unless the change from B to E is granted, he will have to evict all the tenants but one, or be subject to a fine for violation of the zoning laws.

Atty. William E. Halliday Jr., 1357 Washington st., West Newton, spokesman for the petitioner, explained that, like Bablousian, a great many home owners of the area had converted their houses to multiple residences, and they recently discovered that unless they get rid of their tenants and convert back to a single residence, they too, could be taken into Newton District Court and be fined.

Until recently there had been no code enforcement in Newton, Halliday said, but now the property owners of this area are disturbed because the city's Building Department has begun to send around inspectors who seek to determine whether the houses are occupied by more than one family.

When Alderman Franklin N. Flaschner, Claims and Rules chairman, asked for a show of hands, there were 15 raised in favor of the petition, and 11 opposed.

Those who expressed objection to the zone change included Herbert Parsons, 35 Otis St., and Peter E. Ryan, 313 Cabot St.

Prior to the hearing, the committee had received a letter signed by the following persons who were in opposition to the proposed zone change:

Mrs. F. C. Argento, 80 Highland Ave.; Mrs. James Vitelli, 88 Otis St.; Mrs. William Ball, 258 Lowell Ave.; Mrs. David Stickman, 271 Lowell Ave.; Mrs. Helen K. Banner, 17 Highland Pl.; Edgar M. Randle, 10 Highland Pl.; Kenneth L. Hayden, 77 Highland Ave., and Mrs. Grace A. Antz, 9 Highland Pl.

No opposition was recorded against a petition of the Jenney Manufacturing Company for modernization and a new fluorescent lighting system at its service station at 2322 Washington St., Newton Lower Falls.

Nor was there objection to a petition of Patsy A. Annese for construction of a gasoline service station at 58 Crafts St., Newtonville.

Charterhouse of Massachusetts, Inc., seeking permission for additional parking space at Newton Charterhouse, off Boylston St., Chestnut Hill, at the Brookline line, encountered no opposition. The parking facilities, it was explained by Atty. Champe A. Fisher, 23 Prince St., West Newton, spokesman for the petitioner, would be needed for a proposed dining facility on the property. He said that Bernard Robert, 514 Dudley Rd., Newton Centre, was one of the Charterhouse owners.

Joel D. Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Davidson, 7 Sunhill La., Newton Centre, slated to graduate next April from Bates College, Lewiston, Me., as a biology major, recently returned to the campus after a five-day work trip to clear and mark a 15-mile portion of the Maine Appalachian Trail. The Bates Outing Club Council, of which he is a member, maintains a 50-mile segment of the trail near Andover, Me., on which they work during the week prior to school's opening.

Barbers Meet Here And Boost Haircut Price

The Associated Master Barbers of Massachusetts, meeting last Sunday at Holiday Inn, Newton Lower Falls, approved a state-wide boost of 25 cents in the price of a haircut, bringing the cost to $2.25 per shearing.

The meeting was concluded with a banquet, at which Mayor Monte G. Basbas greeted the 1200 delegates present, and Rep. Joseph G. Bradley appeared as the major speaker.

Volpe Says 129,000 Jobs Created During His Regime As Governor

Governor John A. Volpe, campaigning vigorously for reelection, declared today that 129,000 new jobs have been created in Massachusetts during his administration.

The Governor asserted that this has meant greater prosperity for the entire Commonwealth and all its citizens.

"When new jobs are created or old jobs are wiped out, it has a chain reaction which affects a great many persons other than those directly involved," the Governor observed.

"It is extremely gratifying to be able to report that 129,000 jobs, offering employment opportunities and in many instances a better means of earning a livelihood for our citizens, have been created during my administration," Governor Volpe stated.

Governor Volpe pointed out that 43,000 new manufacturing jobs have been established throughout the State during his present term reversing a serious trend which saw a decline of 38,000 such jobs during the previous Democratic administration.

"One of my chief objectives as Governor has been to achieve a better economic climate which would encourage the expansion of industry in our Commonwealth and in so doing provide new jobs and employment opportunities for our citizens," the Governor declared.

"I am happy to report that we have made notable progress toward reaching that goal.

"If I am reelected Governor, I intend to continue those efforts and to do everything within my power to realize an even greater improvement of the economic climate in our State and a higher degree of prosperity for our people," Governor Volpe added.

"We have made great strides during my administration, but there is more which can and should be done. I hope to be able to do it," he said.

Governor Volpe said that during the first 17 months of his term more than 300 manufacturing concerns either moved into Massachusetts or expanded plants already located in the State.

"Those firms which either opened new factories in our State or enlarged facilities already here between them created 43,000 new jobs in the manufacturing field," Mr. Volpe declared.

"It is a generally accepted fact that each manufacturing job helps to create four service jobs.

"This is the kind of progress of which all our citizens can be proud, and, indeed, it is progress they helped to make possible," the Governor continued.

Governor Volpe reviewed his efforts to promote tourist spending in Massachusetts.

"This, too, has paid dividends for our State and its citizens," he declared.

"This year I sought an appropriation of $770,000 for the purpose of promoting tourism in our State. Unfortunately, the Legislature reduced that amount to $405,000 or we could have done more than we did," the Governor said.

The NASA center, he observed, will create 5800 new jobs.

Governor Volpe is now working with the members of the Massachusetts delegation in Congress in an effort to have the Federal Oceanography Research Centre located in this State.

The Governor expressed the belief that this centre would have an economic impact equal to that of the Cambridge NASA Centre.

"These are some of the things we have done, are doing and will do in our endeavors to make Massachusetts a more prosperous State and to create more jobs and employment opportunities for our citizens," Governor Volpe concluded.

Plan Winterfest Exhibit

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Shattuck discuss plans for Newton's Winterfest exhibit with Mayor Monte G. Basbas after they were appointed co-chairmen for this city's entry.

Cohne Is Named Representative Of Medford Firm

Mann and Company, a Medford investment brokerage firm, announces the appointment of Herbert W. Cohne, 64 Fairmont Avenue, Newton, as a registered representative.

A general insurance broker, Cohne has been active in local business and community activities for the past 20 years. Known for his work in estate planning, pensions, profit sharing and trusts, Cohne is a special agent with the Equitable Life Insurance Society of the United States.

A participant in many insurance conferences, he recently completed a six-week seminar at Boston University covering estate/federal tax regulations and the gamut of financial programming.

A past PTA council representative, Cohne is an active member of the Association of Independent Insurance Agents, and Brokers of Massachusetts, Bigelow Jr. High, PTA, Newton High School, PTA, Temple Emanuel Synagogue, Boston University Alumni Club, Phi Epsilon Pi Alumni and as a past chairman of the Underwood School Cub Scout pack.

Cohne, who holds a BS degree in Business Administration from Boston University, served in the U.S. Air Force during World War II.

He is married to the former Bernice Fishman. The Cohnes have three children: Malcolm 18, Martin 16, and Carol, 13.

Cohne will represent the investment company in Newton and surrounding communities. In a recent interview he said: "Because most people are incapable of investing large sums of capital in securities, they fall to look into the possibilities of growth through planned savings. One of the best methods of accumulating a living estate and protecting against the ravishes of inflation is through mutual funds."

Missions Parley Scheduled For Immanuel Church

Details have been completed for the 17th Annual World Vision Conference On Missions to be held at the Immanuel Baptist Church of Newton from Oct. 16 through the 23rd.

The Rev. Earl Osborn, pastor of the church, and the Missionary Committee have set up a board of speakers for the eight days that will cover many of the difficult areas of the world plus our own home territory.

There will be missionaries from Algeria, South Africa, the Philippines, Rhodesia, Dominican Republic, Brazil, and the Far East. Home Missions will be represented by the Rev. Fred Kendal of Israel's Remnant, the Rev. Tai Nutt of the New England Fellowship, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Noble of Campus Crusade and by the Rev. and Mrs. Mogen Mogensen of the American Board of Missions to the Jews.

During the years since this annual conference was started in 1949, under the then pastor, the Rev. Douglas MacCorkle, Immanuel Baptist Church has raised and given to missionary endeavors around the world approximately $200,000. At the present time the church is supporting, in part, missionaries in Africa, Guatemala, Venezuela, New Guinea, Peru, Brazil and in Pittsburgh, Boston, and Baltimore.

Sessions of this conference will be held at all services on both Sundays and at 7 p.m. each evening. A special Youth Conference on Saturday will include the film "Vietnam Profile."

Newton," and it is hoped that, after the Boston showing, it can be made a semi-permanent display here in the City as an educational attraction for school children, interested citizens and tourists.

Mayor Basbas pointed out that this is a voluntary undertaking and hopes that interested citizens who have or know of items which might fit into a "Treasures of Newton" exhibit will be willing to lend them to the committee for this important event.

Suggestions and ideas for such a program should be submitted directly to Mr. and Mrs. Shattuck who will welcome all such contributions.

Community Center Announces Program Of Educational Games

The Newton Community Center recently announced a new program of educational games for youngsters in 1st, 2nd and 3rd grades entitled "Learning is Fun."

The program will be directed and taught by Mrs. Murray Janower, an experienced elementary teacher, and will be divided into seven subject areas: Phonics I (consonant sounds), Phonics II (vowel sounds), Arithmetic I (number facts to 10), Arithmetic II (number facts to 20), Spelling I and II (simple and intermediate word groups), Oral Reading I (dramatization and phrasing for Grade I readers), and Oral Reading II (dramatization and other oral reading techniques for Grade II and III readers).

Children will participate in a wide variety of organized play activities, ranging from arithmetic Bingo and spelling relay races, to phonic puppets and dramatic poetry readings. Attention will be both individual and group oriented, and pupils will draw on artistic, musical and dramatic talents while gaining practice in their basic skills.

Mrs. Janower, director and teacher of the classes, favors an informal and varied approach to learning. "The program," she states, "is designed to stimulate interest and enthusiasm in youngsters while they learn. It is a fine opportunity for children to gain the practice they need in mastering the fundamentals of all future learning, and at the same time to have a great deal of fun while doing it!"

Groups are limited to six children per subject area, and will meet once a week, on Tuesdays, for 10 weeks. Each session is 30 minutes, and will be held at the Center from 1:15 p.m. to 4:15 p.m., at half-hour intervals. Time schedule is available with registration form on request.

(Newton Community Center, 429 Cherry St., West Newton, 244-2260). Parents are encouraged to seek the advice of the grade teacher in placing their children, although this is not a requirement. Close contact with the child's teacher is desirable. Mrs. Janower believes. If the child has specific subject difficulties, a letter from his teacher is often helpful.

Mrs. Janower comes to the Newton Community Center from Brookline, where she taught second grade at the Michael Driscoll School. She is a graduate of Barnard College and has also taught in Washington, D.C., and at the Cambridge Center for Adult Education.

In addition to the Tuesday afternoon enrichment program outlined above, Mrs. Janower will also be teaching two art classes on Thursdays — one for nursery and kindergarten children, and one for first and second graders.

Bejoian and Nancy F. Davison for the Trainable Group at the Mason-Rice School, and William H. O'Connor and Batey at Warren Junior High School for the Educable Group.

Dr. Elizabeth Makkay was named Guidance Consultant for the Tuesday afternoon workshop for the present school year.

Two part-time appointments to the staff of Newton Junior College were approved: Robert A. Nourse as Laboratory Instructor in Data Processing for the Evening Division and Haskell Jaffe as substitute Instructor in Physical Education for the Day Division. The latter has been named for the first semester only.

Two teacher aids were approved. They are Mrs. Carol L. Barnes at Bigelow Junior High School and Mrs. Marguerite M. Sullivan at the Emerson School.

The state civil service commission certified Eva F. Freedman for appointment as a permanent, full-time principal clerk and typist in the School Administration Department. Ann G. "Zip A List" Week To Aid Postoffice Mail Handling

This week the Newton postoffice, together with those in some 400 major cities of the nation, is observing National Zip Code Week.

In conjunction with the "Week" various programs have been designed to encourage the public to assist the postoffice in handling the ever-increasing mail volume. In the Boston Postal District, which includes Newton, letter carriers are making delivery of two ZIP A List cards to every residence.

Postmaster Ephraim Martin stated that each card has spaces for addresses the householder wishes ZIPPED. One card calls for LOCAL addresses (within the Boston Postal District) and the second card for OUTSIDE LOCAL AREA addresses.

After placing their uncoded addresses on the cards, preferably printed legibly, they may be dropped into any letter box or returned to the letter carrier. The post office will add the appropriate ZIP Codes and return the cards to the mailer. "No postage is needed," Mr. Martin said.

The project is part of Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien's program to make ZIP Codes more accessible in the mailing public.

In completing the cards, only the street address and city and state are required. Individual names should not be listed.

Postmaster Martin emphasized the importance of including a return address on the front of the cards so they may be returned after addresses have been coded.

Incomplete addresses which are submitted but cannot be ZIP Coded by the local post office, such as those in a city like Washington, D. C., which has the same street names and numbers in the northeast, northwest, southeast and southwest sections, will be sent to the appropriate city and the codes will be added there. Additional cards are available from your letter carrier or postal delivery station.

French Corner-Grocer Is Losing To Supermarkets

By JOHN D. PARRY

United Press International

PARIS (UPI) —The corner grocery, that essential part of the "typically French" scene, is going the way of the horse and buggy. The supermarket is taking over.

Each year the number of small grocery stores, butchers and bakers going out of business grows as American-style supermarkets, which sell the same things more efficiently, often more cheaply and usually in cleaner surroundings, increase.

Statistics recently published by the French government show that supermarket sales now account for 13 per cent of all food sales. There is a general feeling that the percentage will more than double by 1970.

There are now 7,500 supermarkets in France according to same set of statistics—an increase of 400 per cent over the number existing in 1960.

Each year sees hundreds more being built, often with customer parking lots attached—a revolutionary departure for France.

But the statistics do not tell the whole story. For that it is necessary to talk with some of thousands of "M. and Mme. Duponts" whose carefully tended family businesses are being hurt badly.

"You don't get the personalized service in a supermarket that you get here," said Arm and Montbrisson, who has run his tiny store in a southern Paris district for 40 years. "All this" —he gestures at the shelves jammed with canned goods, the fresh vegetables in their racks, the display of cheese he painstakingly takes out of the refrigerator each morning and puts away each night—"all this is something the supermarkets can't match, because here we treat customers as PEOPLE."

Maybe so, but the younger Frenchman and woman isn't prepared to wait in a line half an hour just for the privilege of being treated as a person—nor having to go to one store for meat, another for bread, another for milk and yet another for vegetables as Mother and Dad used to do.

Another thing in favor of the supermarkets is they don't close for lunch, as does the corner grocery. It traditionally closes from 12:30 to 4 p.m. while the proprietor and his family eat a leisurely meal.

Older people still cling to the corner store tradition, and the line waiting patiently in M. Montbrisson's store shows a large percentage of old ladies in black and elderly gentlemen dressed in the traditional beret.

"I don't like the supermarkets because I don't think all that packaged and frozen food is fresh," said Mme. Helene Gerard, a faithful customer at Montbrisson's for 30 years. "I've always shopped this way and I see no reason to change."

The traditional resistance of the French to frozen and prepackaged foods was something the supermarkets had to overcome before the boom could start. They are winning the battle.

"Frenchwomen won't accept anything that isn't first class," said one supermarket manager. "The only difference between the things we sell and the things you can get in the corner store is that it's quicker and cheaper to buy them here and we move a lot more stock in a day."

Antique Happy? Big-Foot Worry? A Fine Arts Floater Or You'll Be Sorry?

A Marine Corps veteran and graduate of Newton High and Babson Institute, Mr. Nixon emphasizes that all members of his staff understand Newton's needs and stress personal service to their many friends and neighbors. Tailoring complete insurance coverage for everyone from the single man to grandparents is part of his office's daily routine. ## 2,000 Hospital Aiders To Plan For Big Fund-Raiser

The 2,000 members of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Aid Association are not letting superstition stand in the way of a successful Party Day on Wednesday afternoon, October 26th.

Exactly 13 years ago, the Aid Association launched its first one-day fund raising effort, to finance equipment and improvements at the 260-bed community hospital, a formal teaching affiliate of Tufts University School of Medicine.

Since then, proceeds from Party Days have helped the hospital establish and equip an intensive care unit, install piped oxygen and bedside intercommunication systems, and provide apartments for married house officers.

Last year, the single-day series of dessert-bridge parties held in the homes of Aid Association members produced more than $7,500, for an enlarged heart station in the hospital's special care unit.

This year's Party Day seeks to furnish an auto-analyzer for the laboratories of pathology. The automated testing machine will go along side another provided by the Aid Association in 1962. In a few more years, both machines will move into an enlarged laboratory, part of a 100-bed addition to the hospital that will get underway in 1967.

The Aid women have an important stake in that expansion project, too. They have pledged $100,000 to the hospital's enlargement drive. Donations and ticket purchases for Party Day 1966 will be credited against that pledge.

Working for a happy 13th anniversary of Party Day in various western suburban communities are village chairmen of the Aid Association.

Arranging parties in the Newtons are Mrs. F. Payson LeBaron, Auburndale; Mrs. George H. Larsen, Newton; Mrs. Robert T. Steinsieck, Newton Centre; Mrs. Ward I. Cornell, Newton Highlands; Mrs. David L. Currier, Newton Lower Falls; Mrs. William Johnson, Newton Upper Falls; Mrs. Albert P. Everts, Newtonville; Mrs. Warren G. Reed, Waban; and Mrs. Ralph L. Chisholm, West Newton.

Mrs. Walter Wegner is the Wellesley village chairman. Chairmen for Wellesley Hills are Mrs. Frank Idell and Mrs. Jarvis Foley. In Weston, Mrs. Charles A. Higgins Jr. is chairman. In Needham, Party Day plans are being directed by Mrs. Harold C. Wiswall.

Women Voters Schedule 10 Discussions

Newton League of Women Voters will hold 10 unit meetings between Oct. 19 and 21, with the first on Wednesday, Oct. 19, a voters service discussion on candidates and their stands on issues.

At each unit a representative of the resource committee on voters service, a committee composed of Mrs. Norman Rosenberg, Mrs. Maynard Slessinger, Mrs. Paul Nation, and Mrs. Lawrence Rubin, will present the platform of all political parties along with information on all positions to be filled. Fiscal policy, structure of government, state aid to education, and health and welfare are among the state issues that will be discussed. National issues such as Vietnam and civil rights will also be reviewed with emphasis on the positions held by the individual candidates. Finally, an explanation of the referendum questions will be given. The following is the schedule of discussion units:

Wednesday, Oct. 19—Newtonville Library, 9:30 to 11:15 a.m., home of Mrs. Gerald Golden, 53 Hammondswood Rd., Chestnut Hill, 1:15 to 3:15 p.m., home of Mrs. Alan Goldberg, 31 Sheffield Rd., Newtonville, 8 to 9:45 p.m.

Thursday, Oct. 20—Newton Highlands Workshop, 72 Columbus St., 9:30 to 11:15 a.m., home of Mrs. Leonard Albert, 92 Varick Rd., Waban, 8 to 9:45 p.m.

Friday, Oct. 21—Auburndale Congregational Church, 64 Hancock St., 9:30 to 11:15 a.m. League members and interested friends are invited to attend any of the discussion groups. For further information, call Mrs. James Houghteling at 969-7764.

Sodality Of Our Lady To Meet Monday

The Sodality of Our Lady, Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Parish, Newton Upper Falls, will hold its monthly meeting on Monday, Oct. 17, at 7:30 p.m., beginning with the rosary at the outdoor shrine in back of the rectory.

Afterward, there will be a talk at St. Elizabeth's Center by "Bob" McLaughlin, a long-time resident of the parish, who will discuss the history of the parish from its beginning.

Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Ann Looney and her committee.

To Teach Electronics

James C. Emerson, 45 Falmouth Rd., West Newton, has been appointed to the faculty of Wentworth Institute in Boston.

Holder of a B.S. in Electrical Engineering from MIT, he will teach electronic fundamentals.

Newton Centre Woman's Club Meets Tomorrow

Tomorrow, October 14th, the Newton Centre Woman's Club will hold their Fall meeting, opening their 79th winter season 1966-1967, at their club on 1280 Centre street. After the invocation by Mrs. Stanton J. Ten Broeck Jr., the salute to the Flag and singing of America, Mrs. Stanford D. Blitzer, the 37th president of the club, will preside at a short business meeting and welcome to the members. The club reports will be read by the secretary, Mrs. James F. McGarry and the treasurer, Mrs. Arthur J. Taylor.

The coffee and social hour is in charge of Mrs. Walter S. Anderson and Mrs. Frank J. Linehan Jr., assisted by Mrs. A. Cheston Carter, Mrs. Arthur E. LaCroix, Mrs. George I. Hesslein and Mrs. William E. Connors. Stage decorations are by Mrs. William E. Bailey, Mrs. Victor H. Baer, and Mrs. Stanford D. Blitzer. The pourers are Mrs. Stanton J. Ten Broeck Jr., and Mrs. William E. Bailey.

Members and their guests will be greeted at the door by Miss Alice Smith, chairman of reception, and Mrs. Dexter C. Whittenhill and Mrs. Frank E. Lanchanton. Mrs. Benjamin T. Fawcett and Mrs. Charles J. Brooks will welcome the members as they enter the coffee room.

At 2:30 pm Mrs. Daniel J. Sheehan, chairman of the program committee, with Miss Ruth Burns will present "Dorothy and her Hats." Dorothy Dower proves with original models from unusual materials that "hats can be made of anything." Nothing to sell, nothing to buy, but a 45 minute program with fun for all. The rollicking script was written by Dorothy and her method of presenting this program will convince listeners that "Hats" can be fun as well as a compliment to milady's costume. Club members are urged to save this date to welcome back the new president and members.

Jackson Homestead Open House To Introduce Its New Director

The first open house of the season at the Jackson Homestead, 527 Washington street, Newton, on Sunday afternoon, October 16, will introduce Mrs. William H. Cannard as the new director and curator.

Born in Green Bay, Wis., where she served as curator of art at their Neville Public Museum for nine years, she became assistant and then director of the Attleboro Museum, Inc. in '51. Her wide experience and knowledge in this field promises many stimulating and interesting years ahead for Newton's historical museum. Everyone is cordially invited to meet her and bid her a warm welcome.

Of added interest will be the exhibit of "Laces of Yesterday," planned by Mrs. Orin E. Skinner. Several have been given recently to the "Friends" by Mrs. Elizabeth Case of Newton Lower Falls and by the estate of Mrs. Albert Hunt of Auburndale, and the rest is from the Homestead's own treasure chest.

There will be petticoats and bodice gowns as well as baby dresses on display in the bedroom. One mannequin will wear a lovely lace dress loaned by Mrs. Frederick S.

School

of "the thoughtfulness and sincerity" of their proposal both the Mayor and School Board had agreed to study it.

Berman discussed both the advantages and disadvantages of a single high school.

"There are certainly some important advantages in having a high school whose student body constitutes a cross-section of the community," Berman said.

"In Newton we have a more or less equal religious division among Catholics, Protestants, and Jews. Also we are people of many different ethnic backgrounds — English, Irish, Italian, Jewish and many others, including over 200 Negro families. There are, among us, both rich and poor — indeed, many more poor than is generally recognized. We have people living in what can only be called slums, as well as people living in every other type of housing," Berman continued.

"To bring children from all these backgrounds into one school building is to expose them to each other, and thus to give them all a better preparation in what it means to live in America," he said.

"On the other hand," stated Berman, "in a city of the geographical dimensions of Newton there are certain disadvantages in requiring all high-school students to go to one central place. I am particularly concerned that many poorer families might have to undertake the great expense of sending their children by bus. Today that costs the child $2 a week, or $76 a year — which is no small amount. Also I am concerned about the size of a single high school. All other things being equal, it seems to me that the larger the number of students at a school, the less strong is their feeling of belonging, the more apt many are to feel 'lost,'" Berman asserted.

"If these factors of diversity, distance, and size, were the only consideration," continued the School Committee Chairman, "I might be inclined to favor diversity at the expense of distance and size. But there is another consideration, which I think is decisive and that is the problem of expense.

"We are told that the cost of building a single high school for 4500 students would be something like $5 million more than the cost of building a new Newton High School on the present site. Of course, we would be able to subtract from that sum whatever we could realize by the sale of the two existing high schools."

"It is urged that the existing site of the Newton High School could be converted into residential units, and that Newton South could be sold to the Commonwealth for a state community college. But at present such ideas are only speculation. There is no prospect of realizing them in the near future, and even if there were, there is no assurance that if buyers existed they would pay anything like the $5 million needed to cover the extra cost.

"Moreover," said Berman, "even if the State were willing to buy Newton South for a state community college — at the price we would require — there would be serious opposition to the abandonment of a Junior College designed primarily to serve Newton and directed by the Newton School Administration.

"Let me add one final consideration. The Law does not give this Committee the ultimate power to decide the question of school construction. The Mayor and the Board of Aldermen cannot, it is true, act without our support, but nevertheless it is they who appropriate the money and unless the Mayor approves our recommendations nothing will be done.

"In other words, decisions such as this depend on the agreement of a rather large number of people. In view of that fact, it is my best judgment that the decisions reached jointly over the past year, and especially since the report of the Newton High School Building Site Committee last March, which was approved last April and May by the School Committee, the Board of Aldermen, and the Mayor, could not now be reviewed without imperiling the whole building program.

Newton Music School PTA Announces Concert Series

The Parents' Association of the All Newton Music School, Mrs. John Reichard, president, announces the opening of its second annual Chamber Music Concert Series with a performance by the Boston Symphony Chamber Players, Joseph Silverstein, violin; Burton Fine, viola, and Jules Eskin, cello, to be held on Sunday evening, November 6, at 8 p.m. in the concert hall of the All Newton Music School, 321 Chestnut St., West Newton. This is the first in the series of three concerts open to the public.

The String Trio of the Boston Symphony Chamber Players is composed of first chair members. It recently concluded a most successful transcontinental tour.

The All Newton Music School Concert Series was inaugurated as a result of the overwhelming response to the gala concert and reception for trustees and patrons in the Spring of 1964 at the opening of the School's new facilities.

The Chamber Music Committee, encouraged by the success of last season's concert series, will present two additional concerts in the Spring. Robert Koff, violin, Felix Viscuglia, clarinet, and Louise Vosgerchian, piano, will be featured on March 5 in the Mozart Clarinet Trio and the Bartok "Contrasts."

The final concert in this series will be performed on April 2 by the Anglian Chamber Soloists of London, which specializes in the performance of Renaissance and Baroque music. The group consists of a Tenor, Harpsichord, Viola da Gamba, lute and two violins.

Subscriptions for the Chamber Music Concerts are available from the chairman of the committee, Mrs. Robert Buxbaum, 202 Bellevue St., Newton, DE 2-6548.

DON'T GET CAUGHT WITHOUT WINTERIDE SNOW TIRES!

Uniroyal WINTERIDE SNOW TIRES

Let's face it. You should think about snow tires before it snows. Don't chance getting stuck. Have your snow tires mounted early. In fact, if you wait too long before coming to see us, you may not be able to get the size and style you want. Some of our better snow tires, such as Uniroyal's Winterides, are at a premium even now before the season really begins.

No wonder! A snow tire spends most of its life on snowless roads. And the Winteride is a snow tire tested to do 100 mph... when there is no snow. That's one of the reasons it's called The Dry Road Snow Tire and is in such great demand. Winteride's big, big tractor-type treads dig you out of deep snow quick, but also give you a smooth, quiet ride on dry roads where you travel most of the time.

Deadline Near For WW II Vets' Insured Loans

World War II veterans have less than one year left to take advantage of GI guaranteed or insured loans, according to the Veterans Administration office in Boston.

July 25, 1967, is the deadline for World War II veterans eligibility. Eligibility for World War II veterans is determined by a formula which adds 10 years to the date of their last discharge plus one year for each 90 days of service.

Thus eligibility for many has already expired, but the July 25, 1967 date is the cut-off for all other World War II veterans.

Veterans who were discharged for a service-connected disability and the widows of such veterans will be eligible up to the July 25, 1967 deadline.

Those eligible may obtain a guaranteed or insured loan to purchase a home, farm or to buy or start a business.

For veterans of the Korean Conflict the formula for determining GI loan eligibility is the same as for veterans of World War II. However, the Korean Conflict entitlement did not begin to expire until January 31, 1965 and the final deadline is January 31, 1975.

As in the case of World War II veterans, Korean Conflict veterans discharged for service-connected disabilities and their widows are eligible up to the final 1975 deadline. Eligibility for Post-Korean veterans under the new G.I. Bill does not begin to expire until 1976.

Richardson Says Bellotti Is Big Campaign Spender

Lieutenant Governor Elliot L. Richardson, campaigning energetically for election as the next attorney general, yesterday declared that his opponent has established himself "as one of the big campaign spenders."

"The record I have made as lieutenant governor, a U.S. attorney and as assistant secretary of Health, Education and Welfare are, in my opinion, basic issues in this campaign," Richardson declared.

"It is on those records and on the basis of my performances in offices of public trust that I am standing for election as attorney general of our Commonwealth."

"I believe I can be of real service to the people of Massachusetts in that office, and I feel strongly that it is not the place for a political opportunist."

"Those are the reasons which prompted me to stand for election as attorney general," Richardson concluded.

"That was over half a million dollars more than I expended on my campaign that same year."

"Despite the tremendous exposure he received from an expenditure of over three-quarters of a million dollars, he was defeated for election."

"I spent a total of $309,359 in the same campaign in which my present opponent spent $879,000," Richardson pointed out.

"It seems to me that the records speak for themselves and that any fair-minded person can form his own judgment from them," Richardson maintained.

"As a matter of fact, in my race for lieutenant governor two years ago, I was well within the guidelines set out in Senator Kennedy's proposal. Frank Bellotti, on the other hand, spent almost $400,000 more than the Senator has recommended for a gubernatorial candidate," Richardson stated.

Lieutenant Governor Richardson pointed out that he worked HARD for reforms in campaign expenditures and for the improvement and enforcement of the laws in this area before the present election contest started.

"Unfortunately, there was little interest or disposition to do anything in that direction," Richardson observed.

Richardson urged his opponent to stop his "misleading charges and attacks" and get down to the basic issues of the campaign.

"The issue in this campaign is which candidate would make a better attorney general for Massachusetts and its citizens," he continued.

"We have both served as lieutenant governor. I am endeavoring to present my record of accomplishments as lieutenant governor to assist the voters in reaching that judgment."

"I hope my opponent will present his record as lieutenant governor, including his record of loyalty to the governor of his party under whom he served, before the end of this campaign," Richardson stated.

Richardson added that he also served as United States attorney for Massachusetts and as assistant secretary of Health, Education and Welfare during the Eisenhower administration and as special assistant to Robert F. Kennedy when the latter was U. S. attorney general.

He cited his action in launching a drive against organized crime while he was attorney and his record of gaining convictions in over 90 per cent of the cases he initiated and completed while holding that office.

Texans Stuck On Strange Hobby -- It's Barbed Wire

By EDWARD DELONG
United Press International

FLOYDADA, Tex. (UPI)—Among the three most important items in settling the Old West, historically speaking, were repeating firearms, windmills and barbed wire.

Firearms have changed drastically since the days of the settlers, and the windmill has almost vanished under the onslaught of the electric pump. But the barbed wire remains.

Three Floyd County men—less interested in the usefulness of barbed wire than in its history—have set out to make a collection of the more than 300 types used in fencing up the open range.

For Mac Smitherman, Glen Black and Charles Overstreet, barbed wire has become a hobby with a challenge. The challenge, Black says, lies in the fact that much of the wire used in the early fences was homemade, fashioned in almost endless varieties.

Perhaps the most common wire today is "Gladius Winner," patented in 1874. It is formed from two round strands of wire, with long barbs intertwined every few inches.

But in days gone by, when stores were few and far between, ranchers and farmers used the material they had on hand to make their fences. One type that was never patented consisted merely of a single strand of wire with long, sharp staples clamped securely around it.

Another type was known as the half-hitch fence, because the barbs were individually tied to the main strand of wire with half-hitch knots.

Other types included the chain link, which proved ineffective because it tended to sag between posts; the rick-rack wire, formed a metal plate with its edges cut in a jagged pattern and twisted in spiral fashion around a round wire; and war wire, the same type used in World War I to slow enemy troops.

Included in Black's collection is a strand of Buffalo Wire, so heavy it cannot be bent by hand.

Smitherman said early types of barbed fences can be divided into two categories—vicious and obvious.

The vicious was designed with long, sharp barbs made to hurt any animals that tried to get through it. The obvious, on the other hand, was made to be seen and avoided by animals.

One variety of obvious consisted of two strands of twisted wire, with blocks of wood two or three inches square woven into it about a foot apart. Another kind—really a combination of obvious and vicious—had flat pieces of metal with sharp corners woven into it every few inches.

A major factor in getting the three men into their hobby was a book entitled "The Wire that Fenced the West," written by Henry D. and Francis McCallum. In their book the authors reported people looked startled when they said what they were doing resembled a search for, and often commented: "Of all things to write a book about... barbed wire."

That, say the three collectors, is the attitude of many they meet in their collecting. They say they don't mind, though, because it just adds to the fun and challenge of their hobby.

Men's Raincoats Don't Have To Be Dull Say The Experts

By WALTER LOGAN

United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—Raincoats don't have to be dull. There's a tan one on the market with a brown caracul shawl collar. Another in royal blue with a splashy silk lining. Sleek black silks with crimson silk linings. One in hopsacking in high fashion colors. And huge plaids.

The newest Fall color is "London Tan," which is about the same color as a pair of army surnants the day they are issued, and is shown in virtually every line. There are a few deep blues, some teal blues and a small increase in checks and plaids so muted you have to look twice.

There is an increase in trench coat models, both the military double-breasted type and the civilian single-breasted type. Coats usually run to knee length which doesn't do the trousers leg any good in a rain and the young man is wearing them even shorter but with a flaired skirt that is supposed to have an umbrella effect.

Botany 500 announced a new process for waterproofing fabrics which it reports is the first to meet government standards for the designation of wearing apparel as both waterproof and breathable. It is called Hydronair plus Zepel and a company executive wore it for 10 minutes in a shower stall without getting wet. New colors are charcoal-burgundy, blue - olive and bottle green.

Imports furnished some of the more striking designs, Costa de Majorca, which is Spanish, showed a long staple Egyptian cotton single-breasted coat with an astrakhan shawl collar in gray, natural or black with an alpaca and mohair plaid lining. There were horn buttons, antelope suede trim and designer Lorenzo de Barcelona's characteristic slanted, buttoned pockets. Also a shiny black silk with red lining and black antelope trim.

Cortefiel de Espagna, also Spanish, showed a royal blue corduroy trenchcoat which was very elegant with a spashy silk lining showing bull-fighter scenes.

Cristonette (Danish) showed two handsome trenchcoats in gabardine—a single-breasted with two big envelope pockets and one with saddle stitchings, a deep collar and bottom over flap and a yoked back. Both had zipout dark green silk liners. Valstar (Italian) showed a double Navy with no belt and a nonzip out red and black lining.

Alligator showed raincoats in deep shades of hopsacking the fabric so popular now in sports coats and suits, for a non-raincoat look. Also handsome was a diagonal twill garbardin which looks almost like whipcord and very fine silk-like gab.

Harbor Master showed a silky "Don cloth" described as so tightly woven it would keep out a monsoon but light enough to double as a self-lining. Colors included taupe, blue-coal, loden forest green and teal.

New among the imports was Burberry's double-breasted plaid shorly coat with the feel of a hacking coat, a guardsman look to the neckline and a hint of Carnaby Street in six-button styling. Aquascutum showed a blue silk bottom through style, raincoat with velvet collar and white satin lining and big plaids and checks from the West of England.

Some others: Gleneagle makes a scooter coat with leg straps to hold down your coatalls. London Fog introduced a plaid lining of wool and alpaca to replace bulkier pile. Martin of California showed a very short double-breasted trenchcoat which had everything but length—it was above the knees. Lakeland showed a belted coat with four bellows pockets—so short it could double for skiing. Rainfair showed a grey plaid with black alpaca collar.

WOMAN CARVES WOODEN CAREER

ALBANY, Calif. (UPI) — Into the basement studio of Catherine Webb's cottage are jammed thousands of pieces of wood, of all sizes and shapes.

A fine film of sawdust covers everything, including a sander, a table saw, a band saw, a lathe, a drum sander and a finisher.

In her cluttered workshop Mrs. Webb creates abstract wood sculptures.

"Wood responds," she said. "When you touch it, there is a communication that doesn't require words."

She calls her creations "touch sculpture," indicating they are to be held and felt as well as viewed.

A favorite creation, for example, is the "feelin'," a smooth piece of wood shaped for the palm of the hand that is meant to be held while one thinks.

But Mrs. Webb has another talent. She carves things that sell.

"For the past five or six years, I've made thousands of chignon clasps — they're my bread and butter item."

It is this talent that she hopes to transmit to poor, unskilled Negroes in Mississippi when she goes there in the next few weeks under the

PYGMIES TEACH JUNGLE SURVIVAL TO YANK FLIERS

By A. M. KRISTEN

United Press International
CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (UPI) — Members of an aboriginal pygmy tribe in the Philippines are playing a vital role in this sprawling American air base north of Manila.

Two of the aborigines, called Negritos, are instructors in the Clark jungle survival school while some of them are security guards around the base.

The kinky-haired Negritos, who stand no taller than five feet, are considered among the world's greatest game stalkers and can often move unnoticed within two feet of their prey.

Contrary to popular local opinion, they are not particularly good shots with their blow guns, but they are masters in the art of jungle survival.

Visitors can purchase bows, blow-guns and knives from the Negritos living on base, but these weapons are made for them by enterprising Filipinos.

The Negritos not only work but live inside this base.

Their "king," Alfonso, is an honorary Brigadier General in the U.S. Air Force.

About 200 Negritos live on the Clark Base, according to an Air Force spokesman. They receive scavenger privileges in the base hospital. But they can not purchase in the post exchange or commissary.

In recognition of their services, base authorities are building a new Negro village within the base complete with roads and sewer system. Americans have also built a school and chapel for the aborigines through voluntary contributions.

No record of written language or oral tradition can be found among the Negritos since they are basically a nomadic people. They have no graphic arts, although they do have a distinctive music which makes use of a drum similar to the American Indian's tom-tom and a small banjo-type uke. In concert with these instruments, they make shouting and groaning sounds.

Asian experts here at Clark believe several tribes are scattered throughout the Philippines, Burma, Indonesia, Andaman Islands, Burma, India and Africa.

Some of the poisons they use for their weapons also can be found among primitive tribes in the Amazon jungle in South America.

The Negritos settled at Clark have been converted to Christianity, attending Catholic and Protestant religious services. But most of them

The corporation was formed a year ago to provide technical and financial assistance to poor persons in the southern state, and to help develop worker-owned and operated cooperatives.

The Negritos believe thunder and lightning are manifestations of their God Pun-haldalyon and his wife Ifatayon.

They consider meteorites and other strange minerals as droppings of their gods and they keep these materials as amulets.

The Negritos were recruited for work at the base in recognition of services they rendered the American liberation forces led by Gen. Douglas MacArthur towards the close of World War II.

Though small in stature, they have been "big" friends with the Americans ever since.

Ear gear that jingles and jangles keeps making the fashion scene in a big way. Trifari has designed mobile earrings that move and swing with the wearer. Some are enamelled in combinations of three vibrant colors, others are in pseudo gold or platinum-toned. All are geometrically shaped and swing from long chains. For evening, long earrings made of mirrored bits and pieces flash reflections when they move.

In ancient Rome, before the Empire engaged in battles leading to its downfall, youths began to wear military-styled togas, called "Laticlavans." And there are dozens of other examples of how military styling in the clothes worn by young men eventually found favor among older males — foreshadowing the outbreak of a major conflict, says Ron Postal, director of the National Council of Men's Fashion. With the current trend toward military styling in togs for males, Postal wonders if it adds up to alarming evidence we are heading toward a major war.

Cables are fanning out in four directions from the center of a husky wool turtle-neck import from Italy, and oversize cables running down the sleeves of a beige wool V-neck pullover with a zippered bib inset, reports "Gentlemen's Quarterly."

Fire Prevention Is Story Of Concern For Everybody

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Fire prevention. It's an old, familiar story, told over and over again.

But, it's a story of concern to every homeowner, to every apartment dweller. Read it. Heed it. It just might save your home, your family, your life.

Last year, fires took 12,000 lives and caused property losses totaling over $1.4 billion. More than 1,000 home fires blazed each day. More than half the total fatalities—6,500 lives — were lost in home fires and more than one-third of those who died were children.

Tragically, three out of four fires resulted from carelessness. They need not have happened. Firemen can put out fires—if they are called in time. Only you can prevent them.

The biggest hurdle to achieving a fire-safe home is attitude — realizing that all the talk about fire prevention applies to you and your family, not just to the fellow down the street. Once alert to the hazards of fire, it's a matter of good planning, good housekeeping and safe habits.

The American Insurance Association, which makes available for the asking a wealth of fire prevention and safety material, prefaces its advice with rules on what to do if a fire should break out in the home:

—Get everybody out of the house. Keep them out. Never allow anyone to re-enter a burning building. Belongings always can be replaced. A life cannot.

—Summon the fire department. Don't wait, thinking you can put out a fire yourself. All fires are little ones when they begin, and the first five minutes the crucial period. Fire fighting is a job for professionals.

The Association urges every family to work out an escape plan in case of fire. Look the house over and figure out two alternate escape routes so that if one is blocked by flames, the other may be used.

If there are small children in the family, older children should be trained in supervising the escape plan. Rehearse the plan regularly. Everyone in the house should be able to get outside from any room in less than a minute.

If you smell smoke, do not rush out in to a hallway. First place the palm of your hand against the door. If the door feels cool, open it slightly. Pass your hand across the opening. If the air is cool, it should be safe to enter the hallway.

Close doors behind you as you leave the house to help slow the spread of fire.

If a door feels hot, that hallway is filled already with deadly heated gases. Keep it closed. Use another escape route, or wait at a window for rescue. Arouse people by shouting.

If you leave in an area where you and your neighbors may have to fight your own fires until the fire apparatus arrives, keep the following supplies on hand:

—Fire extinguishers. Get those bearing the Underwriters' Laboratories label. Keep them handy. Inspect them every year and, if necessary, refill according to the manufacturer's instructions.

—Water. If you don't have a deep well or pond, consider providing one or the other. Be sure your water supply is accessible by road.

—Ladders. Keep one or two ready for use on roof fires or in making rescues from upstairs are cut off from use.

—Garden hose and buckets. Buckets should be kept filled with water and the garden hose ready to be hooked up.

—Hand-operated pump tank.

Some general rules to remember:

—Keep matches out of the reach of children.

—If there are smokers in the house, have ash trays in every room. They should be big, and made of glass or metal. Matches and smoking are responsible for every fifth fire in the United States.

—Don't let old newspapers or trash accumulate in cellar or attic. It's combustibles like these upon which fires feed.

—Be sure all electrical appliances are in working order. Any that are not functioning properly should be repaired by a qualified serviceman. Records show that every fifth fire—about as many as those caused by matches and smoking—is caused by misuse of electricity or faulty electrical equipment.

—When you are looking for things in the dark — always use a flashlight; never matches or candles.

Pakistan Rivers Kill Thousands In Wild Rampage

By M. R. AKHTAR
United Press International

DACCA, East Pakistan (UPI) — The several thousand rivers of East Pakistan are in their annual love-hate relationship with the 60 million Bengalis again.

For most of the year, the rivers are a blessing for East Pakistan's economy. The finger-like rivers are the main transportation system by which farmers bring their jute, rice and tea to Dacca and Chittagong for export throughout the world.

The rivers criss-cross the rich delta land like a spider web and nourish crops with snow-melted Himalayan mountain water. Housewives meet at river banks to wash clothes and gossip. Families use the rivers to bathe or escape the 115-degree summer heat.

Rabindranath Tagore, a giant in Bengali literature, idolized the rivers in romantic epic poems. Religious peasants regard all the rivers as gods.

But every summer, without fail, the river deities lose their tempers and punish the Bengalis with merciless wrath. Just when the Bengalis are experiencing their annual typhoon season, the rivers also burst their banks in flash floods that send 10-foot walls of water sweeping away unsuspecting villages without warning.

The annual rampage comes when the relentless monsoons dump rains averaging 150 inches annually on the emerald plains.

Those who are able, grab their worldly possessions and take to rafts for survival. Others rush to the roofs of tall buildings hoping for safety. Some make their homes in treetops, there to ponder their futures, so closely linked to the savage waters.

Last June the normally docile Mata Muhuri, flowing from the hills on the Burma-East Pakistan border for 100 twisting miles, suddenly washed away everything which defied its floodwaters.

After washing out the main highway connecting Chittagong with Cox's bazar, thus stranding about 30 million persons, the river, known as the "sorrow of Chittagong," changed its course without warning and destroyed dozens of villages thought to be safe.

Every year thousands of persons die in the floods. But the Bengalis take their fate philosophically. After all, the rivers are gods and goddesses with human qualities. The floodwaters bring death, but they also leave a thick layer of rich silt that guarantees good crops.

The religious-minded in this Moslem nation believe the floods are punishment for past sins. Others believe it is suffering brought on by lack of government efforts to build dams and use the waters for much needed power.

When the floods recede everyone comes down from his rooftop or tree hut and life returns to normal.

The rivers again are a blessing.

Only one thing is certain. The floods will come again, and again, and again.

UN Planning New War—Against Vampire Bats
By ZANDER HOLLANDER
United Press International

ROME (UPI) — The United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) is plotting a war — against vampire bats in Latin America.

The vampire bats spread paralytic rabies which, in addition to killing human beings, has become a serious obstacle to the growth of the Latin American livestock industry.

That is where the FAO, concerned with expanding world food supplies, comes in. That U.N. agency estimates that rabies-infected bats kill 50,000 cattle and 10,000 horses annually in Mexico alone.

In recent years the blood-sucking bats, feeding on a growing cattle ranching industry, have swept paralytic rabies through Venezuela, Bolivia, parts of Brazil, northern Argentina, Uruguay and Paraguay. On one large Paraguayan ranch, the FAO says, cattle casualties from the bats run as high as 30 a night.

Now the FAO is planning a pilot program in Central America for large-scale regional projects to either wipe out the disease or drastically reduce the bat menace that spreads it.

The FAO hopes to carry out the pilot program — recommended by a four-man expert mission to Central America — as a United Nations development program project.

25-Foot Totem Pole Is Carved By 2 Palefaces

By STANLEY R. STRICK
SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) —

Lots of guys have hobbies. And not a few have been known to whittle a stick. But two Seattle men have become champion wood chiselers by carving their city a 25-foot totem pole.

Bob Fleischman and Mike Morgan, two engineers for the Boeing Co., offered their talents to the Seattle Park Department last Spring. The department was looking for a carver to build a replica of the totem pole which had looked out over Puget Sound for more than 30 years.

That pole had been carved by the Bella Bella Indians of the Queen Charlotte Islands in British Columbia, but years of beating by corrosive salt water winds and wood decay destroyed the artifact.

Before carving the totem pole, the biggest thing Fleischman had done was a three-foot high tiki which stands in his backyard. Morgan said he had never worked on anything large, just gunstocks and the like.

The pair used a chain saw, axes and chisels for the job. Asked what their system of carving was, Fleischman said they let the chips determine the pattern.

"To much here, we took off more there, and so on," he said, laughing.

Morgan kidded that he and Fleischman got the job because they had the lowest bid — free. A professional wood sculptor had offered to do the job for $1,500.

Morgan, a father of four, and Fleischman, a father of five, worked two evenings a week for more than two months on the pole which started as a cedar log cut from a city park.

Fleischman insisted he didn't have an idea in mind as to what he was creating all during the tedious chipping and scraping process. Morgan's wife did the design work.

But after the recesses and protrusions of the heads of beavers, frogs and fish began to take depth with a coat of paint, he said "I thought it turned out pretty well."

City Employees Offered Plan For Payroll Savings

During the weeks of Oct. 15 through Oct. 29, all Newton municipal employees will be offered the opportunity to begin a payroll savings plan through the Silver Anniversary U. S. Savings Bond Drive.

To encourage city employees to take advantage of this opportunity to both save and participate in the Nation's defense and development, Newton Mayor Monte G. Basbas has released the text of his letter which will be sent to each City employee:

"To All City of Newton Employees and Their Families: "Two trends of events are affecting the United States today—the hostilities in Vietnam and the threat of inflation. Both of these factors can seriously influence the everyday course of our lives. We are all aware of the fact that conducting a vast military action in Vietnam is an added economic burden. The men who are doing the fighting in Vietnam must have everything they need to do the job. We can do no less than back them up 100 percent. Nothing we can do at home can equal the sacrifice they are making daily in the field.

"The new pressures on our resources as a result of the stepped-up fighting in Vietnam make it more essential than ever that we vigilantly guard our economy against increased inflation. We must keep our dollars stable. Inflation can only add to the burdens of achieving our goals in Vietnam and of redirecting our efforts to peace-time purposes.

"One very important way to meet both these problems is through the purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds. I have, therefore, pledged the City of Newton's support to the U. S. Treasury Department's Silver Anniversary Savings Bond Drive. There will be a two-week campaign from Oct. 15 through Oct. 29 to enlist as many Newton employees as possible in the Payroll Savings Plan.

"In both peace and war during the past 24 years, savings bonds have been a bulwark of our nation's economic strength. In 1966, however, the hostilities in Vietnam and the threat of uncontrollable inflation make this year's bond drive more important than ever.

"By investing in U. S. Savings Bonds, you can make personal contribution to the strength of the nation and thereby to the security of the freeworld. You will be doing much more than helping your country, because through your purchases you will help yourself to gain financial security for today and tomorrow.

"Each City of Newton employee will be personally contacted by a fellow employee, who will explain in detail the benefits of the Payroll Savings Plan. I urge every employee to enroll in the Plan to the full extent of his or her ability."

N.E. Clergy Will Attend Fall Lectures Held Here

"The Church in the World" is the theme of the Fall lectures to be given at Andover Newton Theological School on Wednesday, October 19, starting at 10 a.m. in Noyes Hall. Clergymen from throughout New England have been invited to attend.

Dr. Franklin H. Littell, church historian and president of Iowa Wesleyan College, will deliver the first address at 10 a.m. entitled, "The Growing Church Struggle in America." The second lecture will be given by Dr. Colin W. Williams, world leader in evangelism and an executive of the National Council of Churches, who will speak on "Witness in a Secular Age."

Following noon luncheon at the seminary, the program will continue at 2 p.m. Dr. Gerald R. Cragg, professor of church history at Andover Newton, and the Rev. Ernst E. Klein, pastor of Old Cambridge Baptist Church, Cambridge, will react to the lectures given during the morning.

President Littell and Dr. Williams will respond and open discussion on the issues involved will follow.

A native of Australia, Dr. Williams holds bachelor of divinity and doctor of philosophy degrees from Drew Theology Seminary, Madison, N. J. He worked in the Australian "Mission to the Nation" program and then served as professor of theology at Queens College in Melbourne, Australia, before becoming director of the department of evangelism of the National Council of Churches.

As chairman of studies in evangelism for the World Council of Churches, Dr. Williams has written three study books on the missionary structure of the congregation. Harpers will publish his latest book, "Faith in a Secular Age," this month.

Dr. Littell received his bachelor of arts degree from Cornell University, his bachelor of divinity degree from Union Theology Seminary, his doctor of philosophy degree from Yale University and his doctorate in theology from the University of Marburg in Germany.

After serving as director of religious affairs at the University of Michigan, Dr. Littell was on the religious affairs staff of the U. S. High Command in Germany and then became dean of the chapel at Boston University. He was honored by the Federal Republic of Germany for the leadership he gave to the Kirchentag movement from 1953-1958.

More recently, Dr. Littell has been professor of church history at Emory University, Southern Methodist University and Chicago Theological Seminary. He became president of Iowa Wesleyan College earlier this year.

The yearly meeting of the Andover Newton Alumni Association will be held in conjunction with the lecture program at 5:30 p.m. Dean George W. Peck will be the featured speaker.

Local Temple Fetes Guest From Portugal

Moses Ayash, Lisbon, Portugal, was a guest of Temple Shalom, of Newton, during the celebration of the Festival of Tabernacles.

Ayash, treasurer of the 700-member Jewish community of Lisbon, visited the succah with the children of Temple Shalom. As each class entered the succah to celebrate the holiday, Bernard Shulman, director of the Hebrew department, introduced Ayash to them.

Rabbi Murray I. Rothman, spiritual leader of Temple Shalom, recited the blessings and explained the significance of the lulav, the palm branch, and the ethrog, the citron, symbols of the Biblical festival. Mrs. Edward Acelrod, a teacher, led the group in the singing of special songs for the occasion.

In response to Ayash's visit, the children of Temple Shalom are planning to send Jewish books to the children of Lisbon and will initiate a pen-pal program with them.

Mrs. Sam Stone, festival chairman, and members of the Parent-Teachers Assoc., served refreshments to the parents and children.

U.S. Troops In Vietnam To Get Yule Stockings

The United States Government has requested the American National Red Cross to provide Christmas "Stockings" for every serviceman in Vietnam.

This is to be a nationwide project for all American Red Cross Chapters to participate in, so that the 360,000 men in that area will receive gifts at Christmas time.

As its share, Newton Chapter American Red Cross has provided 500 of these "Stockings" which are in reality, ditty bags. Among the items packed are paper back books, covered soap dishes, nail clippers, playing cards, note books and pens.

Distribution of these bags will be undertaken by American Red Cross personnel in Vietnam, to assure that servicemen get them at Christmas. Therefore they had to be in the mail by October 15th.

This extensive program coincides with the proclamation of Mayor Monte Basbas, wherein he named this week of Oct. 9th as "Newton Servicemen's Send Off Week."

Petition For 'Copter Trips To This City

A proposal for helicopter service between Newton and Logan International Airport was not opposed Monday night at a meeting of the Claims and Rules Committee of the Board of Aldermen.

Air General of Boston, a helicopter service, petitioned the committee for the first permissive use of Newton's recent ordinance allowing helicopter take-offs and landings.

The petition was filed jointly by the Northeast Motel Operations, Inc., and Air General for service between The Holiday Inn at 399 Grove st. and Logan Airport.

Combining visual aids and astute answers, the petitioners pointed out that 16 other communities are using helicopter service with success and that the safety standards are the highest to be found anywhere.

The helicopters, with a maximum of 10 flights a day between 6:30 a.m. and 10 p.m., would approach the Inn parallel to Rte. 128.

The petitioners said the closest residence would be 400 feet and the aircraft would cause less noise than trains at 300 ft. or the present traffic on Rte. 128.

A 100-foot-square landing area will be provided by the Inn, the petitioners said, with adequate lighting and weather recording equipment.

The fare, if the service is instituted, will be $21 round trip to Logan from the Inn. One-way fare will be $12.

Open Forum On Inter-Dating

The question of inter-dating for children will be discussed Monday evening, Oct. 17, at 8 o'clock, at the Newton High Lands Women's Club on the occasion of a meeting of Dr. Joshua Liebman chapter, B'nai B'rith.

Members of the chapter, lodge and their AZA and BBG groups will attend the open forum.

Addie Levy, chairman of B'nai B'rith Adult Education in this area, will be special guest moderator. Refreshments will be served and Mrs. Ruth Schuman, chapter president, invites the public to attend.

Mrs. Elizabeth Guio of Newton Corner, a former teacher in Greenfield High School, has been named to the teaching staff of the New England Baptist Hospital School of Nursing.

Tigers First Setback . . . Mistakes Helped Set Up 20-6 Newton Loss

The Newton High School football squad met Bryan Marini and his friends from Weymouth at Dickinson Stadium last Saturday and, you should excuse the expression, came off second best.

We'll do better against Watertown next Saturday at the Stadium, Coach Jim Ronayne said. He summed the 20-6 defeat in one word: mistakes.

"It's that simple," Ronayne said. "We made the costly mistakes and Weymouth capitalized. Take away that fumble and the pass interception and you have a brand new game."

It was the Tigers first defeat of the young grid season and they are far from discouraged. "Sure we lost," Ronayne said, "but we proved we have a good football team. We hit as hard as Weymouth and stayed right with them until injuries took their toll."

In the second and third periods Newton came very close to scoring but bombs by Rich Dezottell to Steve Pleuler and George Gershman were too hot to handle.

"How can you explain it," Coach Ronayne said. "On another day, both boys may have had no trouble at all holding onto those passes. It was just one of those days where there were a lot of breaks, but none in our direction."

The Tigers, mauled, sadder and wiser hope to regain their stripes against Watertown starting promptly at 1:30 pm next Saturday.

Marini, quarterback for Weymouth, scored his team's three touchdowns, performing behind a hard-hitting line. A line, incidentally, that held Newton to only nine (9) yards rushing all day.

Newton hit the scoreboard the first time it got its hands on the ball. After that the attack sputtered and stalled. The Tigers' score came after taking a Weymouth punt. Newton gained a first down on the Weymouth 43, brought to the stripe mainly on the ball-carrying talents of backs, Steve Colantuono and Bob Cohen. Then, on the fifth play from scrimmage, Rich Dezottell hooked up with Steve for a 43-yard scoring pass.

The game was only two minutes old and the Tigers figured they were off and running. They were off and they were running but the breaks went awry.

For the remainder of the game the Weymouth offensive and defensive team dominated the field. The first Maroon touchdown was set up by defensive back Tom Ward who intercepted a Newton pass at mid-field and brought it back to the Newton one-yard line. QB Marini, missing a hand-off to fullback Frank Costa, proceeded wide to the right himself for the score. A kick-conversion made the score Weymouth 7, Newton 6.

Weymouth then capitalized on Newton's mistakes for further scoring. Ross Glynn recovered a Newton fumble on his own 35 yard line and Marini quickly went to the air and a pass interference call against the Tigers gave Weymouth a first down on the Newton 31. Weymouth then moved to the one yard stripe where Marini cracked over for his second score.

A poor 21-yard punt that carried only to Newton's 47 set the stage for Weymouth's final tally. Marini skirted right end for 21 yards to the 26. Ward bulled off left tackle five yards to the 21 and a Marini to Frank Costa pass was good to the 11. Running out of his left half position, Ward carried twice more to the one-yard line. Marini took it into pay dirt from there for his third TD of the game.

Amesbury Next In Line . . . After Slow Start, Lions Of South High Win 18-14

After taking the entire first half to come alive, Newton South high school engineered a thrilling 18 to 14 grid victory over Stoughton at their field last Saturday, and the name of the game was Steve Cooper.

Buoyed by the win, the Lions go snarling after Amesbury this Saturday on another road game. Cooper returned to the starting lineup last week after being sidelined with a pulled hamstring muscle. He shared the victory spotlight with the Rezzuti brothers, Capt. Frank and sophomore Tom. Frank scored two touchdowns, including the one that proved to be the winner, while Tom intercepted two passes, one of which resulted in a touchdown for the good-guys-in-the-white-hats—Newton South natch.

Coach George Winkler was high in his praise for Cooper but he was equally thrilled by the performances of Frank Rezzuti and brother Tom. "Frank ran a great game," he said of his left halfback, "but his younger brother, Tom, is some boy—and he's only a sophomore!"

One commentator said it was "an inches game," to wit: Trailing 12-14 in the third frame and with the ball on his own 36 yard marker, Frank Rezzuti skirted the tight end for what appeared to be a 64-yard run. However, the officials ruled he stepped outside the sideline chalk stripe at the 50.

Another instance: In the fourth stanza on a Stoughton fourth-and-inches situation, the Black Knights gambled and lost, losing possession to the Lions.

Aided by a 15-yard penalty against Stoughton, Newton moved to the 25. QB Gordon Megrian hit Cooper on the 15 and he scooted to the four. Two plays later, Frank Rezzuti went off left tackle for the winning score.

The Black Knights almost pulled out the game in the final, desperate moments of the contest. Stoughton quarterback Bill Powell tossed a 43-yard aerial to Johnson to put the ball on the Newton 26 with but 30 seconds left to play.

Frank Rezzuti batted down a pass intended for Dave Ostroff and then came the Coop's game saving effort. He leaped high in the end zone to snare a pass Johnson was set to catch.

JOHNSON OPENS ASIA PEACE CAMPAIGN

PRESIDENT JOHNSON set his sight on the upcoming Pacific-Asian summit conference Thursday with a challenge to North Viet Nam to join in "a different kind of war" — a fight for human dignity, health, and enlightenment.

In Wellington, New Zealand, he pledged that the United States would enlist for the duration in any cooperative battle with the Hanoi regime and "your brothers in Southeast Asia" against poverty, disease, and ignorance.

"What can be gained by continuing a war you cannot win?" he asked. It was the first major address of his six-nation tour.

KY AVERTS VIET CABINET REVOLT

A VIET NAM government crisis was averted Wednesday when Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and seven dissident cabinet members agreed on a truce until after the Manila conference next week, a high Vietnamese official reported.

The seven ministers, all southerners, had handed their resignations to Ky earlier, climaxing a long-smouldering resentment against northerners who have largely taken over power.

FIGHTING SUBSIDES IN VIET NAM

U.S. INFANTRY moved unchallenged Wednesday up and down a vital highway near the Cambodian border where the Viet Cong once virtually directed traffic. Monsoon rains stalled fighting in all sectors but in the south, in the Mekong Delta, a South Vietnamese infantry regiment of about 1,200 men suffered "moderate casualties in heavy combat with two Viet Cong battalions totalling 800 to 1,200 troops."

RED LEADERS TO VIEW SOVIET SPACE SHOT

COMMUNIST leaders of nine nations at the Russian summit conference Wednesday flew across Siberia to watch the launching of Russia's latest Sputnik, informed sources said.

The delegates, from the seven Warsaw Pact countries plus Cuba and Mongolia, were reportedly being taken to Zvezdograd, city of the stars, where the Russians have built their equivalent of Cape Kennedy in the scorching central Asian desert.

Sometime today they will watch the launching of the Sputnik and of several missiles, including ICBMS, the sources said.

NEW ISRAEL-SYRIA CLASH KILLS 4

ONE ISRAELI soldier and three Arab infiltrators were killed Wednesday in a gun battle near the northern border with Lebanon, military officials announced in Jerusalem. A fourth Arab terrorist was seriously wounded and captured.

The clash came as UN observers fanned out along Israel's 45-mile frontier with Syria to investigate Syrian and Soviet charges Israel is massing troops for an attack against the Arab state.

NASA NAMES 1ST APOLLO ASTRONAUTS

THE U.S. SPACE Agency announced that a final decision has been made to launch astronauts Virgil Grissom, Edward White and Roger Chaffee in the Apollo spaceship now being readied for flight.

A launch date for America's first three-man Apollo orbital mission has not been determined, but unofficial sources say the first week in December is the target date for the blastoff of "Apollo 1."

The astronauts will remain in orbit for up to 14 days to give the nation's moonship its longest and toughest space test to date.

5 TEACHERS BEATEN IN RACE CLASH

NEGRO YOUTHS Wednesday beat up five teachers and attacked a number of white students in an Oakland, Calif. high school.

School authorities closed Castlemont High School after two hours of disturbances. Vandals broke windows, threw bottles and overturned tables.

Gangs of young Negroes roamed through other sections of the city, closely watched by police. Some were students observing the start of a three-day school boycott called to protest alleged discrimination.

PERCY SLAYING 'CONFESSION' DOUBTED

A HUSKY, blond youth, picked up in Chicago as a traffic offender and parole violator, suddenly screamed "I killed Percy's daughter!" as he was held in a suburban police lockup for a court appearance.

The shouted "confession" to the murder of Valerie Percy, 21-year-old daughter of Republican senatorial candidate Charles H. Percy, sent squads of special investigators scurrying to the sheriff's office in suburban Oak Lawn where the youth blurted the words and then became so violent it took five officers to hold him down.

Police investigators were dubious about the surprise confession.

S.S. BENEFITS LEAD AGENDA IN '67

THE HOUSE Ways & Means Committee decided Wednesday to make a proposed 10 per cent increase in Social Security benefits its "first order of business" in January, when the 90th Congress convenes.

The Senate approved and sent to the House a two-year, $6.1 billion elementary and secondary school aid bill and legislation for treatment of narcotics addicts. It also gave final Congressional approval to a compromise "truth-in-packaging" bill.

House-Senate negotiators cleared a $2 billion money bill for the State, Justice and Commerce Depts. that was expected to sail through Congress Thursday.

HUB SCHOOL RACIAL SWITCH 'INCREDIBLE'

STATE EDUCATION Commr. Owen B. Kiernan Wednesday called the reclassification by the Boston School Committee of 671 Chinese pupils as white "incredible."

The committee reported to the state board of education that two schools of predominantly Chinese enrollment are "white." Previously they had been listed as "non-white."

The charge, made by unanimous vote, enabled the board to list the same number of racially imbalanced schools this year as it did last year, 46 of 191.

The statistics are required by the state racial imbalance law, which requires local school authorities to take steps against racial imbalance. At stake is $16 million in state school aid funds which has been withheld because the Committee has not complied with the law, according to the state board.

BROOKE PLEDGES ACTION IN ARCHITECTS ROW

ATTY. GEN. Edward W. Brooke said Wednesday his office will "proceed with the usual haste" in deciding whether to investigate charges of conflict of interest in the administration of Gov. John A. Volpe.

The charges were included in a report issued by Democratic members of a senate investigating committee who said Gov. Volpe's brother, Peter, appeared to violate the conflict law when he acted as an unpaid consultant in the selection of architects for 47 state jobs.

Brooke said he will review and study the committee's report and decide whether to hold an investigation. He added, "To my knowledge Peter Volpe is not a state employee."

"HALFWAY-HOUSE" MEDICAL PLAN FOR HUB

AN AGREEMENT signed between the B.U. medical school and Medcenters Inc. will bring to Boston by next summer a new plan for economical minimal treatment of the ill. Called a "halfway house" for medical facilities, the program is designed to bridge the gap between intensive full-time medical care and the return to normal active life.

$30-Million City Improvement Project Is Given To Aldermen

A six-year $30,714,119 capital improvement program for the City of Newton was submitted to the Board of Aldermen this week by Mayor Monte G. Basbas. The program, if carried to completion, will reflect a $17.50 hike in the tax rate by 1971, according to the City Planning Department.

The far-reaching program was developed by the Planning Department under the guidance of Director James A. Miller who submitted it to Mayor Basbas on Sept. 30.

The recommended project schedule contemplates an ultimate expenditure of over $20 million for schools, including $11,375,000 for Newton and Newton South high schools. Some $2,600,000 is earmarked for construction of the Bigelow junior high school this year and $3,100,000 for the F. A. Day junior high school the next two years.

Other large expenditures proposed include development of the Cold Spring recreational area — a golf course and a skating rink — and a new main library, scheduled for construction in 1968.

The Planning Department report, which accompanied the program, envisioned a tax rate increase to $89.70 per thousand by 1971, based on real estate and personal tax valuations and on a projected population increase of 93,735 persons by 1970.

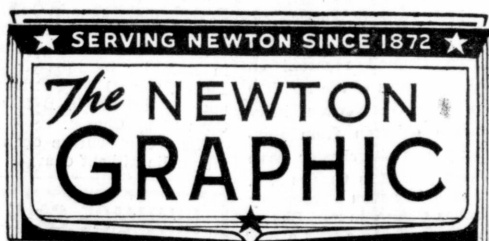

The report pointed out "it is apparent the bulk (88%) of the requested projects occur in the first four-year period and approximately two-thirds of the total is requested in the first three-year period."

"A review of past capital expenditure programs indicates that the requested plan (See Page 21)

As a public service the Newton Graphic is cooperating with the Newton League of Women Voters in publishing answers made by candidates for the State Senate and the House of Representatives to questions submitted to them by the League.

In the questionnaire, House and Senate candidates were asked by the League to give their name, age, address, party affiliation, present occupation and education. Also, they were requested to answer the following questions:

1. "If elected, what action would you take in the areas of: (a) Tax program. (b) Civil Service. (c) Public education, including the state's responsibility for higher education. (d) Housing, particularly low-income housing?"

2. "As a legislator, on what specific issue affecting your district would you concentrate your efforts?"

The candidates were limited to 100-word replies to the first four-part question and 50-word answers to the second question.

The one thing upon which the majority of candidates agreed was the need for some sort of revision or reform in Civil Service. They appeared in agreement on the need of change in Civil Service rules and regulations to attract and keep "competent personnel."

In regard to taxes, five favored the present sales tax while others were either against it, favored its revision, or suggested some other program.

None, naturally, was opposed to education. All thought educational opportunities and facilities should be increased.

Greater federal and state aid for low-income housing was also favored by the majority of the candidates.

On the question of specific issues affecting their own districts, the candidates showed concern for air and water pollution as well as traffic and transportation problems.

To help Newton voters become more familiar with candidates seeking their support, the League of Women Voters is planning a "Candidates' Night" at Newton South high school at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 2.

Optional Area For Students Proposed

A proposal for an optional school district between Newton and Newton South High Schools in which children might choose which High School to attend, is being given serious consideration, Dr. Charles Brown stated before a large meeting of the PTA Council, last Thursday, at the Division of Instruction, Bernard I. Kaplan, presiding.

Dr. Brown discussed fully the reasons for the School Board's decision to adopt the Site Committee's Report in favor of the two High Schools with expansion and improvements for both.

The proposal of Herbert Regal, Henry Myerson and Dan Ahern for a single High School was considered in depth and finally rejected.

From an educational standpoint Dr. Brown felt there were no clear advantages for a single High School. The same breadth of opportunity would be offered in both schools.

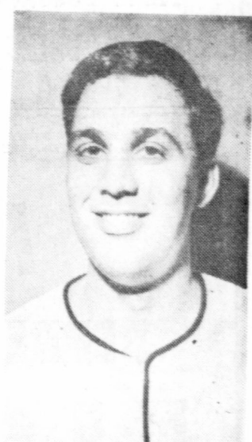

In fact more individual attention could be paid to students in two smaller schools than in one huge one.

A full range of extra-curricular activities would be offered in both schools thus involving more students. The operational costs of two high schools would be only slightly greater than one, and any savings here would be offset by increased bus-ing costs.

From a sociological standpoint, Dr. Brown felt that there was a healthy balance of all kinds of youngsters in both schools. Ideally the schools would not be designed for fixed numbers of students, but around a variety of flexible programs.

By 1975 or '80 Dr. Brown hoped to see a fluid situation where children could attend either or both high schools based on their total academic program. As a step in this direction the Technical High

Taxpayer's Association Asks Sales Tax Support

Bertram A. Druker, president of the Newton Taxpayers' Association, urged Association members to help retain the sales tax in the Association's bulletin to its members this month.

"Repeal of the sales tax will mean even higher property taxes, higher income taxes or both — faster," Druker said in part.

"Most of us feel we are already paying enough for the big items like property, income, rents, mortgages and the ever-increasing payroll with holdings. So we prefer that any necessary new tax money be taken in small amounts, spread over as many people as fairly as possible, including students and tourists," he continued.

"But we must act to prove it. The attention of the members is directed to the Newton Yes-Five Drive, headed by Kevin F. Hughes, 1631 Beacon Street, Waban, which is engaged in actively promoting retention of the sales tax," he said.

"Just taking it chronologically, unless a special session of the legislature were held, the first effect of repealing the sales tax would be felt thirty days after the election. At that time about $150 million in annual sales tax revenue would start to fall back on to real estate owners and rentpayers. The increased tax revenue from cigarettes and liquor and hotel-motel occupancies would stop. The school and distribution formulae for local aid to cities and towns would die," Druker warned.

"Next, the sales tax revenue from the two weeks of heavy shopping before Christmas would be lost. Moreover many people would delay buying until after December 8, thus making the Christmas scramble even more chaotic for the merchants," he noted.

"Then comes 1967. Start with the increased federal withholdings already in the works plus a new state legislature inhibited from using a sales tax and take it from there.

"It is no wonder that both candidates for governor recognize the need of keeping the sales tax now, if only for practical reasons. As for the general taxpayer, it is obvious that everybody's big ticket taxes will go still higher faster unless we act to keep the sales tax," Druker concluded.

United Nations Singers At Jr. College Oct. 26

Good Response To City GOP Fund Appeal

A special Committee of prominent Newtonites has been created to raise funds for the local GOP, according to an announcement made today by William A. Lincoln, Newton Republican City Committee chairman.

Listed as appointees to the committee are Ernest G. Angvine and Charles E. Dockser, as co-chairmen. Others are Earl P. Stevenson, Champe A. Fisher, Thomas H. Adams Jr., Richard H. Lovell, Stanley Miller, Anthony Jauregui, Philip L. Lowe, and Stephen B. Wellington.

In a letter to a select list of donors, the committee asked for funds for the purpose of aiding local GOP candidates, defraying general election expenses of the City Committee including efforts on behalf of the entire Republican ticket.

Early reports, according to Lincoln, indicate a highly favorable response to the appeal.

Also William Glovsky, George Hicks, Mrs. Norma Mintz, Roy Remar, Peter Ryan and Joseph Selden.

Consultants are Dr. Charles E. Brown, Newton Public Schools superintendent; Charles W. Laffin, F. A. Day PTA president; Ralph H. Morse, F. A. Day principal, and John B. Penney, recreation commissioner.

School is being abolished and its students are being fully assimilated into the High School.

A "Program of Technical Studies" will be offered and all students may take some or all of its courses.

Mrs. Thomas Morris, Executive Secretary of the PTA Council reported on the progress of the METCO program in Newton. Fifty negro children from Roxbury and Dorchester have been placed in Grades 3, 4, and 5 in seven elementary schools here in the City.

A second home plus a back up home has been provided for each child for lunch and any emergency. Mrs. Morris stated that the children were doing very well in our schools and were even able to take part in Tuesday and Thursday afternoon activities as a second pick-up bus had been arranged on those days. The METCO program is financed by a Federal Grant.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lewandowski discussed the U.S. Office of Education's Title I program held at Lincoln-Eliot and Emerson schools this past Spring and Summer.

One hundred ninety seven pupils, preschool to grade six took part in an enrichment program of reading, math, science, arts, crafts, music, drama, and field trips.

Human Dignity Struggle Going To Persist, Bishop Burgess Declares

The Rt. Rev. John B. Burgess, Suffragan Bishop of the Massachusetts Episcopal Diocese, who lives at 46 Berwick Rd., Newton Centre, told a Brandeis University audience recently that the struggle for human dignity will persist, despite the advent of "backlash."

Bishop Burgess appeared with two other distinguished religious leaders to discuss "Religion in Crisis—Can We Find Spiritual Meaning Today?" at a panel and dinner that concluded the second day of the weekend program that featured an institute devoted to an examination of "Religion on the American Campus." The meeting was held in conjunction with the 10th anniversary celebration of Brandeis' famed three chapels.

"Backlashes will not make the movement disappear nor frighten and discourage its adherents," Bishop Burgess said. For example, for 50 years white men have taught black men how to die for the high ideals of democracy and freedom, no matter how ephemeral or unattainable these ideals appear to be.

"Black men have learned this lesson and have put it to use in Alabama, in Mississippi, California, and Illinois. And all this is but an aspect of an international movement. South Africa, Rhodesia, Viet Nam, the Congo, the Middle East come to mind. Rumbings in Mozambique, Sarawak, Quebec, Ulster will not be put down as we chide these people to behave themselves."

During the evening, Richard Cardinal Cushing, Archbishop of Boston, was paid a special tribute, along with three other men who were instrumental in the establishment of the Three Chapels—the Berlin, Harlan and Bethlehem Chapels—which provide separate facilities for worship to students of each major faith.

Lincoln Hits Opponent With Lobbyist Issue

William A. Lincoln of Newton, senatorial candidate from the Brookline - Brighton - Newton district, has demanded that Sen. Beryl W. Cohen (D. Brookline) either reveal the name of the lobbyist who he says duped him into asking campaign contributions from the State's lobbying group, "or stop expecting the public to believe his alibi."

Lincoln has demanded that Cohen resign from the Senate because of his action and that Attorney General Brooke conduct a thorough investigation into Cohen's campaign finances.

"Cohen says that a lobbyist provided one of his aides with a list of names, that he didn't know who was on the list, and that he was duped," Lincoln said. "Then why does he refuse to reveal this man's name? What possible reason would he have for protecting him? If he doesn't reveal the name, he certainly shouldn't expect the public to believe his story," Lincoln insisted.

"I have had many phone calls supporting my earlier demand that because of this act, Cohen should withdraw from the Senate race," Lincoln asserted.

Cohen sent form letters to the lobbyists seeking campaign contributions, it was revealed last week, Lincoln pointed out. "The function of the lobbyists, who are legally registered in the State, is to represent private interests on a wide variety of bills which come before the Legislature each year, and to sway the lawmakers in the interests of these private clients," Lincoln said. "The lobbyists naturally seek the good graces of the lawmakers in order to get their clients' legislation passed."

Cohen, Lincoln also declared, has been the primary instigator of the "conflict of interest" probe of the architects in the attack on Governor Volpe. "It has now been proven that Cohen has done exactly the same thing that he wrongfully accused the Governor of doing," Lincoln maintained.

Steven Eric Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Ward, 1446 Beacon st., Waban, has begun classes as a freshman at Amherst College. A graduate of Newton South High School, he was selected for admission to Amherst from among 2284 applicants.

I have demanded that
withdraw from the Senate Race BECAUSE:

1. It is a proven fact that in a letter from Senator Cohen's office, campaign contributions were asked from the State House lobbyists, who represent private legislative interests. This letter to them has been published in the Boston papers, and has never been denied.
2. Instead, Sen. Cohen says a lobbyist "duped" him by giving an aide a list of possible contributors which, unknown to him, contained the names of the lobbyists. He says letters were mailed to these people without his knowledge.
3. If so, why does Sen. Cohen refuse to name this lobbyist who duped him? What reason would he have to protect him? If he will not name the person, why should the public believe his alibi?

THIS IS THE SAME MAN WHO INSTIGATED THE POLITICALLY INSPIRED 'CONFLICT OF INTEREST' PROBE OF THE ARCHITECTS IN THE ATTACK ON GOVERNOR VOLPE. SENATOR COHEN HAS NOW DONE EXACTLY WHAT HE WRONGFULLY ACCUSED GOVERNOR VOLPE OF DOING.

GOP Headquarters Lists Information For Voters

Newton voters were urged by the Republican City Committee this week to avail themselves of the materials and services being offered by the Newton GOP and Volpe headquarters.

GOP Committee Chairman William A. Lincoln cordially invited voters to visit and call the headquarters, located on the second floor of 763 Washington st., Newtonville. Headquarters is staffed to provide voters with election information.

Lincoln said that on election day, November 8, it will be the central point for transportation of voters to the polls and for communication with field workers. The entire second floor is devoted to the offices of local and statewide candidates.

To reach the Newton GOP election headquarters, voters can call 244-5467. Mrs. William J. Ford is secretary. The Volpe headquarters may be reached by calling 244-0432. Secretary of the Volpe headquarters is Mrs. Robert L. Tennant. Both units are open daily from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Lincoln also reported that ward organizations are continuing to intensify their election activities.

Ward Four Republicans will meet Thursday night at the Auburndale home of Mrs. Phyllis Butter, under the chairmanship of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Walsh.

Another meeting, in Ward Five, with D. Stuart Laughlin, Jr., as chairman, is scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 20.

A highly successful and well-attended meeting was held this week in Ward Two, where William R. Horner heads up the Ward committee. Guest speakers included Wigmore A. Pierson, and Arthur S. Scipione, candidates for the House; Walter H. Palmer, running for a seat on the Governor's Council, and James Gabriel, candidate for District Attorney.

The committee on arrangements included: Alan Crosby, Mrs. Nellie Clinton, Miss Theresa Cram, Mrs. Frances Johnson, Douglas Howard, Richard Reynolds, Jr., George Hicks, Richard Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Giron, Robert Hartley, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Haney, William Wolf, Miss Lizette Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Horner.

Karen Canner, 275 Islington Rd., Auburndale, attained the Dean's List at Rhode Island School of Design for her superior performance in the second semester. Others who made the list were David Fillos, 73 Erie Ave., Newton Highlands; J. Peter Sollogub, 331 Lake Ave., Newton Highlands, and Diane Sue Winer, 53 Glenwood Ave., Newton Centre.

Margaret Heckler Tours In City With Coffee 'Breaks'

Governor's Councillor Margaret M. Heckler, stumping vigorously for election to Congress, held outdoor coffee "breaks" at the homes of Newton voters and outside super-markets in a campaign innovation last Saturday.

Councillor Heckler's feminine volunteers brought their own coffee, cream, sugar and doughnuts.

They drove through the Oak Hill Park section of Newton, stopping at homes and inviting the residents to come out and have a cup of coffee with candidate Heckler. Virtually all accepted the invitation.

Councillor Heckler chatted with the voters as they sipped coffee and discussed some of the issues in the congressional campaign and outlined her plan for providing modern streamlined congressional service to the northern end of the big 10th district which extends from Newton to Fall River.

The Heckler campaign headquarters, which is set up in a trailer, accompanied the coffee caravan. The trailer will be converted into a mobile congressional office if Mrs. Heckler is elected.

Many people were intrigued by the trailer and went into it to inspect it. They were also interested in the idea of having a mobile congressional office available in the city at specified times.

Councillor Heckler said the theme of her campaign is to have the voice of the people of the 10th congressional district heard in Washington.

She declared that during her campaign swings she is encouraging a free exchange of ideas between the voters and herself so that she may have a firsthand knowledge of their attitudes toward the major issues which come before the federal government.

Award- (Continued from Page 1)

The degree of Chevalier is the highest honor that can be awarded a senior DeMolay. It cites him for outstanding and marked efforts on behalf of his chapter and the Order.

The investiture was performed by members of the Charles W. Hunter Court of Chevaliers, headed by Commander Scott MacInnes.

Present were DeMolay State Master Councillor Robert Noel and other distinguished guests.

Mr. Young is a Past Master Councillor of Newton Chapter and the treasurer of the advisory board.

On the same night, William F. Gath, 28 Bemis Rd., Newtonville, John A. Hibbard, 5 Channing Rd., Newton Centre, and Richard C. Laurie, 50 Carl St., Newton Highlands, received their majority degrees.

These were symbolic of their reaching age 21, the age of legal manhood, at which time they cease to be active DeMolays.

Views-

State Senate (Norfolk-Middlesex District)

(Includes Wards 2, 3, 4, 5 and 8 in Newton)

Richard R. Caples, 44, of 79 Country drive, Weston, Democrat, lawyer, educated at Boston University Law School.

1. (a.) Withhold opinion until the full scope of the sales tax can be reviewed for the next session.

(b.) Continue the study toward a streamlined Civil Service with reclassifications where necessary; increase or decrease the pay grades in accord with job being done.

(c.) Expansion of community and junior colleges; eastern Massachusetts campus for University of Massachusetts. Enlarge mechanical and technical graduate schools.

(d.) Local issue basically, but state and federal governments should immediately help in poverty areas.

2. Constitutional Reform—particularly Home Rule; Public Safety—both highway and citizen protection; Transportation; and Public Health—i.e. air and water pollution.

Mrs. Leslie B. Cutler, 76, of 1010 South st., Needham, Republican. Present State Senator, educated at Radcliffe College, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Biology and Public Health Department.

1. (a.) Supported and voted for Volpe's tax program, including limited sales tax. Believe fiscal responsibility demands new revenue be made available for essential new programs in education, mental health, public assistance.

(b.) Favor revision of Civil Service laws, especially to integrate the Personnel Division with Civil Service.

(c.) Supported and voted for Willis Report on Education; will continue to support other improvements.

(d.) Filed bills, supported and voted for fair housing practice bills; particularly interested in new low income housing legislation.

2. Cleaning up pollution of the Charles River is of special interest to my district. I will continue my support of measures to accomplish this. I am always glad to hear from city and town authorities in my district and any constituent about problems needing legislation and will faithfully support such measures.

(Norfolk-Suffolk District)

Beryl W. Cohen, 32, of 227 Tappan st., Brookline, Democrat, present State Senator and attorney. Educated at Brookline high school, Boston College and Boston College Law School.

1. (a.) Continued opposition to the imposition of unfair regressive, discriminatory taxes, while supporting responsible revenue measures based upon ability to pay.

(b.) Continued support for total reform of civil service structure to guarantee a vital merit system.

(c.) Continued support of legislation guaranteeing Commonwealth's responsibility to provide racially balanced public schools.

A network of expanded community colleges and state teachers colleges.

Low cost quality education at Univ. of Mass. Continued opposition to political interference at Univ. of Mass. Medical School and attempts to cut back fiscal autonomy.

(d.) Continued 100% support of special commission on low-income housing report.

2. Continued opposition to unfair use of eminent domain power under guise of urban renewal programs which exploit low income families for benefit of real estate speculators.

I generally do not recognize need to "concentrate my efforts on issues affecting only my district". This narrow consideration causes greatest harm on Beacon Hill.

William A. Lincoln, 54, of 340 Hammond st., Newton, Republican, businessman, educated at Milton Academy.

1. (a.) Supports limited sales tax, proposals making state income tax more equitable and simple, with particular reference to people living on savings, and proposals making Special Committee on Taxation more effective.

(b.) Supports reform. Competent personnel must be attracted. Existing rights must be protected.

(c.) Approves of Chapter 572 of Acts of 1965 (recommended by Willis-Harrington Commission). Will support efforts toward improving all Mass. public education.

(d.) Would encourage action for publicly assisted, low-income housing under Chapter 221 D (3), with priority for the district's existing residents.

2. Urgent need for greater legislative efficiency. Much of legislator's time and effort is wasted, so that too few competent persons run. Will do all possible to improve organization, professional staffing, and secretarial assistance.

House of Representatives (Fourth Middlesex District)

(Includes Wards 1, 2 and 3 of Newton)

Joseph G. Bradley, 33, of Maple ave., Newton, Democrat, present State Representative.

1. (a.) Oppose repeal of sales tax by referendum. Have supported in past and will support in future, a tax program based on income taxes, rather than sales taxes. But overhaul should be done in legislative manner only.

(b.) Crime Commission's recommendations regarding change of Civil Service laws; I would support reasonable means to reform laws in order to make professions connected with public service more meaningful and lucrative.

2. I feel that the question of the future of Newton Jr. College is one of the many key issues in my district. With the implementation of Willis-Harrington Report, it is apparent to me that the community college program will expand greatly and Newton may find itself behind other state colleges unless state takes over college and facilities, and/or college receives more state aid than now given. City's tax base can't support the college.

Paul F. Malloy, 66, of 66 Wildwood ave., Newton, Democrat, present State Representative.

1. (a.) I will support a Tax Program predicated on an ability to pay, and that will directly relieve the tax burden of homeowners. As a matter of policy, I favor a State Graduated Income Tax to meet the necessary requirements of State Tax Revenue.

(c.) I supported legislation enacted for enlarging authority of Department of Education and creation of a new State Board of Higher Education, pursuant to recommendations of the Willis-Harrington Commission.

(d.) Supported legislation for low income housing, including establishment of Massachusetts Finance Agency to provide available mortgage financing in connection therewith, and will actively support legislation to supplement the present legislation.

2. As a member of the Special Commission on Eminent Domain, it shall be my constant purpose to secure realistic protection of property owners in securing prompt adequate and complete compensation for property taken, and as a primary object the safeguarding of tenants in the successful relocation of their respective homes.

Wigmore A. Pierson, 26, of 80 Hillside ave., Newton, Republican, businessman, received B.A. degree from Lake Forest College.

1. (a.) I support the Republican Administration's Limited 3% Sales Tax, to stabilize and reduce local taxes. We must meet our obligations to the citizens by bringing in new revenue, especially to assist cities and towns.

(b.) Re-evaluation of Civil Service structure is essential if we are to attract capable, qualified people to it.

(c.) There can be no higher priority than to seek new standards of excellence in education, since education reflects the best hopes of any society.

(d.) We must search for the most feasible ways to bring the best possible housing at the lowest possible costs to all our citizens.

2. We should renew our efforts to bring about better coordinated planning in the Metropolitan area to assure the best public transportation possible, as well as adequate programs for waste disposal.

Arthur S. Scipione, 60, of Walnut st., Newton, Republican, attorney, graduated from Newton high school, Northeastern Law School and attended Suffolk Law School.

1. (a.) In favor of relieving burden on homeowners by producing new source of tax revenue, therefore I support the present sales tax program at this time.

(b.) Re-examination of the state civil service policies and procedures so that competent personnel will find service with the state satisfying and rewarding.

(c.) Better education and adequate housing would have a tendency to be a solution to some of our serious problems existing today.

2. Improve the operations of many of the departments in the state and county governments with a complete study of the advisability of continuing county government.

House of Representatives (Fifth Middlesex District)

(Includes Wards 5, 6, 7 and 8 in Newton)

Irving Fishman, 45, of 1457 Beacon st., Newton, Democrat, lawyer, legislator, educated at the Boston University School of Law.

1. (a.) The state constitution should be amended to permit a broader choice of tax programs; state and federal tax laws could then be coordinated.

(b.) The civil service system in Mass. should be reorganized. A career service based upon merit, ascertained by examination should be established on principles of sound personnel administration.

(c.) I voted for the Willis-Harrington Education Bill and for the Boston branch of the University of Mass.; the state community college program should also be expanded.

(d.) I support the recommendations of Special Commission on Low-Income Housing without the stigma and sterility of public housing projects.

2. Newton needs expanded recreation and park facilities. The Metropolitan District Commission should plan a recreation facility in Newton, and creative proposals for enjoyment of MDC parkland in Newton should be encouraged. Charles River pollution should be eliminated so it can be used for swimming and boating.

Theodore D. Mann, 44, of 21 Littlefield rd., Newton, Republican, insurance, present State Representative, graduated from the Boston school system, and attended Boston University and Boston College.

1. (a.) I have supported and will continue to support prudent administration of state monies as well as programs to provide relief for homeowners and renters.

(b.) I will support legislation which will improve the caliber and morale of civil servants.

(c.) I will support programs designed to provide the opportunity for more of our young people to get a better education.

(d.) I have co-sponsored legislation in this field. I believe adequate housing and better education will eventually lead us to the solution of many of our present-day problems.

2. Improve regional planning in solving the growing problem of air and water pollution, the disposal of waste and continuing to promote better public transportation.

Edward H. Pendergast, Jr., 32, of 18 Copley st., Newton, Democrat, certified public accountant, received BS in Accounting from Bentley College.

1. (a.) I urge a constitutional reform permitting a graduated income tax based on a percentage of the federal income tax, administration costs would be minimized and the yield would be adequate.

(b.) Education and experience must be allowed to be a part of the criteria in our civil service system if we are to compete effectively in the labor market for the most qualified personnel.

(c.) I would move for expansion of our scholarship programs and the elimination of racial imbalance in public education.

(d.) Assistance should be provided for non profit and limited profit organizations to encourage further construction of housing for low-to-middle income families.

2. I would concentrate on streamlining government in many ways including the following:

(a.) Reduce the size of the legislature.

(b.) Have the State assume the costs of county government.

(c.) Establish a Code of Ethics Commission to reduce conflicts of interest and increase ethical conduct in public office.

(d.) Give the municipalities "home rule."

Benjamin Shattuck, 50, of 327 Franklin st., Newton, Republican, advertising, BS in government, Harvard '37.

1. (a.) We must maintain a level of fair and equitable taxes for the purpose of increasing aid to education, reducing high real estate taxes and improving the condition of the disadvantaged.

(b.) Reforms are necessary in order to correct certain inequities in the present system including, particularly, job application procedures and promotional opportunities.

(c.) Continue the improvement of the University of Mass. and expand state, community and junior colleges.

(d.) Due to the weaknesses of present programs, new and imaginative solutions must be developed. State aid will have to increase, particularly for housing for the elderly for which we have greater demand than facilities.

2. Firstly, I am extremely interested in our countryside in terms of conservation, beautification, pollution, recreational facilities. These have been neglected and require dynamic efforts for the future. Secondly, I am concerned with the State's climate for older people who do not get sufficient consideration of their needs—financial, housing, etc.

House of Representatives
(Seventeenth Middlesex District)
(Includes Ward 4 of Newton)

Edward M. Dickson, 54, of 125 Highland st., Weston, Republican, present State Representative, Harvard, A.B., Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration.

1. (a.) Oppose repeal sales tax. Yield for full year should show real benefits. Favor overhaul of income tax laws and eliminate discriminatory taxation of unearned income.

(b.) I co-sponsored legislation to reform civil service in Mass. which would encourage the professional and merit aspects and make state jobs attractive to well qualified persons.

(c.) Support more state aid for communities with sub-standard educational systems and a higher educational program that would give every qualified and worthy student a college degree.

(d.) I co-sponsored comprehensive bill to promote low-income housing. Support housing aid for elderly and for relocation where renewal and highway construction force moving.

2. Transportation - safer roads, cars, drivers; better mass transportation. Member of committee to revise Highway Code, result filing of comprehensive legislation which will improve and expedite highway construction and safety. Expanded more efficient MBTA to relieve highway congestion. More state aid for Chpt. 90 road construction and maintenance.

John P. Hearn, Jr., 25, of 196 South ave., Weston, Democrat, funeral director, educated at the New England School of Anatomy, Suffolk University.

1. (a.) If elected, I will file forthwith, legislation, for a complete overhaul of our tax structure, by joint House and Senate Committee, to be acted upon the next Legislature session.

(b.) I would recommend legislation to have the merit system for career employees, so they can feel that through dedication and hard work, they can come day head their respective departments, with no political overtures.

(c.) Public education makes many imperative demands upon the public, which is certainly necessary through careful evaluation to accept these, and continue to pursue the best for our democratic society.

(d.) I would ask for, and accept Federal aid to abolish for all time slum sections, which have no place in our society; I would try to interest private enterprise to invest, construct low-income housing for aged and handicapped.

2. I would recommend a crash program to try to check water pollution of our ponds, rivers, reservoirs. Sewerage for Wayland, Weston to the M.D.C. sewerage lines. Traffic - a serious problem. Routes 30, 20, 117, are small two lane roads, carrying traffic of major highways.

Fifth, Sixth Graders To Be Expert Dancers

A campaign to decrease the number of "wallflowers" in the fifth and sixth grades in Newton schools has been undertaken by the Newton Recreation Department in cooperation with the PTA.

Starting in November, young Newton students will be given the opportunity to learn the Philly Dog, the Frug, the Monkey and the Swim. Some of the older dances, including the Twist, the Waltz, the Hully Gully, the Rhumba, and the Cha-Cha, also will be taught.

The dance lessons are part of a combined program sponsored by the Recreation Dept. and the PTA from the Beethoven, Burr, Cabot, Carr, Emerson, Franklin, Peirce and Williams schools for the fifth and sixth grade pupils.

Dancing lessons have been part of the extra-curriculum activities in Newton schools for the past 15 years but never have there been so many dances.

Five semi-professional dancers, all from Newton, have been assigned as instructors. The Recreation Dept. will help any school start a dancing program with the cooperation of school officials and the PTA, if more than 20 students from the school are interested.

Although dancing will involve a large part of the program, special emphasis will be placed on dance floor etiquette.

One Recreation Dept. member said: "We will be trying to decrease the number of wallflowers."

Elliot Richardson Cites Record Made As United States Attorney

Lt. Governor Elliot L. Richardson cited his legal training and experience and his service and record as U.S. Attorney for Massachusetts as he asked support today of his candidacy for election as the next Attorney General.

Richardson pointed out that he launched an effective drive against organized crime in Massachusetts while U.S. Attorney.

He said that as U.S. Attorney he worked closely with the F.B.I., the Secret Service, the Federal Narcotics Bureau and the Tobacco Tax Division in his efforts to combat organized crime in this Commonwealth.

Lt. Governor Richardson said that he will organize the same kind of coordinated campaign against crime in the State if he is elected Attorney General.

Richardson quoted figures showing that he gained convictions in over 90 per cent of the cases he started and completed while U.S. Attorney.

As U.S. Attorney, he initiated a far-reaching investigation into land-taking frauds in the federal highway program which resulted in national reforms in land-taking procedures.

It was Richardson who started the investigation into the Boston Common Underground Garage scandal.

Richardson prosecuted the famous Thomas Worcester case.

He was appointed U.S. attorney for Massachusetts by former President Eisenhower.

When Richardson completed his service in that position, the late President Kennedy named him special assistant to the then U.S. Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy.

Lt. Governor Richardson had extensive experience in the field of law before becoming U.S. attorney for Massachusetts.

He graduated with honors from Harvard Law School after seeing combat military service in the European theatre during World War II and being wounded in action.

Following his graduation

from Harvard Law School, where he was both editor and president of the Law Review, Richardson served for one year as law clerk to Judge Learned Hand and one year as law clerk to Justice Felix Frankfurter.

Then he became associated with a leading Boston law firm in which he later was made a partner.

In 1952 Elliot Richardson was a lecturer in law at the Harvard Law School.

He was an administrative assistant to Senator Leverett Saltonstall in 1953 and 1954 and to the then Governor Christian A. Herter in 1955 and 1956. For a period, Richardson served as counsel to Governor Herter.

Richardson was made Assistant Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare by President Eisenhower in January, 1957. He served as Acting Secretary of the Department and sat in on Cabinet meetings for a four-month period in 1958.

Sees Financial Chaos If Sales Tax Is Rejected

Ruth M. Vance, Republican candidate for representative in the 11th Norfolk District, stated in an interview on closed circuit TV at the Norwood Hospital last week that if the voters of Mass. fail to pass the sales tax referendum question, financial chaos will result in the Commonwealth.

Asked whether the sales tax would be repealed on the November ballot, Mrs. Vance said "I have faith in the people of Mass. that they will vote 'yes' on referendum question 5. Failure to do so will result in complete fiscal chaos.

"Many people ask me why we need the sales tax," she said. "One of the reasons is that the legislature voted to accept the Willis Commission Report on Education and responsible government provides the funds for the programs which it institutes."

When interviewer Richard Murphy, public relations director of the Norwood Hospital asked Mrs. Vance to comment on the current sales tax, she replied, "Nobody likes taxes. In view of the choices we have, the sales tax appears to be the best. The alternative is an 80 percent increase in the income tax."

Mrs. Vance went on to say that already the four towns in the district are benefitting from the sales tax receipts in real estate property tax reductions.

"Four example," she said, "Norwood has realized a saving of $12 per thousand. The tax rate of Norwood in 1965 was $72. The estimated tax rate for 1966 was $78. The tax rate in fact for Norwood this year is $66.

As a coordinator for the Committee for Constitutional Reform, Mrs. Vance was asked about constitutional changes. She said that many of the recommendations of the committee are now being carried out.

"We now have the reduction in the powers of the governor's council and the 4-year term for governor will be in effect in 1967," she stated.

Other recommendations will be on the November ballot and will include the referendum questions, 1, 2 and 4 concerning the Gov. and Lt. Gov. elected as a team, reorganization of the Executive Dept., and Home Rule for cities and towns."

Conservation Office Aids Beautification Planning

"Dumps for general waste disposal present difficult problems in maintaining America's beautiful countryside," according to Henry J. Ritzer, Conservationist for the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Soil Conservation Service assisting the Norfolk District.

Some towns have sanitary landfill disposal, others burn. Major problems include beautification of the site and keeping contamination of soil, water and air to a minimum.

Society For Education Of Women To Hold Meeting At Radcliffe

A number of members from the Newtons are expected to attend when the Massachusetts Society for the University Education of Women members will be guests of the Radcliffe College Center, 6 Ash st., Cambridge, for their fall meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 25, at 2 p.m.

In the absence of Mrs. James Donovan, pres. of M.S.U.E.W., Mrs. Peter A. Bertocci, vice president, will conduct the meeting. Mrs. Bertram Holland and Mrs. Gilbert Tavenner, also officers, will be pourers at the tea which follows the meeting. Mrs. Raymond Eldridge is chairman of the committee which arranges the meetings of the society.

M.S.U.E.W. is in its 89th year as a scholarship society which helps girls in seven Massachusetts colleges. These girls are recommended for awards by the deans of their colleges.

The program for the afternoon is a most interesting one. Miss Constance Smith, Dean of the Radcliffe Institute for Independent Study, will speak. Her subject is "The Radcliffe Institute — Lessons in Learning." This unique Independent Study program has been developed to permit and encourage women of talent — usually married — at various stages of personal development, to undertake a specific program of research, writing, or creative work on a part time basis. The program is planned to enable women to use the resources of Radcliffe and Harvard for their professional development. This is an important contribution to the professional growth of talented women.

Among the many Newton members who are expected are Mrs. George Brett, Mrs. Elmore MacPhie, Mrs. Shields Warren, Mrs. Mannert Abele, Mrs. Raymond Eldridge, Mrs. William Newton, Mrs. Frank Barton, Mrs. Clarence Howell, Mrs. Joseph O'Donnell, Mrs. Williams Carpenter, Mrs. Harry Dunning, Mrs. Donald Taylor, Mrs. Kenneth Parsons, and Mrs. Richard Millard.

Let's face it. You should think about snow tires before it snows. Don't chance getting stuck. Have your snow tires mounted early. In fact, if you wait too long before coming to see us, you may not be able to get the size and style you want. Some of our better snow tires, such as Uniroyal's Winterides, are at a premium even now before the season really begins. No wonder! A snow tire spends most of its life on snowless roads. And the Winteride is a snow tire tested to do 100 mph...when there is no snow. That's one of the reasons it's called The Dry Road Snow Tire and is in such great demand. Winteride's big, big tractor-type treads dig you out of deep snow quick, but also give you a smooth, quiet ride on dry roads where you travel most of the time. ## South Host Lexington In Third Win Quest Saturday

At long last, Newton South High School plays a football game at home this Saturday when the Lions meet Lexington at Dickenson Field. South will be seeking its third win in four starts after a 34 to 6 triumph over Amesbury high school last week.

It was Amesbury's 11th dismal loss in a row and it afforded Coach George Winkler of the Lions the luxury of putting his less experienced players into the game, thus giving the boys the all-important opportunity of game contact.

Senior halfback Steve Cooper scored two touchdowns and rushed for two extra points in spearheading the easy victory at Amesbury's James J. Landry Memorial Stadium.

Frank Rezzutti scored his third and fourth touchdowns of the season while crunching out 113 yards, including one for 31 yards on a touchdown. Cooper added 64 yards on the ground in addition to netting one pass for 23 yards.

Coach Winkler was high in his praise of his younger, less experienced players. He cited sophomore defensive back Nick Parnell especially.

Parnell, whose brother, Steve, directed the Lions to an 8-1 record last year, intercepted two passes and floored Indian John Babine with a crushing tackle.

There were other underclassmen who showed their ability, too. Tom Rezzutti, who started at wingback, hauled in three passes for 38 yards. In addition, young Tom and Noah Bronson handled the quarterbacking duties in the fourth period. Sophomore Dan Mendelson continued to show promise by grinding out 23 yards in four carries.

Meanwhile, Gordon Megrian, Cooper and Frank Rezzutti, the "old reliables" of the squad, played with their usual consistency.

Megrian continued his fine job of signal-calling for the Lions. He completed four for seven passes for a total of 61 yards and his calling of plays consistently kept the Indians off balance.

South picked up 14 points in the first quarter, 14 in the second stanza and 6 in the third period for its scoring. Amesbury scored in the fourth and final quarter.

The Lions struck quickly in the first period as Cooper, obviously recovered from the injury that kept him sidelined for awhile, plunged over from the one-yard line. A 22 yard pass from Megrian to Tom Rezzutti set up the scoring play.

After Amesbury failed to hold the ball, South again drove into the end zone, with Frank Rezzutti's 31-yard end sweep capping a sustained 39-yard drive.

Emeth PTA Plans Harvest Ball For November 5

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bamel of 22 Olde Field Rd., Newton Centre, are for the second successive year chairmen of Temple Emeth P.T.A. Annual Harvest Ball Dance.

To be held on Saturday evening, Nov. 5, at the temple, this annual fall classic will feature music by El Rico, a late evening supper, and dancing until midnight.

The Bamel's are hoping that this year's affair will be as much of a success as was last year's. All profits go toward furnishing the children's library with books during the year.

In addition to the dancing and supper, special prizes will be awarded during the evening, the highlights of which will be two vacations at popular resort spots. Anyone interested in reserving places for themselves, or arranging a complete table for the dance may phone Mrs. Herbert Bamel at 969-6731.

Square Dance Gives Foreign Students Look At American Life

The students ranged from an architect from Pakistan to a law student from Turkey and a hospital administrator from Sweden. The affair was arranged with the view to giving the students from abroad a first-hand look at American life.

"Americans are much more informal than Europeans," commented Dagmar Klugert of Germany, who stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Merrill, 20 Buswell Pk.

Mercury, the Man's Car, believes in being top cat.

Mercury believes a Man's Car should have taller, heftier, tougher ideas—the stuff that better cars are made of.

Apparently you agree. Our showrooms have been crowded with car buffs, demonstration riders, and buyers.

The wild, new Cougar has been drawing rave comments, of course. But what's wilder is that people are talking about the entire Mercury line of 28 cars as if they were Cougars.

Reasons? Lots of 'em. Man's Car ideas like the front seats in the Marquis. They split into two "club chairs," so a man can have the legroom he wants without disturbing his wife.

And options such as a foot-casing speed control that's up where it should be, where it's handiest—works from a button on the turn signal lever.

Man's Car ideas! Top cat thinking! See it all in Mercury Cougar—and all its cousins—now.

Red Cross Volunteers Told Of Situation In Vietnam

Mrs. Morris Adler represented Newton Red Cross when representatives of 12 chapters on the Greater Boston area attended a recent meeting at Otis Air Base.

The Red Cross field director at Otis introduced Maj. Robert Rissotto, executive officer of the 960th Airborne Early Warning Control Squadron, who served for a year in Vietnam as advisor to the Air Force, and flew 78 combat support missions.

Major Rissotto stated that according to U.S. treaty obligations with South Vietnam, we must give the assistance they request, when their borders have been violated.

He also stated that it is not usually known that 35 other nations assist in this effort in one way or another. Five thousand Australians are on military duty there. The Koreans have 1/10th of their standing army there. Some nations have sent only supplies and material.

He emphasized that once the VC know we will fight to the end, then and only then can we sit around the conference table and not give away the gains so dearly made in blood, sweat and disease.

Each month, he said, 500,000 tons of ammunition are dropped via B52's on military and supply installations only. Accordingly, VC morale has dropped in proportion to this support. Each month the enemy defects more and more. Starvation and disease are rampant as the VC are not fed, nor cared for as the Vietnamese and U.S. troops are.

Major Rissotto went on to say that the military overseas, and this does not mean only those in the Pacific area, are truly upset by the student demonstrations. Once an understanding of our commitments around the world is understood, it is felt that they will abate.

Mrs. Adler, on her return to Newton relayed the meeting's essence to the Red Cross volunteers in Newton.

Sweet-Treasure Sale To Be Held In Newtonville

The first money-making venture of the Women's Society of the United Methodist Church at Newtonville, will be a sale of antique and modern articles at the church on Newtonville ave., Friday, Oct. 28, from 9:15 in the morning to 3 in the afternoon.

The sale will be a combination sweet-treasure affair.

Among the special items will be a mink stole, hand-knit fancy sweater, jewelry, a collection of ladies' fans, new and used furniture, Christmas arrangements and china. Unusual items will include a pair of "thumb-back" chairs, twin mahogany bookcases and a hand-made bedspread. Also of interest is a collection of old ironmolds. The articles are all in good condition and many of them are brand new. The sweets will include candy, cakes and other food specialties.

Starting at 9:15 on the same morning, a rummage sale will also be held in the church hall featuring used clothing, household items and bric-a-brac. While these articles are not new, they are in a saleable and useable condition.

Unitarian Society Offers New "Religious Frontier"

A West Newton church, an acknowledged leader in interfaith programs, will present "New Frontiers in Religion," a three month series of shared pulpits as its contribution to the ecumenical movement.

First of the programs will be on Sunday, Oct. 23, at 11 a.m., at the First Unitarian Society in Newton, when Rev. Douglas Horton, D.D., of Randolph, N.H., will speak on "Looking Ahead from Vatican II."

He was an official observer for the International Congregational Council at the Second Vatican Council in Rome and his record of the proceedings have been published as "Vatican Diary."

Dr. Horton was dean of the Harvard Divinity School from 1955 to 1959. While minister and executive secretary of the General Council of the Congregational Christian Churches, he was active in the movement which led to the formation of the United Church of Christ in 1957.

A leader in the scheme for co-operation among churches, Dr. Horton has served on the Central National Committee of the World Council of Churches.

Author of several books and a member of the faculty at numerous seminaries, Dr. Horton taught at Andover Newton Theological School while serving as minister of the Leyden Congregational Church in Brookline from 1925 to 1931.

He is married to the former Mildred McAfee, former president of Wellesley College and wartime head of the WAVES.

Subsequent guest speakers in the Fall shared pulpit series will present a Jewish view of the ecumenical movement on Sunday, Nov. 4, and a Catholic view on Sunday, Dec. 4. Each sermon will be followed by an open discussion with the guest preacher for the day. All who are interested are invited to attend.

REV. DOUGLAS HORTON

Deadlines For Mail To Armed Forces Are Set

The period from tomorrow (Friday) to Thursday, Nov. 10, has been designated for mailing Christmas parcels and greeting cards by surface transportation to members of the Armed Forces overseas, according to a notice from the Boston Postal Division, of which Newton is a part.

For air mail, the period is Dec. 1 to Dec. 10.

Postmaster Ephraim Martin stated that Christmas parcels which do not exceed 5 pounds in weight and measure not more than 60 inches in length and girth combined, addressed to members of the armed forces in Vietnam will be airtailed from San Francisco, even though prepaid at the surface rate.

The term "Armed Forces overseas" includes personnel of our Armed Forces, members of our Armed Forces, members of their families and authorized U.S. civilian employees overseas who receive mail through an A.P.O. or F.P.O.

Addresses must be legible and complete and should be prepared by typewriter or pen and ink. Postmaster Martin reminded mailers that all A.P.O. numbers have been changed to five digits which are identical to Zip Code.

Parcels sent by surface transportation should be packed to withstand the long sea voyage and all gift packages should contain no perishable items which are affected by intense heat. It is recommended by postal and military officials that a slip showing list of contents, together with name and address of sender and addressee be enclosed in each package, as well as appearing on the outside.

Harrington Points To His Record In Congress Fight

Patrick H. Harrington, who is seeking election to the seat in Congress held by Joseph W. Martin, Jr., since 1924, declared this week that he has compiled a record of public service which should impress even staunch "Martin Republicans."

Harrington, a 46-year-old lawyer and naval reserve officer, has been a member and chairman of the Bristol County Board of Commissioners for the past five years.

He has served as chairman of the Fall River Industrial Commission, as President of the Massachusetts County Commissioners and Sheriffs' Association and is a charter member of the Fall River Industrial Development Corporation.

He is also a member of the Governor's Advisory Committee of the Massachusetts Maritime Academy and aided in bringing the battleship Massachusetts to Fall River as a national shrine.

Harrington said he expects to pile up a heavy vote in Fall River, which Martin lost by only 2000 in 1964 and hopes to run strong in Taunton. He is currently spending a great deal of his time campaigning in the northern part of the district, which includes Newton.

Harrington received his LL.B. degree, cum laude, from Boston University Law School in 1948, and served as case editor of the B.U. Law Review. His professional activity has covered all phases of corporation law and particularly the representation of non-profit corporations, including the labor relations field.

He is at present National Judge Advocate of the Naval Reserve Association. He enlisted in the Navy prior to Pearl Harbor and he left the Navy in 1946 as lieutenant-commander. He now holds the rank of captain in the Naval Reserve Officers Training Schools at the Naval Air Station in South Weymouth, Otis Air Force Base and at Fall River.

He was named last year as a member of a Navy Selection Board to choose Naval Reserve officers to be promoted to the rank of captain.

Some of the courses Harrington initiated for Naval officers in strategy and scientific development at the Reserve Officers' School at the Naval Air Station in South Weymouth have been adopted and are now being taught nationally by the Navy.

Harrington is married to the former Eleanor S. Spillane of Milton. They are parents of a son, 7-year-old Patrick H. Harrington, Jr.

Basic Needs In Legislation Is Mann's Concern

Representative Theodore D. Mann, candidate for reelection to the House of Representatives from the fifth Middlesex district comprising Wards 5-6-7-8 of Newton, this week reaffirmed his concern for what he termed basic legislative needs in the State.

Mann emphasized his continuing interest in legislation dealing with mental health, adult education, underprivileged youth, and metropolitan planning.

"These are basic needs," stated the Newton law-maker, "which must continue to receive the attention of our State government and which call for programs that will effectively serve the economy, health and welfare of our citizens."

Citing his efforts on behalf of mental health programs and inviting attention to the fact that he has filed bills dealing with the issue, Representative Mann declared:

"Of primary concern is a modern community-oriented program of mental health centers for adults. We are aware of the overcrowded conditions of our present State mental hospitals and we are all too familiar with the difficulty of securing competent personnel, who will care for the mentally ill on a twenty-four hour a day basis."

"The answer," Mann said, "both from humanitarian and economic concern, is the establishment of adult treatment centers, located close to where adults live and work, so that they may receive help on an out-patient basis."

Representative Mann added that he welcomed the opportunity of the current campaign to discuss the critical issues of the day with voters of his district. He invited them to take advantage of the various meetings and parties being arranged for the purpose.

Our Lady's Unbeaten In 17 Contests

Our Lady's High School stretched its unbeaten string to 17 consecutive football games in shutting out Immaculate Conception 26 to 0 in last Sunday's heavy rain at Paul Revere Stadium, Revere.

Highly instrumental in the scoring was Mike Carrabba of Our Lady's backfield, who went for two touchdowns and passed for a third.

The outstanding sensation of Catholic Suburban League play this fall gained 142 yards in 16 carries and completed four passes for 235 yards. In the first period he moved his team 50 yards to a score with two plays. In one he passed to leftend Jim Fahey who went 30 yards. In the other, he took the ball himself the remaining 20 yards.

In the second quarter, Our Lady's scored on 10 plays, with Carrabba and fullback Bob Farrell sharing the carrying.

Tony Saletan To Appear At South High U. N. Day Dinner

Rep. Irving Fishman, president of the World Affairs Council of Newton has announced a change in the after-dinner entertainment for the students attending the United Nations Day Dinner at Newton South High School on Friday, Oct. 28. Tony Saletan will now return to Newton to appear on this occasion.

Mr. Saletan, who is one of the best-known folk-singers in the country, formerly served as consultant to the music department of the Newton Schools. He subsequently spent two years travelling throughout the world, particularly in the near East and the Orient, representing the U.S. State Department in a cultural exchange and collecting songs from many lands. Students attending the U.N. Dinner will be admitted free to hear Tony in his unique repertoire.

Rep. Fishman expressed the hope that many Newton families would want to attend the dinner and pointed out that the price of the buffet supper was set at $1.35 so that widespread attendance would be feasible.

The main program of the evening will have Attorney General Edward W. Brooke, Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate, speaking on "The Role of the United States in World Affairs". Former Governor Endicott Peabody, the Democratic nominee, will be unable to appear.

Mayor Monte G. Basbas and the World Affairs Council of Newton invite all Newton residents to attend this annual function.

Dinner tickets, at $1.35 a person, may be obtained by sending a check and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Mrs. Stanley Lampert, Treasurer, 132 Farlow Rd., Newton, 02158.

A spirited question and answer period which centered around the cost and need for special elections, and voting machines followed Mr. Licarie's stimulating talk.

The Newton Jaycees announced that they have been selected to be part of the Mayors' G.I. Send-Off Committee, and also will chaperone a Newton Community Center Dance at the Warren Junior High School on Friday evening, October 28th.

Major Aerial Battle Seen In Newton - Arlington Game

One of the biggest aerial battles outside of Vietnam looms this Saturday when Newton High School journeys to Arlington for a football game that promises to be one of the best of the season.

Featured bomb-tossers in the clash will be Newton's Dick Dezotell and Mark Driscoll, quarterback for Arlington.

Dezotell, in last Saturday's victory over Watertown, threw three touchdown passes as the Tigers won, 20-6. Driscoll connected for 10 of 14 aeriels as he led the Spy Ponders to a crushing 37-0 victory over New Bedford. A scoring pass in the third quarter went for 51 yards.

Although Newton defeated Watertown with a 14-point edge, the game was by no means decisive. Coach Jim Ronayne wasn't too happy with his team's performance.

"I think it was a case of the boys thinking of how well they played last week against Weymouth's powerhouse and of next week's Arlington game. They seemed to have forgotten about Watertown," he said.

It was Dezotell who showed some life and spurred the Tigers to the final win. He rifled to halfback Steve Colantuono for touchdown throws of 25 and 49 yards and to end George Gershman for another of 15 yards. He also passed for a two-point conversion, to account for all 20 Newton points.

Watertown, fired-up and far better than its 1-3 record would indicate, took the initiative right from the start and forced Tiger fumbles the first two times it was on defense.

Opening the game, Watertown gambled with an on-side kick that failed, putting the Tigers on Watertown's 47 yard stripe. Two offside penalties moved Newton to the 37 but the advantage was nullified when Bob Cohen fumbled and Watertown recovered.

Watertown went 23 yards to the 42 before Newton held on downs and forced a punt. Dominic Boudreau fielded the boot at his own 10 and moved to the 16, where he was hit and fumbled. Watertown recovered and was on the offense, striking for pay dirt.

The Tigers were bailed out by Phil Nelson who intercepted a Charlie D'Ambrosio pass in the end zone to end the threat.

Then Newton got a big break. On a fourth and five situation, a roughing - the - kicker penalty gave the Tigers a first down on their own 49 yard line, and Dezotell cashed in. The quarterback hit Colantuono, coming out of the backfield, with a perfect pass and the fleet-footed senior streaked down the left sideline for the first score. A conversion pass failed.

In the second period, the Newton offense crossed the goal again. This time the Newton drive started on the Watertown 47, and was sparked by the brilliant running of Cohen who, possibly, was still fuming at his fumble. The 194-pound junior picked up 20 yards on a series of smashes into the line.

72 Gas Lights On Streets In Newton

Newton, one of the most modern cities in the country, still has 72 gas street lights in use.

This fact came to light at an Alderman's meeting last Monday night when a request was made for an appropriation to repair the lights.

The Board of Aldermen approved a transfer of $400 to the street department for the maintenance of property, and Winslow C. Auryansen, acting chairman of the Finance Committee, reported that the money was needed for replacement of broken gas light standards.

amount of money requested adds up to $4,994,119 in 1966; $7,369,000 in 1967; $6,659,000 in 1968; $7,382,000 in 1969; $2,777,000 in 1970 and $1,533,000 in 1971. The tax rate for the 1967-1971 period was projected by a complex formula.

"Based upon these projections," the report noted, "it is estimated that the tax rate will increase to $89.70 by 1971 from its present level of $72.20. This increase of $17.50, or 24 per cent, is predicated on a conservative level of tax base increase coupled with a fairly substantial six-year spending program."

The report showed that "many variable factors could be introduced which would substantially alter this estimate. The ultimate completion of some of the already approved major construction projects would materially increase the tax base, and presumably lower the rate."

"These projections," the report emphasized, "represent a reasonable estimate of future demands upon municipal resources."

The report made note of the fact that "the amount of income from sources other than local property taxes is projected to increase by approximately $2.5 million between 1966 and 1971."

It cautioned that "the major variable in this income projection is, of course, the level of return from the state-collected limited sales tax."

"We have assumed that this tax will remain on the books and that the city will share proportionately in its increasing level of return."

The impact of any nationwide economic fluctuation was not included in the projection. The report said the real property base upon which the tax levy must be made is projected at an annual rate of increase of $3.2 million to 1967, $4 million in 1968 and 1969, and $4.6 million in 1970 and 1971, and the estimates are "conservative."

The report showed the 1966 valuation of real property in the city to be $309,612,000 while valuation placed on personal property is slightly over $18 million.

The Planning Department said it had recently completed "an extensive analysis and projection" of the city's population, based on an appraisal of existing federal, state and local census statistics and a detailed analysis of birth and death rates, in and out-migration, average family size, age-sex statistics and school enrollment.

The study resulted in an estimate of a "saturation" or ultimate population forecast of 95,115 in Newton by 1985.

Some of the projects called for in the new program include construction of five neighborhood swimming pools in the Auburndale and Burr Oaks and the Upper Falls, Oak Hill and Lower Falls playgrounds, all scheduled for construction in 1971.

Also baseball diamond renovations in various locations, construction of outdoor basketball and tennis courts, playground landscaping, development of night lighted baseball facilities in Newton Highlands (after 1971), a stadium and track at Newton South high school (after 1971), and indoor tennis courts at Newton high school (after 1971).

The Newton Main Library Site Committee recommended the library be located at Homer and Walnut sts., and the total cost of the project has been estimated at ## sick of the war in Vietnam?

If you are sick of the war because:

- ☐ thousands of young Americans are being killed in an illegal, immoral and unjust war
- ☐ it brings the world close to the danger of nuclear catastrophe
- ☐ it diverts billions of dollars to train youth to destroy and kill but not to prepare them for constructive and useful work
- ☐ we need better schools, decent homes, good health care, clean air and water, livable cities and economic justice for all our people
- ☐ it discriminates against the sons of the poor who are not able to secure a "college" deferment then look at these issues this election period.

And ask the office-seekers — for the Senate, for Congress, for Governor — where they stand. You are entitled to know.

and tell them your choice.

Young Women Of Jewish Memorial Dine

The 37th annual Carry On dinner of Young Women's Auxiliary, Jewish Memorial Hospital, was held last evening, October 19, at 6 p.m., in Sidney Hill Country Club, Chestnut Hill.

Several hundred members of the auxiliary attended this annual dinner, which benefits the new $1,100,000 addition being constructed to the 256-bed chronic disease hospital.

Officials of the hospital were guests at the dinner.

Alex and Julianne, popular song stylists, entertained the gathering.

Mrs. Joseph Natelson, Newton, was general chairman of the Carry On dinner. The committee included Mrs. Herman Ungelider, Newton, president-elect; Mrs. Philip Novak, Newton, co-chairman; Mrs. Maxwell Smith, Newton, and Mrs. Samuel Andelman, Newton.

TB And Health Group Wants Volunteers

The Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association has announced that additional volunteers are urgently needed to assist in preparing for the 1966 Christmas Seal campaign. Typists are especially needed, as well as individuals to hand-address cards, address envelopes, insert stamps and do other relatively simple but time consuming jobs which are vital to the program.

Volunteers who are interested in helping are asked to call BI 4-9111 any day, Monday through Friday.

The work of volunteers helps to save lives by enabling the Tuberculosis Association to extend its services to all residents of Newton. The annual sale of Christmas Seals is the sole support of the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association, which maintains year-round programs of health education, case finding, rehabilitation, and medical research.

Auto Bumpers For Campaign

CHICAGO (UPI) — Running for office? Lots of people do it on the highways.

"Jones for Congress," "Smith for Governor," "Green for Sheriff" — Such signs decorate (if that's the word) the nation's roadways.

But it's not only billboards or signposts. Take a look at the bumpers.

Advertising specialists say one third of our passenger cars will carry bumper stickers for at least one political hopeful before their owners go to the polls in November.

That's 25 million cars. It's the enterprising candidate who will have his name bumping along the highways, say the promoters of same. They claim each sticker — which can be as cheap as four cents — is seen by 2,000 people. And theoretically at least, the bumper space is free.

Women Voters Campaign For Ballot Issues

The Newton League of Women Voters is continuing its all-out effort to acquaint the public with the facts on Questions 1, 2 and 4. These are three of the referenda which will appear on the November ballot, and the League is stumping for a "yes" vote on all three of these questions which have the endorsement of both political parties.

Passage of Question 1 would mean that the governor and the lieutenant governor would be elected on the same ballot.

Passage of Question 2, the Executive Reorganization Amendment, would provide a procedure for the governor to submit to the Legislature proposals for reorganizing the executive branch.

Passage of Question 4, the Home Rule Amendment, would give to the cities and towns of Massachusetts the right of self-government in purely local matters along with the power and procedures to make local charter changes.

The Newton League of Women Voters, as part of its campaign to ensure a "yes" vote on Questions 1, 2 and 4, plans from now through Election Day to distribute flyers at MBTA stations and supermarkets, and to disseminate factual information to a large segment of the population through speaking engagements.

For any further information in regard to the referenda questions, or for an informed speaker to appear at an organization or group meeting, please call Mrs. Edward Stoler at 969-6938.

House-Maid Is Pistol Whipped In Local Break

A bold, vicious thief who mercilessly pistol-whipped a defenseless maid was sought by Newton police this week in the weekend robbery of the Oak Hill home of a shoe manufacturer.

Carrie Daniels, 53, maid in the home of Saul Shain on Bald Pate Hill road, suffered cuts and bruises about her head inflicted by the man who bound and gagged her on a bed. She was treated at Newton-Wellesley Hospital for her wounds.

Police said the maid looked at photos on file at police headquarters in an effort to identify her assailant.

The intruder entered the home shortly after 7 p.m. Saturday night and surprised Miss Daniels in her room while she was watching television.

The maid told police she thought there were two men involved but she saw only her assailant. She said when she asked him how he gained entrance, he replied: "We had a key."

She estimated the intruder was in the house about an hour-and-a-half. She was discovered, still bound and gagged, when Shain returned home shortly after midnight. Shain, president of the Haverhill Shoe Co., told police suits valued at over $2100 were taken but was unable to give police a complete list of what else was taken from the house.

The wires of six of seven telephones throughout the house were cut. Also, one of Shain's cars was taken from the garage.

Newton police found the car abandoned about 11 p.m. and went to the Shain home to check. They left after repeated knocking elicited no response.

Sgt. William Nally and John Kennedy, Officers Donald G. Crehan and Robert J. Warren and Insp. Leonard C. Farrell investigated.

Tree Planted At City Hall Marks U.N. Day Observance

Mayor Monte G. Basbas led a delegation of representatives of Newton's World Affairs Council in a tree planting on the City Hall grounds recently.

In line with Mayor Basbas' emphasis on beautifying City open spaces, the group united beautification with the City's observance of United Nations Day—October 28th—and planted a sturdy maple for the enjoyment of future generations of visitors to the Hall.

It is the hope of the U. N. Day Committee that the United Nations itself will continue to grow and develop in its educational, charitable and philanthropic work throughout the world.

Winding up the City's celebration of U.N. Day will be the annual banquet at South High School on October 28, which will feature Attorney General Edward Brooke and former Governor Endicott Peabody as speakers.

Taking part in the tree planting ceremony were:

Mrs. Nicholas C. Avery, Secy., World Affairs Council; Mrs. Melvin I. Shoul, Bd. of Directors, World Affairs Council; Mrs. Stanley Lampert, treasurer, World Affairs Council; Mrs. Paul G. Myerson, chairman, United Nations Day Committee and Vice President, World Affairs Council; State Representative Theodore D. Mann, Board of Directors, World Affairs Council; Alderman William Lane Bruce, former President, World Affairs Council; Irving Fishman, President, World Affairs Council and State Representative; and Newton Mayor Monte G. Basbas.

A notice that the first of the dinner meetings will be held Thursday, Nov. 3, at 6 p.m. in the Highlands Restaurant, 1114 Beacon st., Newton Highlands, was given each member of the Board at last Monday's Aldermanic meeting.

The notice requests that each member indicate his choice of the following: Boneless breast of chicken, broiled chopped sirloin, broiled halibut or swordfish or baked stuffed shrimp.

President Wendell R. Bauckman said the city would pay the cost of the food.

The meetings are the result of discussions the Mayor has had with the Board and are expected to be held on the Thursday evening before the first Monday meeting of each month.

Resolution To Reduce School Bus Fares Held

A resolution reducing school bus fares from 20 to 15 cents was tabled by the Board of Aldermen Monday night after the chairman of the Committee on Education was in the process of preparing a report on the matter.

The resolution was introduced by Alderman Alan S. Barkin who said the recent increase in bus fares from 12½ cents to 20 cents "represents a 75 per cent increase at a time when the costs of living are going up at an alarming rate."

Barkin's resolution further demanded that the "Mayor, the Board of Aldermen and the School Committee" take immediate steps to reduce the present fare to 15 cents a ride and to "appropriate a sufficient sum of money to effect such a reduction." The appropriation, if granted, would be $25,000.

On August, faced with a cut in subsidy from the MBTA for the M&B bus service in Newton, the School Committee upped the fare of one ticket from 12½ cents to 20 cents.

The resolution was tabled on a 16 to 6 vote, with two members absent.

HUB REVOKES HIGHER PARKING FINES

THE BOSTON Parking Commission Wednesday dropped its plan to sharply increase fines for illegal parking. The five-member board voted unanimously to kill the plan, which had come under attack from truckers, merchants and other sources.

The commission said it would work to increase the enforcement powers of its meter maids. At present the maids may ticket only those cars which are parked overtime at meters.

DRAFT FOE BANISHED WHILE LBJ VISITS

A WATERTOWN man who threatened to "destroy" President Johnson if forced into military service, was warned by a judge Wednesday to stay out of Boston next week when the President was expected here to campaign for Democrats.

U.S. Dist. Judge Charles E. Wyzanski Jr. ordered David B. Wood, 22, released in $1,000 bail on a charge of failing to submit to induction in the armed services. An innocent plea was entered on behalf of Wood, a former resident of Boulder, Col.

The judge refused to order Wood committed for mental tests, but warned him to stay in Watertown or in Lynn and Bedford, where he works, during the presidential visit.

BARON SEEKS $100,000 BAIL SLASH

A WRIT was filed in Boston's U.S. District Court Wednesday seeking a reduction in bail for Joseph Baron, alias Joseph Barboza, who has been publicly branded as "one of the killers of the Commonwealth."

The writ argued that the $100,000 bail in which Baron is held is tantamount to being held without bail. Baron's attorney said the high bail deprived Baron of his rights under the Eighth Amendment.

COMSAT "SWITCHBOARD" SATELLITE LAUNCHED

THE UNITED STATES launched a "Pacific Star" communications satellite at Cape Kennedy Wednesday night to wind up a doubleheader that began 12 hours earlier when a Centaur rocket scored a breakthrough for later flights to the moon and planets.

The new switchboard satellite was aimed toward an eventual stationary orbit high over the Pacific Ocean to forge the first space-born commercial telephone and television link between the U.S. mainland, Hawaii and Southeast Asia.

After reaching a preliminary orbit the Comsat satellite was scheduled to coast three days before ground stations trigger a small onboard rocket to kick it into its final orbit.

SHEPPARD RETRIAL JURY COMPLETED

A TEMPORARY jury panel was completed Wednesday in the second murder trial of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard. The defense indicated it would try to prove by circumstantial evidence that someone else killed Sheppard's first wife.

Defense counsel F. Lee Bailey of Boston asked two women — who became temporary jurors No. 11 and No. 12 — whether they would accept circumstantial evidence pointing to someone other than the defendant as the killer of Marilyn Sheppard in 1954. They said they could.

BP. PIKE HERESY INQUIRY DELAYED

THE RIGHT REV. John E. Hines, presiding bishop of the Episcopal Church, said in Wheeling, W. Va., Wednesday night that he will delay in appointing a committee of bishops to investigate heresy charges brought against Bp. James A. Pike. "I think a little cooling off period will do us all good," he said. "Somehow, I hope all this can be settled short of a heresy trial, which I would deplore very greatly."

VIET PILOTS AMONG CARRIER FIRE DEAD

A SEARING magnesium-fed fire raged through five decks of the big U.S. aircraft carrier Oriskany off the North Viet Nam coast Wednesday, killing 43 officers and men and injuring 16 others in the war's worst naval tragedy. A number of the dead were pilots who had braved Communist fire during bombing raids over North Viet Nam just a few hours before.

Skipper of the Oriskany is Capt. John Iarrobino, 46, a native of Newton. He took command of the carrier last March from his brother, Capt. Charles Iarrobino. Both are Boston College graduates.

LBJ TO GI'S: 'WE WON'T LET YOU DOWN'

PRESIDENT JOHNSON slipped secretly into Viet Nam Wednesday and walked in shirtsleeves among Americans fighting the war to give them the thanks of a grateful nation and the pledge "we shall never let you down."

Johnson was in and out within two hours and 24 minutes, possibly before Communist forces even knew he was there.

The President visited the wounded, joked with GI's, ate with non-coms, decorated a general, distributed 24 Purple Hearts as well as four Distinguished Service Crosses and one Navy Cross for valor in combat.

NATO COUNCIL WILL MOVE TO BRUSSELS

NATO's Permanent Council decided Wednesday to move its headquarters from Paris to Brussels, Belgium. The council is the core of the organization and serves as its political arm. French President Charles de Gaulle had sought to retain the council in France, but his wishes were ignored.

Mayor Blasts Hike Set In County Assessments

Mayor Monte G. Basbas today blasted the Middlesex County Commissioners for their "indifference" to his request for an explanation of a sharp increase in the county assessment Newton must pay.

Basbas declared that he had the city assessors write to the County Commissioners last August asking the reason for the jump in the assessment upon Newton.

The only reply he received, the Mayor reported angrily, was a notice from the county treasurer that Newton would be charged 12 percent interest if it fails to pay the $1,323,229 county assessment by next Tuesday (Nov. 1).

"What amazes and appalls me," asserted Basbas, "is the indifference of these commissioners to a request for an explanation for Newton's taxpayers and citizens of the increased county assessment they must pay."

REV. ROBERT L. GRIESSE

Pastor To Be Installed At Sunday Rites

The Rev. Robert L. Griesse will be installed as pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Newtons, Newton Corner, at a 4:00 p.m. service on Sunday, October 30th.

Installation rites will be conducted by Rev. Andrew R. Finger, pastor of the Framingham Lutheran Church, and Counselor of Boston West Circuit.

Rev. Richard E. Koenig, pastor of Immanuel Lutheran Church of Amherst, Mass., will preach.

Pastor Griesse was ordained into the ministry in 1952 in Kansas City, Mo., where he served as assistant pastor of Immanuel Lutheran Church following his graduation from Concordia Seminary, St. Louis. Since 1956

PASTOR (See Page 25)

Basbas said the explanation was sought because the county assessment has almost doubled since 1960 and is 34 percent greater this year than it was last year.

He also complained that the Middlesex and Essex County Commissioners were the only County Commissioners in the Commonwealth who did not file a budget with the State, as required by law, showing the estimated county receipts and expenditures.

Mayor Basbas declared that the actual county assessment this year was $254,575 more than the amount estimated on the State's cherry sheet. The latter incorrect figure was used in computing the city's 1966 tax rate.

The Mayor said that the county assessment imposed on Newton last year was $988,969 but that the amount jumped to $1,323,229 this year, a rise of $334,259.

However, the estimated county assessment on the State cherry sheet, which provided the basis for the tabulation of Newton's tax rate this year, was $1,056,385.

This means, Basbas pointed out, that Newton must raise $266,844 in its tax levy next year to cover the amount by which the county assessment was underestimated this year.

Sees $7 Jump Here If Sales Tax Goes

Mayor Monte G. Basbas estimated that Newton's tax rate will jump $7.50 next year if the 3 percent limited sales tax should be repealed.

Basbas made that estimate as he strongly urged Newton residents to vote "Yes" on Question 5 in the Nov. 8 election.

At the same time Basbas sharply criticized those trying to mislead the voting public by seeking to create the false impression that the issue involved in Question 5 is a choice between a sales tax and no tax at all.

"Nothing could be further from the fact and the truth," Mayor Basbas declared.

"In all probability, the choice involved in Question 5 is between a sales tax and a big increase in the State income tax," Basbas observed.

"I believe the State Legislature would consider it absolutely essential to enact a

Ecumenical Church Plan Lags Says Speaker Here

A world leader in shaping new forms of united Protestant groups told a West Newton church organization last Sunday that Vatican II's momentum needs help.

Rev. Douglas Horton, D.D., Congregational Church observer at the Second Vatican Council, said that the world took for granted that ecumenical dialogues would take place without injuring the communities of Christians.

"To date," he said, "relatively few conversations between communities have been set up."

In his talk, "Looking Ahead from Vatican II," given at the fall series of shared pulpits at the First Unitarian Society in Newton, Dr. Horton said that when it comes to church unity, "it is the denominations that will make their own decisions as to their relationships with others."

He pointed out that a French Protestant order of monks prays for the Pope, Roman Catholic bishops and for others not of their own order, looking toward the day when they all shall be one.

Dr. Horton of Randolph, N. H., is author of "Vatican Diary," an account of the Rome meeting. He is married to the former Mildred McAfee, former president of Wellesley College and World War II head of the WAVES.

In referring to the Vatican meeting, Dr. Horton told the congregation that "again and again on the floor of St. Peter's it was remarked that the formula for the church of the future would be diversity within unity."

He declared that neither the Roman Catholic church, nor its Protestant opposites, are going to give up any features of their lives which they feel to be valuable.

"It is at this point that perhaps the Unitarian-Universalist communion can be of greatest aid to us, for it is sensitive to freedom. It will be necessary for you to remember that the most part of Christendom is extremely conservative, you will receive, as you have received, countless rebuffs from Christians who think they know all about you but really know very little," he concluded.

Dr. Horton's appearance in the "New Frontiers in Religion" program was the first of three shared pulpit programs. Dr. Leslie T. Pennington, minister of the West Newton church, led an open discussion following the talk.

Next program in the series will be Sunday, Nov. 13, when Rabbi Jacob J. Weinstein of Chicago will present a Jewish view of the ecumenical movement.

Ben Cohen To Be Honored At Dinner Nov. 10

Benjamin Cohen of Newton will be honored at a testimonial dinner on Thursday evening, November 10, to mark his long participation in the Israel Histadrut movement, Alexander Shapiro of Newton, announced today.

The "Ben Cohen Testimonial Dinner" at Sidney Hill Country Club, will launch Histadrut's 43rd annual fund-raising campaign. Cohen is chairman of the Businessmen's Division of the Greater Boston Israel Histadrut Committee.

The 18-room clinic honors their parents who had earlier donated a sports stadium in Safed.

For many years, Ben Cohen alternated with his brother as chairman of the annual benefit concert program of the Greater Boston Israel Histadrut Committee.

"... A member of Congress today... needs limitless endurance; he must be endlessly diligent; he should take with him to Washington experience varied enough to enable him to represent the best interests of his district... This district needs a Congressman of major stature. It can have one if it elects a candidate whose merit and ability are already demonstrated..."

"... We urge the voters to send Patrick H. Harrington to represent them in Congress."

Freedman Gives Endorsement To Irving Fishman

Former School Committee Chairman Haskell C. Freedman has endorsed Rep. Irving Fishman for re-election to the Massachusetts House of Representatives.

Freedman is a Republican and Fishman a Democrat. Freedman expressed the opinion that Rep. Fishman has done an excellent job, in a non-partisan way, during his service in the State Legislature. Freedman further said he was pleased to endorse Fishman's candidacy for re-election this year.

Rep. Irving Fishman was a teaching fellow at Boston University Law School, where he was also a senior editor of the B.U. Law Review. A former staff attorney at the Boston Legal Aid Society, Fishman was a Junior Bar officer of the Boston Bar Association.

Attorney Fishman did post-graduate work at the Harvard Law School and was a special assistant to the Foreign Claims Settlement Commission of the United States.

Fishman, who is one of the most respected members of the State Legislature, is running for re-election in the fifth Middlesex district, which consists of Wards 5, 6, 7 and 8 of Newton, comprising Newton Centre, Newton Corner, Newton Highlands, Oak Hill, Chestnut Hill, Waban and Newton Upper Falls.

Open House For Dieters Who Like Their Food

Those who wish to diet and at the same time enjoy good foods and proper eating habits should be interested in an open house for waist watchers to be held in the Diet Workshop of Newton Community Center, 429 Cherry St., West Newton, on Thursday evening, Nov. 3, at 8 o'clock.

The program offers a high protein diet dressed up with low-calorie goodies to make food more appealing. Group members do not take any form of weight-reducing medication, nor do they skip meals. Exercising may be done for firming and toning. The word "calories" is replaced by "portion."

Not a crash program, it is based on the diet of Dr. Joliffe, director of the Bureau of Nutrition, New York Department of Health.

There are available recipes for diet pizzas, Chinese food, and blintzes, among others. Successful graduates become eligible for a free maintenance program. Males and females, teenage or adult, are encouraged to attend the "Open House" and learn about the Center's Diet Workshop — Waist Watcher's group.

Note 'Yes' On Question 5

One of the most important matters the voters will decide when they go to their polling places in the Nov. 8 election is whether the 3 per cent limited sales tax will be retained or repealed.

A "Yes" vote on Question 5 will retain the sales tax. A "No" vote will repeal it.

Those who would like to wipe out the sales tax have sought to create the impression that the choice is between the sales tax and no tax at all.

That, of course, is neither the fact nor the truth. If the sales tax should be wiped out, the money it now yields would have to be raised in some other manner—either by doubling the State income tax or by increasing real estate taxes.

One of the basic objectives behind the drive for the passage of the limited sales tax was to lighten the tax burden on real estate in order to create a better economic climate, to encourage the expansion of industrial plants and to attract new industry and business so that more jobs and employment opportunities would be available.

The sales tax has done that. It has checked the climb of real estate tax rates. It has helped to create an economic climate in which many thousands of new jobs have developed across the State.

Do we now want to scrap the sales tax, turn back the clock and forget about the need for jobs for our people? That obviously would be disastrous to the economy of the Commonwealth and the economy of the Commonwealth and the economic well-being of its citizens.

There are two alternatives. We can keep the sales tax. Or we can repeal the sales tax and double the State income tax in order to get the revenue which would be lost by wiping out the limited sales tax.

A big majority of the people have made it very plain when they were polled on the matter that they preferred the limited sales tax to a big boost in the State income tax. And that is really the issue involved in Question 5.

Some people say the sales tax is a nuisance. In a sense it is a nuisance to have a few pennies added to the cost when you're buying things which are subject to the tax.

But it's more painless paying the tax in pennies than in dollars.

And it's a lot less painless than seeing industries leave Massachusetts and jobs wiped out because companies decided to move to another state with lower tax rates and a better economic climate.

A "Yes" vote on Question 5 is a vote to keep on paying the sales tax. But it's also a vote to protect and promote jobs and safeguard the prosperity of our Commonwealth and our citizens.

A PICTURE THAT MADE HISTORY — Lieutenant Governor Elliot L. Richardson, candidate for Attorney General, shown on a jeep in Paris on Aug. 25, 1944, the day the French capital was liberated. Richardson, who was wounded twice in the Normandy landing, was a member of the first American unit to enter Paris as the resisting Germans retreated. In his lap is a little fox terrier he retrieved from a deserted farmyard at Mortain after one of the fiercest battles of World War II.

Newton Litterbugs

Editor of The Graphic:
Thoughtless residents from good homes and educated families, as well as other citizens, are scattering litter throughout our city.

We ask them please not to throw empty ice cream cartons, empty beer bottles and cigarette butts on our highways, in our streets or on our front lawns. Put them in trash containers, and help keep Newton clean.

City Beautification Committee.

Win The War

Editor of The Graphic:

It's time to return to the American Way.

We still have a "No Win" team in Washington. I agree 100 percent with "Ike" that you either win or lose a war. (We win the wars and lose the peace) NO "pantywaist" in between.

What's wrong with our soft luxury loving-social security infested country. Do we or don't we want "Peace with Honor."

Let's start dividing the "men from the boys" (includes the ladies from the female children) and not only WIN the war but then WIN the peace.

MILTON W. HEATH.

PTA Fund Raising

Editor of The Graphic:
I, Claire Arafé, would like to second the motion made by Mrs. B. D. Wright in last week's Newton Graphic.

How many pairs of drapes, televisions and tape recorders do the PTA's have to buy? Eliminate all fun raising activities from PTA's, and then there will be time for these groups to get involved with bus complaints, single session issues and a few other problems.

Perhaps the reason there are so many emotionally disturbed children in Newton is because the parents and teachers are always meeting, and the children are running around loose.

Newton Highlands

Editor of The Graphic:

At the annual meeting of the Highland Glee Club of Newton, held in the rehearsal room of Newton Centre Methodist Church, I, as secretary, was instructed by vote of the club to write to you expressing the club's gratitude for the generous amount of space given the Christmas and spring concerts of the past season, held in Meadowbrook Junior High School.

In each of our semi-annual concerts we have sung to larger audiences, many of whose members attended after reading about the Highland Glee Club activities in The Newton Graphic.

Please accept the thanks of our club for your interest and cooperation in making our performances successful.

Interfaith Panel Set For First Baptist Church

The November meeting of the Woman's Union of the First Baptist Church in Newton will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 2, at 7:45 p.m.

The worship service will be "Worship in Music" presented by Mrs. Edward A. Estaver.

The program will be an interfaith panel, discussing "The Constant Quest." Churches and synagogues are searching daily for ways to bring hope and meaning to lives where there is little of either. Women are on a constant quest for ways to use their full abilities. The leader of the panel will be Mrs. James H. Burns, national program chairman of the American Baptist Women, a former member and past president of the Woman's Union.

While she was in Newton she was president of the United Church Women of Newton and Massachusetts State Chairman of Programs. Mrs. Burns' husband, the Reverend James H. Burns, is now Field Representative for retirement projects with the Division of Health and Social Ministries of the American Baptist Home Mission Society. They have one daughter, Bonney, a junior at Ohio State University. They live in Teaneck, N. J., and are members of the Riverside Church in New York City.

Following the program, refreshments will be served by the members of Deborah and Lydia Circles. There will be guests from nine Newton area churches and synagogues.

Kathryn J. Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Morgan, Lowell Ave., Newtonville, and Gail Macey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Macey, Normandy Rd., Auburndale, are members of the Orphean Club at Lassell Junior College, the choral group directed by James H. Remley of Randlett Pk., West Newton.

Political Highlights

It's entirely possible that everybody is telling the truth to the best of his individual recollection as to who said what to McCormack at about this time in 1962.

The thing is that the average person can't remember precisely what he said and did four years ago. Some of us can't recall exactly what we said and did last month, much less in the fall of 1962.

Both Volpe and McCormack have reputations of being honorable, truthful men. It's highly improbable that either of the two would make a deliberate misstatement.

This writer can report that relations between Volpe and McCormack were warm and cordial during the two-year period the two men served as Governor and Attorney General respectively. A high degree of cooperation existed between their offices and their staffs.

In the fall of 1962 McCormack was a lame duck Attorney General. He had been defeated by Senator Edward M. Kennedy in the Democratic primary, and he was going out of office at the end of his term.

It's completely possible and even probable that someone close to Volpe told McCormack that Volpe would appoint him to any position he wanted, including a Superior Court judgeship.

That would be a natural and normal thing to say in view of the friendly relations which existed between Volpe and McCormack at the time.

But what does it prove? Nobody claims that Volpe actually offered McCormack any judgeship, or that he authorized such an offer or that he had any knowledge of the conversation which transpired between McCormack and who ever talked with McCormack.

McCormack for his part apparently dismissed the talk lightly. He was planning to return to the private practice of law when he completed his service as Attorney General, and he was not interested in being made a judge.

In fact, a few months later, when Endicott Peabody was Governor, he offered McCormack a judgeship, and McCormack declined it.

The guessing is that if McCormack had been interested in a judgeship, the person who talked with McCormack would have gone to Volpe, told him of his conversation with McCormack, and Volpe probably would have offered McCormack a judgeship — if he had one to offer.

However, McCormack was not interested, and the matter presumably died during the conversation which reportedly occurred in McCormack's office.

Now the alleged offer of a judgeship has become a hotly debated issue in the gubernatorial struggle between two men who were personal friends four years ago even though dent Johnson and House Speaker John W. McCormack are close personal and political friends, and it is taken for granted that Johnson will do everything he can to help the Speaker's nephew.

How much help the President will be to former Attorney General McCormack probably will depend on how high Johnson's popularity is at the time of his visit.

Meanwhile, the hard-working Volpe is mustering all his political strength and support in his attempt to beat back McCormack's challenge.

The stakes for Volpe are extremely high in his present fight.

While little is being said about it, the fact is that Volpe will move into the forefront as a Republican Presidential prospect for 1968 if he wins reelection in a basically Democratic State.

The fights between Attorney General Edward W. Brooke and ex-Governor Endicott Peabody for a seat in the U.S. Senate and between Lieutenant Governor Elliot L. Richardson and former Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti for the Attorney Generalship now shape up as extremely close.

Brooke appears to have picked up strength and support and to have softened the impact of the white backlash since he began speaking out forcefully against Negro rioting and civil disobedience.

There seems to be a growing public impression that Brooke as a United States Senator might be a potent force to quiet Negro unrest and to discourage Negro violence.

Peabody has been conducting a dull, listless, unexciting campaign, avoiding controversy and combat and making only a mediocre impression when he has appeared on television.

He has done nothing to attract any new support, and some of his old support has slipped away.

In the final analysis the outcome of the Brooke-Peabody struggle will be determined by the extent to which Peabody is helped by the white backlash and the degree to which Brooke is hurt by it.

Richardson seems to have closed in on Bellotti and to be running about even with him as the two battle almost neck-and-neck in the most hard-hitting of all the election contests.

Bellotti appeared to be leading Richardson in the weeks immediately after the primary, but polls show that Richardson has been gaining ground.

Richardson has a reputation as a strong finisher in political campaigns. He came from behind to defeat John W. Costello for the Lieutenant Governorship two years ago, and his campaign strategists predict he will do the same thing in his present race with Bellotti.

The Attorney General contest is no place for a candidate whose feelings bruise easily.

Richardson, for example, has characterized Bellotti as "a self-seeking opportunist."

A newsman, interviewing Richardson, pointed out to him that he had said repeatedly that the office of Attorney General is too important to be handed over "to self-seeking opportunists."

"Are you suggesting that your opponent falls into this category?" Richardson was asked.

"I am," Richardson replied. "I am suggesting that nothing in his public record points to anything but the utilization of his public position as a springboard for his own political advancement."

An extraordinary interchange occurred when Bellotti was being interviewed by a team of reporters from the Boston Globe.

Bellotti said he was prepared to abide by the $150,000 campaign spending limitation proposed by Senator Edward M. Kennedy. He declared that he would allow a certified public accountant appointed by Richardson to examine his records provided Richardson permitted an accountant named by Bellotti to examine his records.

A Globe newsman then pointed out to Bellotti that his contributors were sending their checks to the Democratic State Committee as are the donors to the campaign chests of the other Democratic candidates for state-wide offices.

"How do we find out who are the contributors that you solicited, and the money that you spend as opposed to the contributors of . . . ?" asked the reporter.

"Because they will be on the record of the State Committee," responded Bellotti.

"I don't believe that at all," said the newsman.

"Well, I don't care what you believe," declared Bellotti. "You can believe anything you want."

That's an unusual bit of dialogue in a taped and published interview. It reflects the tense feeling being engendered by the clash for the right to serve as the next Attorney General.

Fernandes in Big Bid For Treasurer Post

Joseph E. Fernandes, the supermarket magnate, is now making a big drive for election as State Treasurer.

Fernandes has been in and out of the newspaper headlines. For a time it appeared that some of the political writers were going out of their way to hurl a few blasts in his direction. But at least there are few voters in the Commonwealth who haven't heard of him.

Mr. Fernandes has been completely exonerated by the

Lee Loumos Says:

This seems to be an era of planned confusion. The news emanating from Washington has me on a mental yo-yo. Is the Vietnamese war almost won, or are we at the beginning of a long campaign? Has the stock market hit near bottom or is it starting a rally? Are prices leveling off or just beginning to really rise? Are we enjoying prosperity or are we in a recession? Is money tightening or soon to get easier? Etc., etc., etc. Even in my own business, as I read the come-on advertisements, I would be led to believe that prices are soft and supplies of color TV will be plentiful if I didn't know better. Of one thing I am sure, however, and that is you can't sell color with a black and white service approach. Competent technicians must take the proper time and pains to set up your color TV so you can enjoy the performance you thought you bought. And that's why more and more people are buying their color TV sets from Lee Loumos, where there is no confusion about service.

Newtonville Women Looking Forward To Flying Objects Talk

A subject of intense interest, "Unidentified Flying Objects," will be explored in depth by Streeter Stuart, TV news commentator, at the Nov. 1 meeting of the Newtonville Women's Club in the parish house of St. John's Church, Lowell Ave.

Mr. Stuart has made an exhaustive study of these objects, and will give a first-hand report of sightings, possible reasons for secrecy, accounts of eyewitnesses, and attitude of our Air Force and scientists. Because of its importance this is an open meeting, and Mrs. Charles W. Tenney, program chairman, invites all interested persons to attend.

The 1:30 p.m. coffee hour, with Mrs. Walter E. Brown, Mrs. George A. Savage, and Miss Angela Murray pouring, offers an opportunity for fellowship and renewing acquaintance. Hostesses for the day are Mrs. Joseph L. Sevigny and Mrs. John F. Farrington. The regular business session at 2 p.m., conducted by the president, Mrs. Charles W. Laffin, will be short in order to allow all possible time for the speaker.

The club is fortunate in having many talented members, and, as an added feature, several of their hobbies will be on view. There will be an Art Corner, and the afghans and bags made by the members for the Veterans' Hospital will be presented. Mrs. Raymond W. Scribner heads this worthwhile project.

The Ways and Means Committee, under Mrs. Farrington, is continuing its custom of home bridges, the first of which was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Laffin. But on Nov. 15 there will be a bridge party and fashion show at the parish house, with fashions by Gertrude of Newtonville.

International Yule Bazaar On Next Weekend

The Guild of St. Francis, Sacred Heart Parish, will hold a Christmas Around the World Bazaar in the Bishop MacKenzie Center, 1321 Centre street, Newton Centre, Friday evening, Nov. 4 at 7, and Saturday, Nov. 5, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Featured will be gift and specialty items from Ireland, Italy, Germany, Hawaii and France plus an old fashioned country store — all sure to delight every age and fancy.

David Omar White, a director of the Newton Workshop, will be available with brush and ink to sketch all the family.

Luncheon will be served from noon to 2 p.m. Supper, under the capable direction of Mrs. Isabel Melville, will take place between the hours of 6 and 7:30 p.m.

Ground Is Broken for New Jordan Marsh Base Store

Ground was broken Monday to launch construction of the new Jordan Marsh Basement Store in Shopper's World, Framingham. This will be the first of a number of Jordan Basement Stores to be built in the New England area.

Participating in the ground-breaking ceremonies were William P. Reed, president of Jordan Marsh; Jay Jacobson, vice president of Jordan's; Perry Henderson, chairman of the Board of Selectmen in Framingham; and George E. Shrigley, vice president and general manager of Shopper's World.

Located at the opposite end of the mall from the existing Jordan Marsh building, the new Basement Store, which will occupy 80,000 square feet, is expected to be open next July.

"This new store represents an additional phase of our expansion program," declared Reed. "We are now embarking on a program to bring to our suburban markets the Jordan Marsh Basement Store, which will follow the same merchandising pattern developed by the Boston Basement Store."

"It will carry full and diversified lines of apparel and furnishings for men, women and children. This store will make it possible for residents of the greater Framingham area to enjoy the same wide scope of price lines currently found only at the Jordan Marsh store in Boston."

"The new building, soon to be completed here at Shopper's World, will stand as another symbol of the faith and confidence Jordan Marsh has in the continued economic growth of this area."

Shrigley served as master of ceremonies and pointed out that "it was only fitting that Shopper's World be the first in which Jordan Marsh will build its first suburban Great Basement Store, since this center was the first planned shopping center in the East."

"I know that all the merchants at Shopper's World are eagerly looking forward to the opening of this Basement Store which will help round out the extensive merchandise assortment and price ranges available at the center. This new Jordan Marsh store, in addition to its merchandising appeal, will be another major factor in balancing the traffic flow within the center complex."

Chairman of Selectmen Henderson stated that "with the start of this new Basement Store for Jordan Marsh, Shopper's World continues to grow with our community and continues to serve the shopping needs of our residents completely."

"As chairman of the Board of Selectmen in Framingham, it is my privilege to speak for the Town in welcoming this further Jordan Marsh expansion and to say that this growth further demonstrates Shopper's World's faith in the future of the Framingham area."

Talk By Head Of Friendly Visitors At St. Philip Neri

"Adventures in Friendship" will be the topic of Mrs. William J. Toy of Wellesley who will speak at the meeting of the Guild of St. Philip Neri on Wednesday, Nov. 2, following the 9 o'clock Mass.

Mrs. Toy is president of "The Friendly Visitors," a volunteer group in operation since 1948. Its members are interested in befriending women offenders confined in the correctional institution at Framingham.

Following a light lunch, there will be demonstrations of the making of decorations, and articles will be on sale at a Christmas gift table.

Free Library Features Books For Children

The Newton Free Library is participating in the 1966 celebration of National Children's Book Week by displaying some of the best of the books published for children during 1966, as well as many old favorites.

The main Boys' and Girls' Library at 126 Vernon St., Newton Corner, and the 10 branch libraries will have books for children from nursery age to junior high school, as well as books of interest to parents and teachers.

Children's books written by Newton authors are featured in a special display at the main Boys' and Girls' Library. Among them are "ONCE THERE WAS AND WAS NOT," a book of Armenian folk tales by Virginia A. Tashjian, storyteller and a branch librarian in the Newton Free Library. Mrs. Tashjian's book, published by Little, Brown and Company, is illustrated by Nonny Hogrogian, winner of the 1966 Caldecott Award for "the most distinguished picture book for children published in the United States during the preceding year. Miss Hogrogian's winning book is "ALWAYS ROOM FOR ONE MORE," written by Sorche Nic Leodhas and published by Holt, Rinehart and Winston.

The donor of the Caldecott Medal and one of the founders of Children's Book Week was Frederic Melcher, well-known publisher, who, as a boy, attended the old Mason School in Newton Centre.

All boys and girls of Newton as well as parents and teachers are invited to visit the Book Week displays in the libraries of Newton.

The Boys' and Girls' Library is open Monday through Saturday from 9:00 a.m. until 6:00 p.m. For further information, call 527-1213.

Sportscaster To Be Speaker For Jaycees' Dinner

The Newton Jaycees today announced that Dom Valentino, the voice of the Boston College Eagles, will be the featured speaker at their November 1st dinner meeting. Mr. Valentino graduated from Boston University in 1962, was formerly the Boston Patriots football announcer, and is presently the sports director of station WCOP.

Along with Mr. Valentino, the Jaycees will have as their guests, two members of the Massachusetts State Jaycees Board of Officers.

The dinner meeting will be held on Tuesday, November 1st at 7 p.m. at the Blue Bell Restaurant, 266 Walnut street, Newtonville. All young men interested in community service are invited to attend.

"Cold War" Vets May Now Secure All Service Benefits

Carlton P. Merrill, Newton director of Veterans' Services, announced this week that effective December 9, 1966, veterans who have served more than 180 days on active duty in the armed forces of the United States between February 1, 1955, and the termination of the Vietnam campaign, as declared by Federal authority, will be eligible to file for benefits under the Veterans' Services program of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

The present program has provided eligibility for veteran and veterans dependent of Spanish American War, World War I, World War II and the Korean War with the last date for eligibility for Korean veterans being January 31, 1955.

In 1966 an inclusion was made in Chapter 115 of the General Laws which determined eligibility for those veterans who had served in Vietnam and received the Vietnam service medal.

This newly enacted Chapter 716 was passed by the General Court in September, 1966, and signed by Governor John A. Volpe on September 9, 1966, said change to take effect in 90 days, December 9, 1966.

Mr. Merrill states that under the new provisions that all veterans who have served for more than 180 days on active duty became eligible to file for Veterans' Services benefits regardless of service in Viet Nam or not.

"While this change will certainly broaden the area of service rendered by the Veterans' Services Department and will bring about an increased operational cost in the benefits program, this change is most welcome as now all men and women who have served their country in times of war or during the "cold war" period will be eligible to make application for benefits under our program regardless of the dates of service. The same application of Chapter 115 of the General Laws will apply to all with need having to be established before benefits will be provided.

"We shall be pleased to discuss any areas of need with eligible individuals trusting that all will bear in mind that our area of assistance is not to be confused with the federal Veterans program under the Veterans Administration," Mr. Merrill concluded.

Baptists Urged To Help Expand All Missions

Bay State Baptist clergy and lay leaders launched the $1,058,000 World Mission campaign last Monday evening at a dinner at which the keynote speaker was the Rev. Dr. George W. Peck, Dean of Andover Newton Theological School.

Also taking part was the Rev. Dr. Harold Malmberg of Newton Centre.

The campaign will benefit missions of the American Baptist Home and Foreign Societies in fulfilling a variety of needs in the areas of preaching, teaching, healing and pioneer ministries here and overseas, Dr. Peck said, and called on Baptists to "unite to meet the challenge and expand Christ's mission effectively in today's world."

Has Senator Beryl Cohen really served the people of Newton?

Here is his voting record:

- HE VOTED AGAINST the Sales Tax ten times, although the recommendations of the Willis Report and an expanded education program could not be financed without it.
- HE VOTED AGAINST appropriations to implement Medicare programs in our State Public Health Hospitals.
- HE VOTED AGAINST a bill endorsed by the Crime Commission, permitting the Attorney General to subpoena certain corporate records.
- HE VOTED AGAINST a bill to eliminate secrecy in the financial affairs of public authorities.
- HE VOTED AGAINST an amendment of joint rules 10 and 12 which would have caused a reduction in the length of legislative sessions.
- HE VOTED AGAINST a bill endorsed by the Crime Commission, to allow appeals by the prosecution in criminal cases, with proper safeguards to the rights of defendants, with the purpose to give the public more protection from the hoodlum element.
- HE VOTED AGAINST providing $120,000 to formulate plans for buildings for night and day mental health treatment for children.
- HE SPONSORED a bill to burn the records of the Crime Commission, although the Commission spent over $500,000 of the taxpayers' money.
- HE VOTED to send the Community Health Center Bill to the Supreme Court, thus killing this thoroughly prepared mental health program.

Is this record in the interest of the people in Newton, Brookline and Brighton?

MRS. DONALD STAHL

Mrs. Stahl To Be Honored At Meeting Nov. 3

Mrs. Donald Stahl, of Newton, will be honored at an open executive board meeting of the Greater Boston Chapter of the American Jewish Committee, Thursday, November 3rd, at the Sidney Hill Country Club.

Louis Milender, chairman of the event, announced that the affair will be open to the entire membership. Samuel Katz, national director of the Community Services Department.

Jean Stahl has often been called "Mrs. American Jewish Committee." For close to twenty years, she has nurtured the Boston Chapter as its Administrative Assistant, helping it grow to more than three thousand members.

Now she is about to retire, with a record of distinguished service to the cause of human relations.

Before starting her professional career with the American Jewish Committee, Mrs. Stahl served as office manager of a district office of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. Shortly afterwards, her desire and commitment to community service drew her to voluntary humanitarian work. For the next fifteen years, she served as a volunteer for the Home for Jewish Children, and the Jewish Family and Children's Service.

While living in Roxbury, she supervised the Associated Jewish Philanthropies drive in that area. Then, at the outbreak of World War II, she assumed charge of the sewing room of the Red Cross Unit at Temple Oheb Shalom, where surgical dressings and garments were made.

Hed administrative and supervisory abilities quickly came to the attention of the U.S. Government, and she then became Secretary and Assistant to the Commanding Officers of the Investigations Division of Military Intelligence.

When the war was over, the Boston Chap. was formed, Mrs. Stahl became its first professional employee. Since then she has served with a distinction and excellence that won her the plaudits and affection of all.

Mrs. Stahl is married to Donald Stahl, a prominent Boston attorney, who has been equally active in community and civic affairs. Reservations may be placed at the office of the AJC, 72 Franklin street, Boston, MA 6-7415.

Mount Alvernia Academy To Open Annual Bazaar Friday

The annual bazaar of Mount Alvernia Academy will be held at the school tomorrow, Friday, October 28, and Saturday and Sunday, October 29 and 30.

Plans for the event were formulated at a coffee hour held at the home of Mrs. John Carty, Chestnut Hill, recently.

According to advance discussion of the bazaar, an unusual program has been arranged, featuring many interesting tables.

Mrs. Andrew McGuerrin will be in charge of a boutique shop. The parcel post office will have packages from all over the country.

Packages have been received from members of the Kennedy family, from Richard Cardinal Cushing, and Mrs. Lady Bird Johnson.

Other tables will include handicrafts, Christmas decorations, knit shop and a sweet shop. The snack bar will be open for business all three days with a seafood Newburg supper being served Friday night.

The bazaar also will include games of all kinds for the children, as well as pony rides. A color television set will be awarded on Sunday, Mrs. Paul Bradbury and Mrs.

Leonard Tocci are bazaar chairmen.

Demetropoulos Art Group Guest

Newton Art Ass'n, Inc., hosts Charles Demetropoulos on Thursday evening, November 3, at 7:30, in Beethoven School, Waban.

A well-known New England artist, Mr. Demetropoulos is a graduate of Mass. College of Art, is a member of Copley Society of Boston, Guild of Boston Artists, Boston Watercolor Society and the Rockport Art Ass'n.

He has exhibited his watercolors at DeCordova Museum, Boston, Cohasset and Jordan Marsh Art Festivals. The public is most welcome to see this fine artist at work.

Lacy Jackson Chapter DAR Rummage Sale

The fall rummage sale of the Lacy Jackson Chapter, DAR, will be held tomorrow (Friday, Oct. 28) from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., in the chapter house at 2349 Washington St., Newton Lower Falls.

The usual assortment of clothing, hats, bags, household goods and miscellaneous articles will be on sale.

Club Members To Present 3 Ski Lectures

The Vorlage Ski Club of Wellesley will present Dick Barrymore, ski film lecturer, with his latest exciting global ski-travel film "A Cool Breath of Fresh Air" on Nov. 4, 5, and 6, at Wellesley Junior High School auditorium. Friday and Saturday nights' performance will start at 8:15, and the Sunday matinee will start at 2.

Widely known in ski circles, Barrymore and his eight-man camera crew were official and exclusive photographers of the FIS World Championship ski races held this August in Portillo, Chile. Audiences will thrill to the pictures of downhill and slalom racing, which were filmed with the helmet-camera especially developed by Barrymore to be worn by world champion skiers while racing at speeds up to 70 mph.

Trains As An Account Executive

Ed. C. Polonsky, 197 Hartman Rd., Newton Centre, has been admitted to the account executive training program of Walston & Co., Inc., one of the nation's largest securities firms.

Polonsky is participating in Walston's six-month training program, the final 10 weeks of which are held in the firm's New York headquarters.

Patrick H. Harrington Backers Predict Win In Congress Race

An "abrupt and revolutionary change in the established voter attitudes and motivations in the 10th Congressional District" will help elect the Democratic candidate, Patrick H. Harrington, to Congress, his organization predicted this week.

In an "in depth" report, the "Committee to Elect Patrick H. Harrington to Congress" claimed "Massachusetts Democrats are confident they finally have a winner in the 10th Congressional District—a territory long regarded as prospectively Democratic but one which nevertheless has been sending the highly respected and now retired Republican Joseph W. Martin to Congress since 1924."

The Committee said "the contest for the 10th District seat has become an entirely new and different operation in politics, with new and different rules applying in the face of vastly changed voter attitudes."

The report by the Committee said "this 10th District fight easily shapes up as the most significant of all of the Massachusetts congressional contests in the Nov. 8 election because its outcome, more probably than any other congressional election, will decide whether the state's present 7-5 Democratic majority in Washington will be increased to 8-4."

This Committee said "it is in Fall River and its contiguous towns that Harrington is expected to pile up heavy majorities to carry him through the rougher going in the northern end of the district."

The report pointed out that the Fall River vote is vital to success in a congressional contest, particularly for a Democrat. Harrington's backers said a Democratic candidate for statewide office can "count on coming out of the city with a majority of from 21,000 to 23,000 votes."

"Two years ago, however, Rep. Joe Martin came within 2000 votes of carrying Fall River. Now, the surest bet of all is that Fall River will revert to its Democratic ways with a vengeance on Nov. 8," the report predicted confidently.

The Committee admitted Harrington is not as well known in the northernmost tip of the 10th district and "that is why he is spending so much of his time meeting people personally and speaking to civic groups in Newton, Westwood, Wellesley and Needham, along with other towns within the District."

A native of Fall River, the 46-year-old Harrington is a practicing attorney and chairman of the Bristol County Board of Commissioners. A graduate of Bates College, he received his law degree from Boston University Law School in 1948 and was admitted to the bar the same year.

His professional activity has covered all phases of corporation law and particularly the representation of non-profit corporations, including the labor relations field.

A pre-Pearl Harbor naval enlistee, he rose to the rank of Lt. Comdr. during the war. He now holds the rank of captain in the Naval Reserve Officers Training Schools at the Naval Air Station in South Weymouth, Otis Air Force Base and at Fall River.

Harrington is married to the former Eleonora S. Spillane, of Milton. They are the parents of a son, seven-year-old Patrick H. Harrington, Jr.

Local Youths Premiere In Color Picture

Gifted young Newtonites appear in "Feelin' Good," a widescreen color feature film, which had its premiere last night (Wednesday) at Boston's Paramount Theater.

Produced and directed by James Pike of Newton, it provides an impressive showcase for budding local teenage talent. Travis Pike, 21, of Newton plays the male lead, and he wrote eight of the songs in the picture.

Others from the Newton area are Arthur Korb, composer and conductor of the music; Stephen Cooper, Walter Cooper and Brian Houston, who sing as "The Montclairs," and the following dancers and extras: Dorcy Silver, Neal Ochs, Debbie Ritzhaupt, Harriet Katz, Elliot Feldman, Jeanne Brodney, Gregory Pike, Joanne Levine and Sarah Stitt.

Troop 568 is led by Mrs. Kurt Hansen, Mrs. Harry Crosby and Mrs. Guerard Howkins, Jr., and draws its members from three schools: Our Lady's, Bigelow Junior High and Day Junior High.

The exhibit, supported by the Newton Free Library with a variety of books about the United Nations and the men who have led it, will remain on view until mid-November.

Taxpayers Head Urges Vote To Retain State Sales Tax

Repeal of the sales tax would harm the social programs, economy and status of Massachusetts, asserted Bertram A. Druker, president of the Newton Taxpayers' Association this week.

His statement to members of the association follows:

"The desirable programs in public and mental health, the welfare programs and particularly the now expanding state programs in education are financed in great measure by the state's general funds plus the returns to the cities and towns for local administration of these programs. They are dependent upon general revenue toward which the sales tax is now making a substantial contribution. To cut off this new income means either unrealistic cut backs in the social programs or alternative new taxes."

"Minor amounts can be salvaged by reinstituting the increases in the various special taxes on liquor, cigarettes, etc. But the only major alternative source of revenue is the income tax. At present the sales tax produces about $150 million per year. The income tax presently raises about $220 million."

"Therefore to replace the sales tax revenue losses in the event of repeal, unless the local property taxes are to get the unfair burden again, the income tax would have to be raised by about three quarters. Or, what is more likely, if health education and welfare programs are not cut back, the income tax would more nearly have to be doubled to meet even normal program cost increases."

"A progressive income tax cannot be adopted before late 1968 or 1969 even if the voters should reverse their previous 5 to 1 vote against increased income taxes."

"In such circumstances the new 1967 legislature would be involved once again in the long discussions and back-and-forth plays which we have just gone through for the past year and a half."

"Meanwhile the economy of the state would suffer and job creation would slow down, partly due to the uncertainty surrounding the outcome of the wrangling."

Margaret Heckler Speaker At B.C. Law School Forum

Governor's Councillor Margaret M. Heckler of Wellesley, who is making a strong campaign for election to Congress from the big 10th congressional district, was recently the featured speaker at the Boston College Law School Forum.

Mrs. Heckler, a 1956 graduate of B. C. Law School, shared with faculty members, students and guests, reminiscences about her academic career, her public service and her recent nomination for Congress.

She discussed many of the problems facing members of Congress and outlined the responsibilities and duties of congressional service.

The appearance of the lady lawyer at her alma mater was a happy occasion. In the decade since her graduation Mrs. Heckler has reflected great credit on Boston College Law School and is one of its most enthusiastic alumnae.

Her Law School teachers and fellow students have not been surprised by the youthful attorney's accomplishments, for her record at school gave an indication of things to come. As the only woman member of the class, Mrs. Heckler ranked sixth, won the moot court competition all three years as a student, and served as associate editor of the Law School's highly respected review, "Annual survey of Massachusetts Law."

A member of the bar since 1956, Mrs. Heckler is a member of Boston Bar Association and the Massachusetts Trial Lawyers' Association, and has been admitted to practice before the U.S. Supreme Court in Washington.

Elected to the Governor's Council in a stunning 1962 upset victory, the lone lady councillor was re-elected in 1964, and is now the Republican nominee for Congress in the 10th Congressional District. Last year, Mrs. Heckler, a lecturer for the University Speakers Bureau, was selected as one of the outstanding young women of America by a panel chaired by the nation's first lady, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson.

Councillor Heckler, speaking at meetings this week, stressed that she will be a full-time Congresswoman if she is elected Nov. 8.

Mrs. Heckler, who has been an active practicing attorney while serving in the Governor's Council, declared that she will give up her law practice and devote her entire time to her congressional duties if she gains a seat on Washington's Capitol Hill.

"The job of a Congressman is a demanding one," Councillor Heckler told her listeners. "Approximately 10,000 bills are filed each year. There are thousands of reports which must be read and digested by Congressmen if they are to vote intelligently."

Mrs. Heckler also emphasized that she plans to give modern, streamlined, personalized service to the people of her congressional district and that she would have a mobile congressional office visit such communities as Newton, Needham and Westwood on specified dates for the convenience of the residents of these sections.

Meanwhile, a large group of women are making a big drive throughout the 10th congressional district in Councillor Heckler's behalf. They point out that only 10 of the 435 Congressmen are now women.

They express the polite but firm conviction that Congress can stand another lady member, particularly one named Margaret M. Heckler.

Joseph E. Fernandes in Drive For Election as State Treasurer

Despite the fact he is embroiled in the last two weeks of the race for the office of State Treasurer, Republican candidate Joseph E. Fernandes this week cancelled three important days of campaigning in order to help a friend in South America.

Fernandes, who was in Europe when he received the endorsement of the Republican convention, flew to Lima, Peru, last Sunday night in order to make a final check of plans for a seven-store supermarket chain and distribution center being set up by the International Basic Economy Corporation (IBEC), an organization devoted to improving the living standards of people throughout the world by using the American capitalistic system.

The Republican Treasurer candidate has been a special

JOSEPH E. FERNANDES

Fernandes is the Commonwealth's dropping credit rating, which means that higher interest rates must be paid on bond issues, and the practice of having legislator's expense accounts approved only by the Treasurer.

"There should be a second approval required," the Norton businessman stated, "so the Treasurer can never be accused of doing extra favors for individuals concerned with making the laws of the states."

Fernandes admits candidly he is probably the most publicized challenger for the Treasurer's seat in decades, due to newspaper stories about his fund-raising activities.

He pulls no punches, stating that "the publicity, which at first appeared to be adverse, is now working to my benefit. I feel the voters realize that I've been straightforward about my campaign solicitations."

"No one with any experience in business," Fernandes said, "could possibly swallow the story which implied I put pressure on my suppliers and employees. Does anyone actually believe I would pull an

Police Expert Wants A West Point For Cops

DALLAS (UPI) — One of Lt. T.T. Lord's fondest dreams is to have founded in the United States a police academy that would have all the esprit de corps and prestige of the nation's military academies.

Lord, of the Dallas Police Department, said an American Police Academy could be a four year college especially for policemen, with rigid educational and physical tests.

It would be the sort of thing that could give the incentive for young men to become policemen, he said.

"Police need to chart a definite course to professionalism," Lord said. "Thirty-five years ago, only a high school graduation and an examination were required to become a policeman."

"Now it is much the same, with two exceptions — the physical requirements are lowered and the educational requirements are lowered."

Lord suggests Congress should provide some of the money for the academy, but he said the federal government should not be allowed to take control of it.

"There must never be a national police force in the U.S.," he said. "That would violate a big principal of the Constitution."

established brand name product off the shelves simply because the supplier didn't come to a dinner party at my home? And would an astute businessman jeopardize his relationship with some 1700 employees in today's tight labor market?"

Fernandes explained "letters were sent to employees in order to curb over-zealous giving. We will accept no donation of over $25 from any employee, no matter what his earnings. And, at the same time, we will accept no contribution of over $250 from anyone, because they might expect something more than a nice 'thank you' letter."

The 43-year-old food chain executive was born in the Madeira Islands, Portugal. He came to the United States as a youngster and graduated from Norton high school in 1941, becoming an American citizen after serving with honors as an alien enlistee in World War II. He graduated from Boston University, College of Business Administration, in 1947. He is married and the father of three children.

Associated Synagogues to Honor Jacob Rabinovitz

Jacob Rabinovitz, prominent Boston philanthropist and businessman, will be honored by the Associated Synagogues of Massachusetts at their twenty-fifth anniversary observance on October 30 at the Somerset Hotel.

Mr. Rabinovitz has had the Associated Synagogues as his prime interest since its founding on December 7, 1941. He was instrumental in this founding and served as the first president of Beth Jacob, named in his honor. The six story building, located at 177 Tremont street, is open to all members of the Jewish faith, Conservative, Reform and Orthodox alike. The Jacob Rabinovitz Library is a prominent feature of the edifice.

Today, Mr. Rabinovitz serves as honorary president of Associated Synagogues of Massachusetts and has said of responsibility to the Associated Synagogues, then this fulfillment is a challenge for new heights and new achievements . . . let the callion call of the Shofar awaken in us the awareness of our responsibility to the Associated Synagogues of Massachusetts and may the sound of the Shofar herald the dawn of a new era of religious unity in our community."

Mr. Rabinovitz' service extends to many other institutions. He is a founder of the Combined Jewish Appeal, an honorary trustee and first member of the Rabinovitz family elected to serve on the Beth Israel Hospital's board of trustees in 1925; past president of the Hebrew Home for the Aged; past president of the New England Zionist Region and one of the pioneers in the Zionist movement; an officer and director of Temple Kehillath Israel of Brookline; a founder of the Blue Hill Avenue Synagogue; and a founder of the Jewish Memorial Hospital.

Let's face it. You should think about snow tires before it snows. Don't chance getting stuck. Have your snow tires mounted early. In fact, if you wait too long before coming to see us, you may not be able to get the size and style you want. Some of our better snow tires, such as Uniroyal's Winterides, are at a premium even now before the season really begins.

No wonder! A snow tire spends most of its life on snowless roads. And the Winteride is a snow tire tested to do 100 mph . . . when there is no snow. That's one of the reasons it's called The Dry Road Snow Tire and is in such great demand. Winteride's big, big tractor-type treads dig you out of deep snow quick, but also give you a smooth, quiet ride on dry roads where you travel most of the time.

What Frank Bellotti has said:

"Richardson (as Ass't Sec'y of H.E.W.) compiled a record of brutal disregard for all that is creative, compassionate and just." (Boston Globe, 10/19/66)

What Frank Bellotti has said:

"If he's running on his record as U.S. Attorney, he never obtained an indictment." (Beverly Times, 7/16/66)

What Frank Bellotti has said:

"My opponent steadfastly refuses to author a comprehensive program against crime and corruption and persists with only a lip service approval of this sensitive and compelling issue." (North Adams Transcript, 10/14/66)

What Frank Bellotti has said:

"Under Richardson's leadership, the state failed to implement the federal Medicaid program, which would have provided medical assistance to 240,000 persons in Massachusetts." (Springfield Republican, 10/16/66)

What the truth is:

In 1965, more than $50,000,000 in federal aid was given to the people in Massachusetts because of the pioneer legislation Elliot Richardson drafted and steered through Congress as Assistant Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare — for schools and hospitals, for aid to the blind, the aging, the disabled, and for help for our retarded children and mentally ill.

What the truth is:

While U.S. Attorney, Richardson obtained 537 indictments and informations, and he won convictions in 90% of all the cases under his direction and supervision.

What the truth is:

Throughout the current campaign, Richardson has persistently set forth to the voters, thorough, detailed recommendations on fighting crime — a 5-point program against crime in the streets, a 5-point program to combat organized crime, and a 17-point program to rid the State of corruption in government.

What the truth is:

The State's Medicaid program, set into motion by an Executive Order drafted by Richardson, has been approved by the Federal Government and will provide medical help for 370,000 people in Massachusetts in need of medical care.

Temple Social Action Group Adds To Service

The Social Action Committee of Temple Shalom of Newton has added a new dimension to its service to the community.

In a series of meetings held last year, the committee, comprised of Rabbi Murray I. Rothman, spiritual leader of Temple Shalom, Frank Bronstein, president, Eugene Brody and George J. Rubin, voted to form the Human Resources Committee.

This committee has made the vocational skills, aptitudes and experiences of Temple members and nearby residents available to juniors and seniors of both Newton High Schools and several Boston communities.

Training sessions were held at which social workers were present, after which announcements of this new service were sent to various agencies. Representative of the response is a letter sent to all high school counselors from Dr. Arthur M. Kroil, Coordinator, Testing and Project in Vocational Information for the Newton public schools, which contained the following:

"The Human Resources Committee of Temple Shalom of Newton, through the coordination of George J. Rubin, has undertaken a community project which should be of interest and potential usefulness to you. The Temple Shalom Human Resources Committee is currently serving as a vocational resource to several metropolitan Boston communities, including Newton. This Committee is composed of local and nearby residents who have made themselves available to provide vocational information to high school students who are exploring career opportunities. Within a broad range of occupations, these individuals are ready to discuss general and specific information covering required education and training; certificates, licenses or degrees required; personal qualifications; working conditions; earnings potentials; future outlook, etc.

Members of the Committee are prepared to have individual students accompany them to their place of employ, perform typical work tasks wherever possible, observe a typical work day, etc. . . . The Temple Shalom Human Resources Committee is providing a unique service, that has heretofore been unavailable on a formal basis to the schools. We hope that you will utilize this group whenever the occasion arises."

Project Affirm Formed To Help State Sales Tax

Kevin Hughes has accepted the chairmanship for the Newton Affirm project, an organization developed basically through Massachusetts municipal associations, and set up to educate the voters of the Commonwealth as to the disastrous effect of repeal of the sales tax. John R. Umina, president of the Newton Real Estate Board, and his organization has indicated its support of this program, Affirm, and has also been working for the retention of the sales tax.

Mayor Basbas stated that repeal of the sales tax could very well reflect an increase of over $7 in Newton's 1967 tax rate, and that he urges the retention of the sales tax at least until such time as some other tax system is devised that will assist the various cities and towns with their many financial problems.

William A. Lincoln Hits Cohen On Mental Health, Police Votes

William A. Lincoln of Newton, campaigning vigorously for election to the State Senate from the Newton-Brookline-Brighton senatorial district, charged flatly yesterday that Senator Beryl W. Cohen has played politics at the expense of the public safety and the public health.

Lincoln is a candidate for the seat Cohen now holds in the State Senate.

"Senator Cohen has voted against the public in earnest on a number of occasions," Lincoln declared.

"Official records at the State House show that Senator Cohen during his present term voted against and helped to defeat a recommendation by the Governor that funds be appropriated for the appointment of more than 100 additional State troopers," Lincoln stated.

"There is an urgent need to provide better police protection for the people of our Commonwealth and to enlarge and strengthen our State police in order to combat crime in Massachusetts," Lincoln continued.

"Yet, Senator Cohen voted against the appointment of an additional 100 State troopers, and the only possible explanation for his action was that he was playing politics at the expense of the people whose interests he is supposed to protect," Lincoln asserted.

Lincoln announced that if he is elected to the State Senate he will strongly support a move to expand the State police "so that our people may have more and better police protection on our highways."

"As a State Senator, I will do everything within my means to help stem the rising tide of crime which is of such great concern to all our citizens," Lincoln emphasized.

New Members To Be Honored At Friday Service

A reception honoring the new members will be held following the Service.

Good Shepherd Parish Events Are Announced

The Junior Choir will rehearse on Nov. 9 at the usual time instead of on the Nov. 11 holiday.

World Community Day will be observed Friday, Nov. 4, beginning with coffee at 9:30 a.m., in the Newton Highlands Congregational Church.

The annual Holiday Fair will be held Wednesday, Nov. 16 at 10 a.m.

the Crime Commission investigation."

"In addition," Lincoln said, "Senator Cohen voted against several recommendations by the Crime Commission despite the fact that they had non-partisan support by legislators in both political parties."

Lincoln said the State House records also show that Cohen voted against providing $120,000 to formulate plans for buildings for night and day mental health treatment and treatment for children.

"I believe the records clearly show that Senator Cohen has not given the people of Newton, Brookline and Brighton the high caliber of service and representation to which they are entitled," Lincoln concluded.

Volpe Lists Steps Taken To Aid Senior Citizens

Governor John A. Volpe today reviewed an impressive list of steps taken during his administration to aid the senior citizens in Massachusetts.

At the same time he declared that these are among the accomplishments which give him the greatest satisfaction.

"It is extremely gratifying to me that we have been able to enact laws which have made things a little better and brighter for our senior citizens in the twilight of their lives," the Governor observed.

Governor Volpe cited that in his comprehensive tax program he provided an additional $500 State income tax exemption for persons over 65 years of age.

He pointed out that he submitted and gained passage of a bill expanding the program of state-aided housing for the elderly, providing an additional $25 million for the construction of attractive low-rent housing units for senior citizens in modest circumstances.

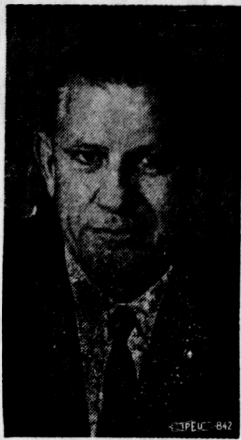

The Governor said that he fought for a 73 per cent increase in the annual appropriation for the Massachusetts Commission on the Aging and finally won legislative approval of 56 per cent increase.

Governor Volpe declared that he signed into law legislation removing the limitations on the amounts cities and towns may spend for Local Councils on the Aging as well as legislation to improve the co-ordination between the Massachusetts Commission on the Aging and the Local Councils.

It was Governor Volpe who laid the ground work for this State's participation in Medicare which began last July 1.

During his first term as Governor, Volpe also made Massachusetts the first State in the Union to qualify for participation in the Kerr-Mills program. He also achieved the highest per capita participation of any State in the nation.

Governor Volpe signed into law a program authorizing supplementary hospitalization for the aged.

tal, surgical, medical and other health insurance benefits for both active and retired, city, county and town employees.

A new law placed on the statute books during Governor Volpe's administration exempted income from social security benefits in calculating total income for the purpose of determining eligibility for property tax abatements.

That law, which was signed by Governor Volpe, enabled more senior citizens to obtain an exemption from property taxes on their homes.

Governor Volpe signed still other legislation which brings the benefit of the exemption from property taxes to thousands more elderly homeowners and also increases the amount of the exemption for thousands of elderly homeowners who were previously eligible for such an exemption.

Another bill signed into law by the Governor increased the leisure-time activities allowances paid to recipients of old age assistance.

The Governor also signed legislation providing for cost-of-living adjustments to increase pension payments for retired public employees.

Under another law placed on the statute books by Governor Volpe signature, the pensions of retiring state employees are based on the highest years' income, thus increasing their retirement benefits.

"These are some of the things which have been done for senior citizens while I have been Governor," Mr. Volpe said.

"For many of the new laws I have signed have meant that they have had to pay less taxes on their homes or smaller income taxes.

For others it has meant comfortable homes in elderly housing projects at modest rentals.

"For still others it has meant bigger pension payments or more help with medical or hospital bills."

"I am sure that all the people of Massachusetts will approve of the helping hand we have extended to our senior citizens," Governor Volpe concluded.

Richardson Lists Qualifications For Office of Attorney General

Lt. Governor Elliot L. Richardson today urged the voters of Massachusetts to consider carefully the qualifications, the legal experience and the public records of the candidates seeking election as Attorney General.

At the same time Richardson expressed regret that his opponent in the Attorney General contest has declined all invitations and challenges to engage in a televised debate.

"The choice of a man to serve as Attorney General of our Commonwealth for the next four years will be an extremely important one," Richardson declared.

"He will be the lawyer of all the people in our Commonwealth and the manner in which he performs his duties will directly affect every man, woman and child in Massachusetts," Lt. Governor Richardson asserted.

Richardson emphasized that the next Attorney General can be either a potent or a negligible force in combating crime in Massachusetts.

"As Attorney General, one of my objectives would be to provide better police protection for the people of our State," he said.

"I would join with Governor Volpe in urging that the Legislature provide funds for the employment of additional State troopers to furnish a higher degree of protection for our citizens," Richardson added.

He characterized it as "incredible" that the Democratic leadership in the State Senate on four different occasions this year blocked a bill for the appointment of more than 100 additional State troopers.

"This isn't a matter of partisan politics," Richardson exclaimed. "This is a question of protecting the safety and the very lives of all our citizens, whatever their political beliefs or convictions."

Richardson recalled that while he was U.S. Attorney for Massachusetts, he worked closely with the various federal law enforcement agencies in launching an all-out drive on organized crime in Massachusetts.

"As Attorney General, I would do the same thing at the State level," Richardson stated.

He expressed the belief that the experience he gained while serving as U.S. Attorney would be of tremendous value in performing the duties of Attorney General.

"And the best evidence I can offer as to the kind of Attorney General I would be is to point to my record as U.S. Attorney for Massachusetts," he declared.

Richardson said the office of Attorney General "is far too vital to the public safety and well being of us all to be regarded as a political plum or to be held by a political opportunist."

"There is much which can be done to make our Commonwealth a better and safer one for all our citizens," Richardson continued. "As Attorney General, I will do what must be done, and I will utilize the experience gained as U.S. Attorney for Massachusetts to do it."

Richardson was appointed U.S. Attorney for Massachusetts by former President Eisenhower and held that position from September, 1959 until April, 1961.

After completing his service as U.S. Attorney, Richardson was named by the late President John F. Kennedy as a special assistant to the then U.S. Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, brother of the late President.

ELLIOT L. RICHARDSON

A combat veteran of World War II, Richardson was wounded in action while serving in the European theatre of operations.

He is an honor graduate of the Harvard Law School, served a year as law clerk to Judge Learned Hand, a year as law clerk to Justice Felix Frankfurter, a year as a lecturer in law at the Harvard Law School, was counsel for a period to former Governor Herter and an administrative assistant to both Herter and Senator Leverett Saltonstall.

While he was assistant secretary and acting secretary of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Richardson drafted and submitted to Congress bills on aid to education, public health, and juvenile delinquency and was instrumental in obtaining passage of considerable progressive legislation, including the National Defense Education Act.

"I respectfully ask the voters of Massachusetts to consider my record and the record of my opponent and then make a judgment as to which of us has shown by his performance that he is better equipped to serve the people of our State as their Attorney General," Elliot Richardson said.

"I think it also is both regrettable and significant that my opponent has declined to engage in televised debates with me so that the voters might be aided in their selection of one of us to be their Attorney General," Richardson concluded.

Sorority Adopts Ten-Yr-Old Girl On Greek Island

Alpha Chapter of Iota Phi Sorority, 16 Sharpe Road, Newton Centre, has financially "adopted" Eleni Bitrou, a 10-year-old Greek girl, through Foster Parents' Plan, Inc., 352 Park Ave., South, New York, N.Y.

The "adoption" is financial, not legal, and costs $15 a month for a minimum of one year. Upon receipt of the first payment the Foster Parent receives a photograph and case history of his child. Every month the child writes to his "Dear Foster Parent" and the Foster Parent writes to the child. PLAN transmits original and translation. Before long there is a warm personal relationship. The child wants to know all about the Foster Parent—his family, his community and his country. In turn he tries to describe his own family and way of life.

Little Kleni and her family are trying to live on 24 cents a day. She lives with her parents and her brother, Christo, 11 on the island of Egina, near Piraeus, the main port of Greece.

Her father earned a living working aboard ships, but one day his ship was wrecked, and as a result he suffered a serious illness, and can no longer work. The family income is now what the mother can earn as a laborer.

Harrington To Visit Here Tomorrow In Congress Bid

Democrat Patrick H. Harrington is campaigning heavily in the Newtons as election day nears in the fight for the congressional seat from the 10th District.

Attorney Harrington has attracted a large corps of volunteer workers in his drive for victory in one of the nation's key congressional races. Attorney Harrington met with Mayor Monte G. Basbas and toured City Hall with Alderman Paul Burke and Joseph McDonnell.

Waban Man To Work On Saving Mass. Sales Tax

Kevin Hughes of 1631 Beacon St., Waban, has been appointed chairman in Newton for the YES 5 drive, it was announced by the Massachusetts Committee for Cities, Towns and Schools.

YES 5 drive is a campaign to save the sales tax by urging voters to vote "yes" on Referendum No. 5 on the ballot Nov. 8.

Said Mr. Hughes, "Sales tax revenues are producing $1,597,000 this year in Newton. We want to keep this money coming in to keep our local tax rate down. Unless voters approve the sales tax, these revenues will be lost, and local tax rates will skyrocket. If we lose the sales tax, we will be faced with almost certain higher property and income taxes immediately."

City workers met with Harrington in his visits to city barns at Craft St., Elliott St., and Auburndale, at the Waterworks and at Police and Fire Stations throughout the city.

Democratic State Legislators Joseph Bradley, Irving Fishman and Paul F. Malloy campaigned with Harrington in swings of Newton Centre, Newtonville, and West Newton. Alderman Andrew Magni backed Harrington in appearances in Norantum.

Support for Harrington has been enlisted at a series of house parties held in various villages of Newton.

Tomorrow (Friday) Harrington will appear at shopping centers in Auburndale, Newton Highlands and Newtonville.

The Harrington campaign will climax at a grand rally at the Newton High School on Walnut St. on Nov. 6, at 7 p.m.

Tigers Third In Soccer League

Newton High Tigers went into third place in the Suburban Soccer League last week with the help of fine play by their left and right wingers, Adrian Walcott and Armenio DiMambro.

DiMambro booted two goals, and Walcott made the winning score in the first overtime period, to give their team the victory over Brookline 4 to 3.

Mayor Given Ovation At Day Jr. High

Mayor Monte Basbas of Newton was given a standing ovation as guest speaker at the F. A. Day Junior High School in Newtonville on Thursday, Oct. 20, when the student staffs and officers were inducted into office.

In his remarks to the parents, who were invited guests, and to the representatives of the student body who were present, Mr. Basbas appealed to the young people as leaders of F. A. Day Junior High School to help make Newton a better place in which to live. He emphasized their part in crime prevention as well as in day-to-day efforts in making Newton live up to its name as "The Garden City" by avoiding the litter habit. He pointed out that enthusiasm and exuberance at football games can be demonstrated in a healthy way without having to reach a riot stage.

The Mayor commended Paul Henry, president of the Student Council, for his able leadership as master of ceremonies and referred to Paul's ability as a politician. President Henry had said in his welcome to the guests that because of the increased population of F. A. Day Junior High School it was impossible to have the entire student body present for the assembly. Mr. Basbas pointed out that he is well aware of the overcrowded conditions at Junior High and knows that the need for a new school is urgent.

Others who participated in the program were David

Grabu, vice president of the Student Council; Carol Sones, secretary; and Leon Boole, treasurer. The combined choruses, under the direction of Brooks Smith, sang two numbers: "Simple Gifts" by Aaron Copland and "America" by Ernest Bloch.

Ralph Morse, principal of F. A. Day, gave the charge to the student staffs, Library Council, Playground Staff, and Cafeteria Staff, and led them in their oath of office.

The assembly concluded with the distribution of a newly published handbook for F. A. Day student officers.

Unitarian Church Planning A Gala Village Green Fair

About forty children of the Church School of the first Unitarian Church in Newton gathered in the Parish Hall recently to make articles for the biennial fair, to be held November 1 and 2.

They made shoe polishing mitts, candlesticks and other things decorated with acorns, pine cones, etc. The highlight was a taffy pull which was to produce much taffy for sale.

The children, who are fourth, fifth, and sixth graders enjoyed this immensely, so much so that at the end of the afternoon the taffy was all gone, but there was another taffy-pull scheduled. It is hoped there will be enough taffy left to sell at the Village Green, the Fair at the Parish Hall on Nov. 1 and 2.

In charge of the group are Mrs. Floyd Giles, Waban, Mrs. Charles Levy, Auburndale, Mrs. Michael Michaels, Mrs. Joseph G. Pittman, Waban, and Mrs. Newton A. Teixeira, West Newton.

preparation of teachers for emotionally disturbed pupils is being held at Peabody School. "There are virtually no people specialized in caring for emotionally disturbed children in most Massachusetts school systems," Brown said, "and this is now required by State law."

"Our essential concern," Brown explained, "is to maintain the proper balance between the need to know where investigations are headed and where teaching will be 10 years from now, and to work hard at the same time to see that some 18,000 children get the best education we can give them."

"We can't become so involved in looking ahead that we are unable to take care of our present problems."

"On the other hand, it is very difficult to keep abreast of educational progress. We are on the verge of substantial changes in education in the United States and it is necessary to be aware of these and to help shape them," Brown said.

School Committee Chairman Harold J. Berman thanked Dr. Brown for the report and noted that he had counted some 50 programs, the majority of which are now helping Newton pupils.

Chairman Berman observed that universities have a serious problem in maintaining their independence under the conditions of certain grants. Committee members Francis P. Frazier and Edwin Hawkridge stated that federal aid to education inevitably brings about some control.

Superintendent Brown replied that he would prefer to use the term "influence" rather than "control". He said the federal government does have a "categorical influence", when it chooses to aid one area with preference to another. "This over the years could have a great deal of importance," Brown pointed out. "I think that some kind of general aid, to be spent at the discretion of the school systems, would be most desirable," Brown said.

Grandson Of Morgan Memorial Founder Now Full-Time Worker

David Wheeler Helms, 19 Circuit Ave., Newton Highlands, grandson of the founder of Morgan Memorial Goodwill Industries in Boston, has begun year-round employment with the world-renowned self-help for handicapped agency.

Helms, who was first introduced to Goodwill when he visited the plant frequently with his father as a child, has worked in various departments from time to time and is director of the Morgan Fresh Air Camps at South Athol.

Alfred Lonnberg of Framingham, New Hampshire, President of Morgan Memorial, said David Helms would head a 12-month program for the 810-acre South Athol camping area which will make the facilities available to many organizations.

A recent study of the extensive South Athol camp, one of the oldest in the Nation, urged some 34 recommendations for improvements at the site, including winterizing of several buildings. The camp is providing service to all ages, and there is increasing demand for help to handicapped, senior citizens, the blind, mentally retarded and juvenile delinquents.

Helms is a graduate of Taft School, Watertown, Conn.; Yale University with a B.A. degree in the class of 1959; and Boston University School of Social Work in 1966, with the degree of Master of Science and Social Service.

The extended use of the camp facilities at South Athol are currently being considered by the Massachusetts State Board of Education; Massachusetts Department of Natural Resources; Massachusetts Division of Fisheries and Game; and other agencies.

State's Domestic Peace Corps Had Many Summer Volunteers

The Commonwealth Service Corps, the state's domestic peace corps and anti-poverty agency, provided 130 summer volunteers for its Greater Boston region this year.

The corpsmen from Newton recently completed eight to 12 weeks of service at a number of projects as follows: Migrant education in Concord; Miss Jean C. Berman, 64 Homer street, Newton Centre.

Fernald School, Waltham; Christina Lowell, 121 Hunnewell avenue, Newton; Deborah Sones, 160 Allen avenue, Waban; Sheryl Resnick, 353 Woodward street, Waban; Mark Cohen, 134 Walnut Hill road, Newton Highlands; Jamie Brenner, 36 Kodays road, Waban; Roberta Clarke, 41 Amherst road, Waban; Rhonda Wepman, 24 Stanley road, Waban; Russell L. Platt, 7 Larkspur road, Waban.

Other Fernald School volunteers: Eileen O'Brien, 344 Cherry street, West Newton; Diana Greenstein, 71 Oldham road, West Newton; Judith Lechok, 160 Truman road, Newton Centre; Linda Elowitz, 20 Donna road, Newton Centre.

Theater in-the-Round, Roxbury: Jean Shapiro, 24 Mayflower road, Chestnut Hill. Tutorial, Roxbury: Jo Ann Battle, 94 Ridge road, Hope DeRogatis, 242 Waban avenue, both Waban.

Play Corps Caravan, Roxbury: Robert Axelrod, 17 Scarsdale road, Newtonville; James Coleman, 79 Howland road, West Newton; Rebecca Cort, 11 Devon road, Newton Centre; David Hirschberg, 54 Clements road, and Patrice Moskowitz, 34 Hyde avenue, both Newton.

Exodus, Inc., Roxbury: Marjorie Miller, 14 Walnut Hill road, Newton Centre. St. Cyprian's Church, Boston's South End: Reginald Bann Jr., 121 Claremont street, Newton.

Cooper Community Center, South End: Elaine B. Halperin, 72 Nordell road, and Denise Myers, 54 Mill street, both Newton Centre.

Another program, which M. I. T. is helping to conduct at Newton is MAC (Multiple Action Computers). "It is inconceivable to me," Brown insisted, "that in the computer age, we will not be involved in a computer-based learning."

In collaboration with Tufts University, a program for

City-Wide Support Sought In Pedestrian Safety Plan

Mayor Monte G. Basbas recently initiated Newton's Pedestrian Education Program by addressing a large delegation of police, Registry of Motor Vehicles, supermarket, American Legion, Chamber of Commerce, and MDC officials.

Mayor Basbas explained the purpose of the meeting as an effort to obtain civic, service, and religious organizations' cooperation in the encouragement of their members to accept and obey the anti-jaywalking law during the period before it officially goes into effect.

Speakers at the program at City Hall included MDC Commissioner Howard Whitmore, Chief Philip Purcell, Capt. Richard F. Donahue, and Safety Officer Charles E. Feeley of the Newton Police Department; James R. Press of the Registry of Motor Vehicles; George F. Stitt of the American Legion; and Stop and Shop executive Carolyn Sullivan.

Mayor Basbas said that although there are many reasons for acceptance of the jaywalking ordinance, the greatest and most important is that "observation of the Act can and will keep our citizens, our neighbors, our friends, and our loved ones safe."

"Any accident that we have involves one of these," the mayor said. He observed that Newton is not alone in this program, but a part of a State-wide plan to promote pedestrian safety in cooperation with Registrar Richard McLaughlin, the Mass. Safety Officer's League; the American Legion; and private industry.

Mayor Basbas particularly lauded the efforts of the supermarket chains in supplying millions of market bags with the slogan "Use the crosswalks," and the preparation posters for use in the anti-jaywalking campaign. Chains participating are Star, Stop and Shop, Elm Farm Foods, First National and A&P Stores.

"We cannot thank the food industry enough for their work and expense. Each of the companies agreed to accept for printing the decision of a committee for the final message and all would use the same theme."

"I might say that they insisted that no other advertising message, identifying their stores, be included in our theme. We arrived at the legend, 'A Public Service in Cooperation with Police Department.' We have high hopes that these efforts can create better habits and, as such, lead to a better and longer life for our people," Mayor Basbas concluded.

The Fire Chiefs' Assoc. feels the "inclusion of supervisory personnel in the same unit with non-supervisory personnel places the officers in the position of attempting to serve two masters."

Two weeks ago, Newton firemen went before the Labor Commission asking that their Firemen's Welfare Assoc. represent all personnel at the collective bargaining table.

The Newton legal department asked that the Commission postpone the petition until the Medford case is settled. The firemen opposed that move and the Commission heard their petition. It is now being considered.

Headlights And Highlights From Newton South High

By JAMES SHULMAN

Fall excitement opened with a colorful blue and orange bang at Newton South. The cheerleaders, majorettes and the marching band were out in full force to lead Newton South to victory in its first home game of the season.

While last Wednesday at South the parents gathered for a PTSA open house. They went through an abbreviated class schedule of their children.

The cheerleaders, majorettes, and the members of the marching band were out in full uniform at last Saturday's game cheering Newton South to its third straight win.

The cheerleaders at South keep the spirit of the school at a very high pitch. The co-captains are Leslie Richmond and Carol Steinsieck. The other girls are Irene Applebaum, Bonnie Belson, Dory Finn, Paula Festinger, Linda Bickelman, Amy Espar, Sandy Gale, Alice Shor.

The pretty majorettes spinning their batons at the game were one of the groups that led the parents around on the night of the open house.

The co-captains of the majorettes are Jean Brodney and Dorrie Silver. The other talented girls are Janet Dietz, Grace Mascarella, Debbie Rithaupt, Diane Segal, Debbie Shien.

Newton South's marching band is under the guidance of Mr. Arner. Arnie Schertzer leads the band through its sparkling designs and songs.

The annual "Back to School Night" provided the parents with an opportunity to not only meet with the teachers and become more familiar with the patterns of your child's school day, but also to learn more about the new school policies.

There are two new school policies that affect every student at Newton High. The late arrival and early dismissal policy and the newly formed Student Union are a part of the growing program to develop student responsibility and self-reliance. The parents went through six, ten-minute capsule classes where they met each of their children's teachers. The parents were told about each subject and what they were going to cover by the end of the year.

To help guide the bewildered parents there were representatives from the senior and junior class, the cheerleaders, majorettes, plus such clubs as the Red Cross, chess club, the latin club, and the national honor society.

The Student Union formed a lounge for the students. During the first two periods of every day in the cafeteria there is food available for purchase. They hope to have the lounge open all day and shortly vending machines will be put in the lounge.

The Newton South High School Halloween dance will be held at Sidney Hill Country Club. The dance, featuring Ken Reeves' orchestra will also be attended by Newton North.

Annual Dessert Bridge Nov. 3rd For Newell Club

The Newell Club will hold its annual dessert bridge on Thursday, November 3rd, at Fellowship Hall, of the Eliot Church, Newton, at 1:30 p.m. The affair will benefit the Brace and Splint Fund of the Children's Medical Center.

Mrs. Andrew S. Laurie and Mrs. George P. Norton are co-chairmen. Mrs. Andrew T. Hanson is in charge of tickets.

That will represent 80 cents on the tax rate—a built-in boost which already can be anticipated—Basbas observed.

Mayor Basbas further asserted that Newton pays a bigger county assessment than any other city in Middlesex County, including Cambridge, which has a larger population. He said he intends to ascertain the reason for this.

"But I think the people of Newton should be aware of the indifference of the County Commissioners," Basbas concluded.

Tax -

substitute tax program if the sales tax were repealed, and the only practical way the amount of revenue now yielded by the sales tax could be raised would be by just about doubling the State income tax.

"If the Legislature did not adopt a substitute tax program to replace the limited sales tax, then that additional amount of revenue would have to be raised by the tax on real estate, and it would send our tax rate skyrocketing," the Mayor pointed out. "It would be harmful to the economy of our city and of our entire State if this additional tax burden were thrown back onto real estate," Mayor Basbas asserted.

"It would mean much higher tax bills for our home-owners and higher rents for those who do not own their homes," he added. Mayor Basbas said that Newton needs the revenue produced by the limited sales tax.

"In fact, we need more income than the sales tax provides to withstand the impact of rising school costs," he stated.

Basbas expressed the conviction that a chaotic situation would be created if the sales tax should be repealed by the voters in the coming election.

"It would be so chaotic that the Governor undoubtedly would consider it necessary to convene a special session of the Legislature to enact a new tax program,"

W. and Franco-American War Veterans Post No. 24. A special committee has been organized for the observance under the chairmanship of Francis Daley, Senior Vice Commander of Post 48.

The Veterans Day Program will be held in War Memorial Hall at the rear of Newton City Hall on Friday morning, November 11, starting at 10:00 a.m.

Chairman Daley urges that every effort be made to turn Veterans Day, 1966, in Newton into a dynamic demonstration of patriotism. Each household and business establishment is urged to display the flag of the United States in honor of the occasion.

The Newton Mayor said.

"Nobody really likes to pay taxes," Basbas declared. "But if we are to provide good schools, run our city government and provide the essential public services, we must get the money to pay for bills, and the only way we can get it is by levying taxes. "It seems to me," Mayor Basbas continued, "that the most painless way of raising a large amount of money is the limited sales tax."

"I believe strongly that it would be much better for our city and our citizens to retain the sales tax than to increase the already heavy burden on real estate, and I think that most people would prefer the sales tax to having their State income taxes doubled."

Mayor Basbas said "the responsible thing to do on Nov. 5 is to vote 'Yes' on Question 5."

Travelogue On Portugal To Be Given Nov. 4th

"To Portugal With Love," their latest and most colorful travelogue, will be presented by Frances and Arnold Black on Friday evening, November 4th at 8 o'clock at the Central Congregational Church, 218 Walnut St., Newtonville.

The travelogue is enhanced with Hammond organ music and authentic sound effects. Frances and Arnold Black recently returned from Europe with love in their hearts for little-known-about Portugal.

Produced and photographed by Mr. Black, with narration pre-recorded on stereo-phonetic tape by Mrs. Black, this newest series discovers much about a land not on the usual traveler's itinerary. From the lush, exotic Portuguese island of Madeira, 400 miles off the African coast, and the island's capital, Funchal, the tour carries the audience on to Lisbon in Portugal proper, most charming of all cities, the many museums, and to the section of Lisbon where the colorful fisherfolk live.

The tomb of Henry the Navigator, and many other colorful and interesting sights, a Portuguese bull fight—where the bull isn't killed; and a visit to the world-famous shrine of Fatima also is included in the travelogue.

JOSEPH G. BRADLEY

Bradley Aims Civil Service Reform Needs

Reform of the State Civil Service System was urged this week by Rep. Joseph G. Bradley, (D-Newton), as he spoke at a series of neighborhood house parties held in the interest of his re-election.

"We must find ways to restore the public confidence in the civil servants, to develop capable managers, attract qualified technicians, install and teach modern administrative practices, and create a high morale and respect for government service," Bradley declared.

"However," Bradley said, "these are not goals that can be attained overnight. Certainly not without extensive overhaul of present practices and personnel procedures."

"The Massachusetts State personnel system was originally established in the late 1880's, with the elimination of the spoils system as the goal of the Civil Service programs."

"The decades since," Bradley said, "have shown the Civil Service system to be peculiarly resistant to constructive modernization. Studies of various branches of the government, such as the corrective system, higher education, and public welfare have all proved to emphasize the fact that a high calibre of personnel is the key to success in any governmental program."

"Instead of attracting such personnel," the Newton Representative pointed out, "the present system contributes to the general low level of public esteem for our civil service and materially deteriorates the morale of the employees."

Bradley said the personnel procedures in Civil Service have been the recipients of much study and criticism over the years. He cited a number of prominent civic organizations, including the League of Women Voters, that banded together to form an action group called the "Citizens for the Advancement of the Public Services" (CAPS). The purpose of the group, Bradley said, is to work toward the establishment of a new merit system and personnel program.

The Newton legislator stated that the Governor's Management Engineering Task Force made 86 concrete recommendations after their

Free Libraries Are Featuring Collections And Magic Show

The Newton Free Library is exhibiting two outstanding collections, one comprising military miniatures, and the other campaign buttons that recall political battles over the past 125 years.

Also, the Nonantum branch will present a magic show Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 3, at 3 o'clock in celebration of National Book Week, Oct. 31 to Nov. 5.

The showing of military miniatures was arranged through the courtesy of the New England Military Collectors, who belong to a worldwide fraternity. They amass the little figures, both modern and antique, or buy unpainted, unassembled castings either in metal or plastic to assemble and paint themselves.

The New England group has won several awards for its individual figures, groups and dioramas in New York and Philadelphia competition.

The exhibit will be on display at the Newton Free Library throughout November. The campaign buttons are from a large collection owned by Arthur Robert of West Roxbury, a newly registered voter who is an enthusiastic historian. They will be shown until Nov. 8. The library supports this unique exhibit with a selection of books on general political themes, as well as biographies of the candidates represented in the collection.

Helping the Nonantum branch staff with the magic performance will be members of Weeks Junior High School Presto Club, a magic club directed by Herbert Downes of the faculty. The members are Joe Bayes, Jerry Pfau and Robert Beaser. Also on the program will be Peter DiPasquale of Nonantum.

Books on magic will be available.

Accountants Elect Highlands Resident

Robert L. Rosenblatt, 57 Vaughn Ave., Newton Highlands, was recently elected vice president of Boston Chapter, National Association of Accountants.

A partner in the Boston office of Harris, Kerr Forster and Company, he is a director of the Hotel Accountants Association of Boston, and treasurer of Boston University General Alumni Association.

"This ambitious bill, which in so many ways had so much merit, was defeated in the same way similar bills were defeated in the past."

"The attempt to place the blame for this sorry state of affairs is pointless," Bradley said. "Governors, legislators, civil service personnel, special interest groups, apathetic citizens — all have acted evading their responsibilities in correcting this defective law and demanding change."

"With the state now the biggest employer in Massachusetts; with more than 40 per cent of the state budget going to the payment of salaries for state employees; with taxes at an all time high; we can no longer afford to avoid passage of corrective legislation (whether one large bill or as a series of smaller ones) to remedy this long overdue, expensive and vexing situation," Bradley concluded.

Each will speak for 10 minutes, answer questions for 10 minutes and then each will make a five minute summary speech. The two candidates are seeking to succeed Congressman Joseph W. Martin.

Mrs. Heckler, the Governor's Councilor from the Second District, is completing her second term, having been re-elected in 1964. A graduate of Albertus Magnus College, New Haven, Conn., she is a graduate of Boston College Law School, where she was associate editor of the "Law Review."

In 1956 she was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar. Mrs. Heckler is also a member of the Massachusetts Trial Lawyers Association, the Boston Bar Association and is admitted to practice before the U. S. Supreme Court in Washington. In 1965 she was selected as one of the 10 "Outstanding Young Women in America."

Let's consider some facts . . .

With as many jobs as you see advertised in this paper, it gets a little confusing and difficult to decide just where to look. And let's face it, there's more than money to consider when you're looking at a new job.

You have to consider the Benefits that the Company offers, because this means extra money in your pocket. If you're like most people, you'll expect a measure of job security. At the same time you probably want to know if you'll have a chance for job advancement. You want to know what kind of people you'll work with and how comfortable the working conditions will be. # Thailand Gets Ready For Asian Games In December

By LESLIE NAKASHIMA
United Press International
TOKYO (UPI) — Despite the war in nearby Viet Nam and the guerrilla mayhem on its own Northeast frontier, Thailand is pushing ahead bravely with its plans for the 5th Asian Games this December.

Thailand was awarded the Games four years ago when the 4th meeting in the series was being held in Jakarta. That was the now famous contest in which Indonesian President Sukarno barred Israel and Nationalist China from competition, getting himself and his country booted out of the International Olympic Federation for his trouble.

Just how many nations will participate is not certain right now, but the organizing committee is making plans to accommodate at least 2,500 athletes, officials and newsmen.

The Games council includes Afghanistan, Burma, Cambodia, Ceylon, Nationalist China, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, Iran, Israel, Japan, South Korea, Malaysia, Nepal, Pakistan, The Philippines, Singapore, Thailand and South Viet Nam.

The Thais have a healthy start on all the construction needed to hold the games and there seems to be no reason they should miss their target of a Dec. 9 opening.

The athletes will be housed in an international village in the Bangkok suburbs. The village will have 190 women's dormitories and 508 for men. It will be a miniature town with all the necessary facilities such as shopping centers, training areas, swimming pools, a movie theater, restaurants, a police station and a post office.

The main stadium will be a remodeled enlargement of an already existing arena in downtown Bangkok, capable of seating 60,000.

The Thais are especially proud of a new indoor stadium seating 10,000 at Hua Mark about 15 minutes from downtown Bangkok that is modeled after a carousel.

Austrian Town Claims Oldest "Skyscraper"

KREMSMUNSTER, Austria (UPI) — The United States may have the tallest skyscrapers in the world but what inhabitants claim is the oldest "skyscraper" is located in this little town about 90 miles west of Vienna.

Built in 1758, it is eight stories high.

The building, called "The Mathematics Tower," also is an astronomical observatory, containing instruments dating from 1670.

In charge of the "skyscraper" is an Austrian professor, Father Ansgar Rabenalt, locally known as "The American" because of his many years of teaching in the United States.

In 1777, the Benedictine order founded a monastery near the little river of Krems in upper Austria. In 1748, Father Anselm Desing made plans for a new tower for the Cathedral. After 10 years, the Mathematics Tower was completed. Under its dome were gathered all the treasures of the monastery which today are considered of international value.

Among them, was an astronomical collection of sun dials. A celestial globe from 1556 can also be found there. And it has a geometrical instrument dating back to 1570.

Father Rabenalt is working on plans to restore his "skyscraper." This project, which will cost about 1 million Schillings, ($40,000) has been authorized by the Austrian Government and the regional government of upper Austria.

Weissmuller At 62, Still No. 1 Tarzan

By HAROLD MCARTHUR
United Press International
MEXICO CITY (UPI)

Other actors may play the role, but Johnny Weissmuller is still The Tarzan, the genuine ape-yelling lord of the jungle.

And how many men 62 years old look good in a leotard? Weissmuller cut loose with a few ear-shattering "aaaaa-lillioooahhh's" in Mexico City to show he still holds the title.

The occasion for Johnny's deafening vocal exhibition was the first Tarzan reunion held in honor of an updated version currently being filmed on location here for a television series.

As Weissmuller stood on a tree limb, clad in the traditional loin cloth with vine in hand, on the back lot of the Churubusco Studios, he looked as much like Tarzan at 22 as he did when he first started swinging through the trees 32 years ago.

He was not alone. Two other past Tarzans — James H. Pierce and Jack Mahoney — as well as the current jungle man, Ron Ely, attended. But it was without a doubt Johnny's show and if it hadn't been for a broken toe suffered while doing a dive at his swim school in Florida, Johnny would have been swinging through the trees right along with Ely.

Even though Ely is the 15th actor to play the part, with the exception of Weissmuller, no other actor has been truly identified as Tarzan.

Even in the presence of three other Tarzans at the reunion, it was Johnny who was besieged by autograph seekers.

The seemingly ageless Weissmuller boasted somewhat of having done all his own stunt work but this seems to be a tradition among Tarzans of past and present. He did admit in reminiscing that a voice teacher was responsible in part for his famed call of the jungle. His voice was a high tenor when he first took the role, he said, and the studio ordered singing lessons to lower his voice to a suitable basso.

In fact, Weissmuller's yell will be part of the television series. The producers figured no one could duplicate it. So when actor Ely leans back, thumps his chest and opens his mouth in filming the current version, a recording of Weissmuller's yell is dubbed into the soundtrack. Ely, if the truth be known, just doesn't have the vocal chords to match it.

Even though Tarzan is more educated and has a much larger vocabulary in the present version being produced by Sy Weintraub for NBC television it is Weissmuller who remains Tarzan, Lord of the Jungle, when there's any crowing to be done.

Butter Slump

St. Paul — Butter use in the U.S. fell from 18.2 pounds per person in 1932 to 8.7 pounds in 1953. At the same time use of margarine went from 1.6 pounds in 1932 to 8.2 pounds in 1953.

Historic Buildings Get Break In Pending Bills

By JOHN PIERSON
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Legislation to protect some of the nation's historic buildings from the wrecking ball is winding its way through Congress. If it doesn't pass this year, chances are it will next.

The bill would authorize the government to make matching grants to states and to the federally-chartered National Trust for Historic Preservation to buy, restore and develop buildings "significant in American history, architecture, archeology and culture."

The Secretary of the Interior would be authorized to prepare a "national register" of properties and the states could receive matching grants to survey sites and prepare historic preservation plans.

The legislation would provide $32 million for the first four years. Backers of the bill concede it is impossible, however, to predict how much money will be needed eventually, at least not until the state surveys are finished.

The legislation grew out of President Johnson's February message to Congress preserving collection of sun dials. A celestial globe from 1556 can also be found there. And it has a geometrical instrument dating back to 1570.

Father Rabenalt is working on plans to restore his "skyscraper." This project, which will cost about 1 million Schillings, ($40,000) has been authorized by the Austrian Government and the regional government of upper Austria.

Newton High Tigers Gird For Tough Medford Clash

Still reeling from a 38-12 defeat handed them by the Arlington high school football squad, Newton high girded this week for the Saturday grid tilt at Dickinson Stadium with Ed. Rideout. Rideout is the quarterback for the Medford high football team who ran two touchdowns and passed for two more as his club whipped once powerful Everett, 28-10, last week.

Unfortunately, Rideout bears a striking resemblance to Mark Driscoll, Arlington high quarterback, who did such a devastating job on Newton in last Saturday's 38-12 rout. Mark was on the "mark" as he connected with eight of 12 passes, good for two touchdowns and 161 yards. In addition, he also scored himself on runs of one and 25 yards and passed for a two-point conversion.

The defeat was the second setback in five games for the Tigers and now they own a 3-2 record.

There were bright spots in an otherwise dismal (from Newton's point of view) afternoon. Righthalf Edwin Norton brought the Newton partisans to their feet with a brilliant 85-yard kickoff return that ended in pay dirt and a score.

Steve Colantuono displayed impressive form as he picked up 92 of the total Newton 99 yards gained by rushing.

Quarterback Dick Dezotell, who completed only five of 14 passes, was kept off balance all afternoon by Arlington's defensive end, Kevin Nolley, who seemed to spend most of his time in the Newton backfield.

Arlington needed only two plays to chalk up their first touchdown when the game was only one minute old. Driscoll, highly touted for all-scholastic honors, quickly took to the air and his first pass, a 34-yarder to George Gill, went the distance. Driscoll and Bob Havern faked the kick-off and Havern skirted right end for two points.

Retiring School Secretary Feted At Church Party

A reception in honor of Mrs. Howard Sanderson, secretary of the Hyde School, was held at the Newton Highlands Congregational Church last evening (Wednesday), October 26. The affair was sponsored by the Hyde School PTA as a token of their appreciation for Mrs. Sanderson's service in the school.

Mrs. Sanderson will retire on October 31. She has served the Newton public schools for twenty-one years and has been in her present post for seventeen years.

She was secretary at the Weeks Junior High School before assuming the position at Hyde. She is a past Worthy Matron of the Middlesex Chapter of the Evening Star and a member of the Upper Falls Women's Club where she has served on several committees.

The reception was attended by many of the people with whom Mrs. Sanderson has worked, including parents, officials of the Newton public schools, and the Hyde School faculty.

She was presented with a portable television set as a token of the high esteem in which she is held throughout the Newton Highlands community.

U.N. Day Dinner To Be Sellout Here Tomorrow

Mrs. Paul G. Myerson, United Nations Day chairman of Newton, today announced a complete sell-out of buffet suppers for the United Nations Dinner tomorrow night, Friday, October 28. The public is, however, still invited to come to Newton South High School at 8 o'clock either to hear Attorney General Edward W. Brooke speak on the role of the United Nations or to hear Tony Selalet's program of songs from all over the world.

The two programs will go on at the same time. Newton School Committee Chairman Harold J. Berman will act as moderator of the question period after the Attorney General speaks.

For students who do not attend the buffet supper, there will be a nominal charge for the folk-song party where Newton students will meet with over 50 students from other countries.

"Our deepest thanks go to all the Newton organizations which joined the World Affairs Council of Newton in co-sponsoring the U.N. Day dinner," said Mrs. Myerson. "Because of their efforts and the generous assistance of Mayor Basbas, this annual dinner will be an unprecedented success."

Msgr. Carey Is Guest Preacher At Eliot Church

The Eliot Church of Newton will have for its guest preacher on historic Reformation Sunday, October 30, Monsignor George W. Casey from St. Brigid's Church in Lexington.

Monsignor Casey has long been recognized as an outstanding clergyman and, as a gifted writer, is well known for his illuminating writings. He studied at Boston College, St. John's Seminary in Brighton and Harvard University.

He has served in the pastoral ministry in the Archdiocese of Boston for forty-six years with four years out for service in World War II, two of which were in the ETO in the Medical Corps; he retired with the rank of Major. He holds the Massachusetts Humane Society Medal for the saving of a life.

He has built the two churches in which he has served as pastor, including St. Brigid's. A reception will be held for him in the church parlor immediately following the church service.

Go-Go South Lions Ready For Leominster Saturday

By NORMAN KAPLAN
The Newton South Lions, now full-fledged members of the "come alive" generation, journey to far off Leominster next Saturday for what promises to be a tough, rough football game.

Fresh from last Saturday's 14-6 triumph over winless Lexington, the Lions put their season's 3-1 record on the line against Leominster's better 4-1 record. The game is scheduled for a 1:30 p.m. start.

All eyes will be on young Tommy Rezzuti, the sophomore left half who played a sensational game against the Minutemen, personally thwarting Lexington offensively and defensively in an impressive display of his budding talent.

Young Tom didn't score but that's about the only thing he didn't do last Saturday. His play paved the way for both of South's touchdowns.

Opportunity knocked on the Lions' door early in the first quarter. South, faced with a fourth and eight situation, called on junior Ed Pfeiffer to boot them out of trouble. Pfeiffer sky-rocketed a 44-yarder which dropped through the hands of the Lexington receiver at the Minuteman 15 yard line. Tommy Rezzuti recovered the loose ball to keep the Lions attack going.

Lexington was unyielding for the next three plays, but Qb. Gordon Megrian tossed a fourth-down screen pass to Steve Cooper who followed three blockers into the end zone for 6 points. The Lions then lined up for an extra point try with Tom Rezzuti in the place kicking position. Tom faked the kick and fired an aerial strike to his brother and captain, Frank Rezzuti, to add two more points.

The Minutemen dominated the play from this point to the end of the first half, but managed only one touchdown. Lexington ground out 90 yards in 14 plays in seven minutes. The drive ended with half-back Jim Hayes thrashing out the last nine yards for Lexington's only foray into the South end zone.

With little time remaining in the first half, cornerback Tom Rezzuti deprived Lexington of a halftime lead. The Minutemen capitalized on a Newton South fumble, and drove to the Lions 14 yard line. One play later, the quarterback Bill Plaise decided to go for the TD via the air route. His pass was picked off at the one yard line by Rezzuti. The Lions were then able to leave the field at halftime with an 8-6 lead.

The end of the third quarter saw the score unchanged. Lexington managed a meagre 22 yards in the third quarter, while the Lions clawed their way for 80 yards, but were unable to put anything on the scoreboard.

The fourth quarter, however, was a productive one for the Lions. Tommy Rezzuti, once again stealing the limelight from his brother, Frank, and Steve Cooper, intercepted his second pass of the day, on the South 11-yard line. Qb. Megrian, on the next play, then handed off to Tommy who proceeded to bolt 56 yards straight up the middle before three Lexington defenders hauled him down from behind. Four successive rushes by Frank Rezzuti chewed up 26 more yards to the Lexington seven yard marker. With his receivers well covered, Qb. Megrian escaped a fierce rush to dash seven yards around left end for the touchdown.

With time fast running out, Lexington could hope only for a tie. The Lexington quarterback frantically went to the air, but made the mistake of placing his aerial too close to South defender Steve Cooper. Cooper grabbed the pass for an interception, and the Lions merely ran out the clock to the thunderous applause of the home crowd.

Novelist, playwright and critic Gore Vidal will speak at Lasell Junior College, Auburndale, Wednesday evening, November 2, at 7:30. This is the only appearance Mr. Vidal will make in the Boston area this fall and the public is invited without charge to Lasell's Winslow Hall to hear him speak on "The Novel in the Age of Science."

Mr. Vidal, 41-year-old author of the best-seller "Julian," received his education in Washington, D.C., schools and is a graduate of Phillips Exeter Academy. His book, "Willaw," published when Gore Vidal was nineteen, is still recognized as the first and one of the finest World War II novels. The first novel was followed by eight more plus a volume of short stories, "A Thirsty Evil."

In addition to his novels and short stories, Mr. Vidal has written for television, stage and screen. Two of his dramatic successes are "Visit To A Small Planet" and "The Best Man." The former was seen first on television and then on the stage, and the latter play was recently made into a film.

Mr. Vidal has also engaged actively in politics and in 1960 ran for Congress from New York's 29th Congressional District — a liberal Democrat in a highly Republican area. Vidal's urbane and witty comments on politics have amused television audiences.

His newest book, "Washington, D.C.," scheduled for publication early in 1967, is a novel of political life in the nation's capital. Mr. Vidal's essays appear in the New York Review of Books, Book Week, and the Sunday New York Times. His latest film adaptations include "Is Paris Burning?" and "The Night of The Generals."

The 6-foot, 170-pound athlete is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Clarke of Newton Upper Falls.

He is a 1965 graduate of Newton South High School where he gained All-State Honorable Mention for two years in football and baseball. At Amherst, he won a freshman numeral in football and has worked for the Amherst student newspaper.
